CRISP FOR SENATOR.

Speaker of the House Appointed by the Governor of Georgia.

ATLANTA, March 30.—Governor Northen has appointed Speaker Charles F. Crisp to succeed the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Not a word has passed between the governor and the speaker, and the latter's name had not even been presented formally to the governor.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—It was after midnight when Speaker Crisp received notice of his appointment as senator from Georgia. He was much surprised, as the offer was unexpected. His first inclination was to decline, but at 1 o'clock he wired the governor that he would hold his answer in abeyance until he could consult with political friends and associates.

IN POPULISTS' DISTRICT.

The Commonweal Army Now Numbers Over a Hundred.

COLUMBIANA, O., March 30.—Coxey has rejoined his cohorts, the army is among Populists, and the commonweal is enjoying a big boom. The Farmers' Alliance provided three wagon loads of provisions, and two of wood. Beef, hams, coffee and 1000 loaves of bread, will furnish the commonweal with provisions for three days, at least.

In a speech, Carl Browne said he was being misrepresented by 40 argus-eyed demons of hell, who followed him around. He meant the reporters, and has given orders to keep newspaper men out of camp.

Three hundred people welcomed the crowd of 108 soldiers to Columbiana, and the citizens provided Johnson's foundry as a camp. Straw beds were provided.

Thirty-six recruits from East Liverpool joined the ranks. This town has a Coxey club with 53 members, of which John Harold is chairman. After seeing the army Harold said that while he sympathized with Coxey's principles, he could not countenance such an array of tramps to force legislation.

Coxey says success is assured, but refuses to speak of his financial troubles.

AN UNDERGROUND RAILWAY

For Smuggling Opium Through Canada to the United States.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The customs officials have in custody a man who is believed to be one of the principles in a big opium smuggling scheme, and warrants are out for others who are believed to be implicated in smuggling many thousands of dollars' worth of the narcotic into the United States by way of Canada.

The man under arrest says that his name is Samuel Tilford Rowe, and that he lives in this city. A policeman noticed Rowe passing through Mott street, with a large package under his arm. The man's actions were suspicious, and the policeman took him to the police station. There his package was opened, and was found to contain 40 cans of opium, which did not bear the government stamp, and had clearly been smuggled.

He was remanded to the custody of special inspectors of the treasury department. Postal orders which were found in Rowe's pockets and which he was about to forward to people in Toronto, throw considerable light on the smuggling scheme, it is claimed, furnishing the names of the parties who probably attended to getting the opium through Canada.

Nearly Four Score and Ten.

ROCKLAND, Me., March 30.—Rev. Leander Tripp, the oldest Baptist minister in the state, died here yesterday, aged 89 years. He practiced medicine and taught school until 1843, when he was ordained a clergyman. He has been pastor of churches in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

VESPER CLUB

It Reproduces the Famous Midway Plaisance.

BEST BURLESQUE EVER GOTTEN UP IN LOWELL.

Merry Song Dedicated to the Champion Bowlers.

It was truly the Vesper's night when the club house hall was well filled with members last evening, on the occasion of the annual meeting.

In anticipation of the entertainment which was to follow the business, every member who could possibly get there was out.

President Butler presided, and after the financial report which showed the club to be in a very prosperous condition, Secretary Swapp read his annual report, prefacing it with a short sketch of the club and its year of activity. Here are a few extracts which are of interest to the general public:

"The Vesper Boat club has reached another mile stone in its existence and as we look back and review the year's history, we find that the club has had one of the most prosperous years since its organization. Strong financially, strong in numbers and strong in its well known high reputation. It stands the leading athletic club of our city."

Then following an account of the annual meeting and the smoke talk.

"Early in May the club navy was put in repair. This consists of five canoes, five single working boats, two double working boats and three pleasure boats.

"The canoes and pleasure boats were in constant demand, but some of the working boats were hardly taken from the racks. This was owing to the fact that the boats are old and of slow model. The time was when these same working boats were used not only for exercise but for parties, for picnics, etc. The canoes and pleasure boats have now taken their place and I would advise that at least four of these working boats be sold and that the club add to its navy two or three light weight working boats. If we had the right kind of boats it would be a great help towards keeping up the interest in rowing."

Mention was made of the proposed June regatta and the two outings.

"Early in the season it became evident that bicycling was to be a feature of the club. The committee recognizing this had the east side of the ground floor arranged with bicycle stalls; about this time a large number of Lowell Cycle club men became Vesper members which makes the number of club riders 65. The following officers were chosen: the present club president, secretary and treasurer, with George H. Stevens, captain; L. H. Swift, 1st lieutenant; A. S. Baker, 2d lieutenant; standard bearer, James Thorpe; buglers, F. A. Baker and F. S. Bean.

"Throughout the season club runs were held, all the surrounding towns were visited, runs being made to Salem, Gloucester, Boston, Nashua, Concord, Groton, the "Hermitage" at Littleton, and the "Indians" at Dunstable, also to Newport. But bicycling has not been all pleasure. In the races round and about Lowell the Vesper club has been well representing. Dr. Charles E. Snyder entered eleven events, and won four first and four second prizes. He holds the one mile championship of Lowell, and at Brockton on Labor day he won the half mile open scratch race. Edward Buffum won the ten mile handicap race at Portsmouth, N. H. J. W. Sidebottom won three events, one and two mile open race at the cricket grounds; the two mile race at the Fair grounds. G. H. Stevens won the Century medals covering 100 miles inside of 15 hours on three occasions in less than 10 hours riding time. The Vesper club was admitted to the L. A. W.; and joined the Associated Cycling club of Boston and vicinity. Messrs. Goulding and Buffum are on the board of management; Messrs. Butler and Stevens are officers of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W., and E. H. Shattuck is local consul. The interest in the sport seems to be on the increase."

Reference was made to lawn tennis and the tournaments and winners. Rev. C. W. Huntington won the city championship and James Thorpe second prize.

Quite a lengthy and interesting review is given of the canoeing season, especially of the big A. C. A. meet with an account of the prize winning of Messrs. Butler, Goddard and Gray. He wound up by saying: "It is a cold A. C. A. meet when the V. B. C. does not get there." (Applause.)

The Bowling Team.

Oct. 2., the executive committee elected H. J. Corwin to be captain of the league bowling team, he to have full power to select and manage the team. To prove that he did his duty you have only to refer to the history of the season just closed. Our club was one of the eight cracks in the first division and the team played two games with each club one at home and one away. It won 13 straight games and first place in the division. It led the league in total pins and rolled the highest team single string. Capt. Corwin made the highest three string total, and established a new record for three strings away from home. At the roll off of the finals with the Melrose A. A. and Les Miserables the Vespers won by rolling in splendid championship form. Thus our club team after three years' rolling has won the championship and made a record of which every Vesper man may well be proud. In the team were Capt. H. J. Corwin, F. H. Grover, C. E. Goulding, James Thorpe, C. F. Harris, J. K. and S. T. Whittier and Julian C. Hood. These men in order to do this have practically given up all their time outside of business hours, and have been put to considerable personal expense; when you stop to consider the reputation they have established for the club throughout the state, not only as scientific bowlers but for good, honest fellowship, that they have won not only the championship but have brought to this club house the champion silver shield, and for the division prize, a handsome punch bowl and ladle, it must be clear to all that this club owes them a vote of thanks and that we should recognize their work by some substantial gift.

Presented Silver Mugs.

Your committee therefore have voted to present to each man who rolled on the them a silver mug suitably inscribed, to be their own personal property. Capt Corwin won the special prize offered for the highest thre string total. The attendance at league games was so large that accommodation in the alleys were badly cramped.

Reference was made to the club tourneys, one of which is not completed, Team Five—C. H. Howard, A. E. Swapp, W. F. Coburn, G. E. Perley and W. R. Hart won the fall tournament. The report states that it is a matter of deep regret that we cannot have at least four alleys instead of two.

Meetings of the executive committee were reported.

With the resignations of the year and the new members the club consists of 181 active and 22 non-resident members; total 203.

In reviewing the work of the past year we find canoeing as brisk as ever. A large number of private canoes have been added to our already large fleet.

Tennis can never be a very popular sport in our club on account of most of our members not being able to give the necessary time during the day.

The number of private steamers owned by club members will make it necessary for the committee to make permanent arrangement for wharfage.

The bowling committee has no plan to suggest on changing the alleys. Richard Gair, the janitor, was highly commended.

New Club Grounds.

"This club since its beginning has never stood still; it has steadily progressed and in order to keep at the top it must still push forward. The time was when this house answered every purpose; now it is not so. Then it was only a summer boat club, now it is the leading athletic club in our city; here all athletic sports are encouraged.

"To increase the interest in boating, canoeing, cycling, we must have some resort which can be reached by both river and road where Vesper men may gather for out door sports. With increased facilities for our bowling and a Vesper outing ground, there is no question but our membership will be so largely increased that all sports can be encouraged so that it will keep the V. B. C., as it is now everywhere the finest club of its kind in existence. You may meet in your travels tennis players, bowlers, cyclers, canoeists, and as soon as it becomes known that you are a Vesper man a cordial, hearty reception is assured you."

Election of Officers.

Above report was enthusiastically received. Then proceeding to election of officers the following was the result: Paul Butler, president; D. S. Goddard and G. H. Stevens, vice presidents; A. G. Swapp, secretary; C. E. Goulding, treasurer; (all re-elected, Mr. Butler for the 16th time); directors, S. T. Whittier, H. W. Salmon and Hon. C. D. Palmer; membership committee for two years, J. K. Whittier; R. F. Brazer, George C. Dempsey, Howard Gray, F. A. Baker and L. F. Sherman; auditors, James Thorpe and Julian B. Keyes.

A change in bylaws making the initiation fee $10, and providing that dues shall begin at time of admittance the new member to pay the proportionate part of the dues as determined by time of election, was passed. The meeting then adjourned and the smoke talk began.

The Midway Plaisance.

The program of the evening was entitled "The Midway Plaisance" and proved probably the finest burlesque ever gotten up in this city. It could only be appreciated by those of the club who had "done" the original Midway. The many eccentricities brought out were recognized by those who had seen them at the fair, and Joe Battles' remarkable skill in bringing them out was at once seen.

The Vesper burlesquers never before shone so conspicuously. The costuming and characters were to perfection.

The end of the hall was turned into an oriental parlor with rugs and divans. In it the Nautch girls danced and the oriental musicians played.

First of all Willis Farrington, who made an ideal fakir, hung out a sign "They won't allow me to talk" illustrating one of the phases of the Midway. The scenes and comments, with many local lists were given by cards. The musicians were W. D. Marren, J. P. Battles, Aaron Thompson, Howard Gray, H. W. Salmon and Harry Thompson.

South Sea Islander—Joe Bennett, who was a terrible speciman of the aborigine, executed a war club dance. Albert Wheeler, was a perfectly made up Chinaman. Walter Leigh was the town crier of Old Vienna and his Dutch cries were immense.

The big features were the dancers Henry K. Gates, F. A. Baker and E. B. Conant. The two first named executed the famous dances which were tabooed at the fair.

Words will not sufficiently describe the success of their dancing and the ovation they received.

In the second part the bridal procession from the streets of Cairo was reproduced with E. B. Conant as the bride, who rode in astride of C. D. Palmer's donkey. The ovation was a roof raiser. The three dancers executed an eccentric dance with an original song by Howard Gray.

After the second part the club members went below for supper, while James Thorpe took a flash light picture of the "artists."

The other fun of the evening which waxed furious consisted of songs by Robert Hyde, a clever banjoist of Boston, with club choruses, the christening of the new punch bowl and a song by Robert Mudie written so as to cleverly bring in the names of the bowlers. The chorus to the tune of "John Brown" was "The Vespers they are champion bowlers." The smoke talk was over at midnight.

The Vesper Chorus.

(To be sung to the tune of "John Brown's body, etc,")

Capt. Corwin and his brother bowlers four
With all clubs but one, this year, have wiped up the floor.
Lowell of her bowling teams is justly very proud,
And all the sports admit

(Chorus.)
That the Vespers they are champion bowlers,
All the team are dandy rollers,
Deservedly they've won the pennant
Of ninety-three and four.

Grover, he's a darling, and the sphere he handles well,
For proof look up the score book, and the story it will tell.
Harris, who is no chicken, has a style both trim and neat,
So let us once more repeat
(Chorus.)

Then we have a Charles, whose surname 'tis Goulding
Oft what has seemed certain defeat, he's turned into a win,
Our Boys, the Whittier brothers, they are bowlers, good and true
And this is what we know.
(Chorus.)

What about the genial James who hails from Stalybridge,
He certainly puts up a game that is at times gilt-edged,
As an all round man he ranks quite high no matter what the game
And no one can deny
(Chorus.)

Now for our friend Corwin, who is captain of this crew,
I think he's a lu-lu and the same I'm sure do you,
Ask the boys at Norfolk house if he is not a star?
And they also will admit.

(Chorus.)
I really think it would be wrong before my song is done,
To omit friend ex-Mayor Palmer, than whom better there is none,
You must admit he was not wanting, boys, at all your games
And he always will agree.
(Chorus.)

No doubt there are some fellows here who have heard me sing this song
Will wonder who Bob Mudie is, and where does he belong
Well, boys, I live in Boston, but you bet your own sweet life
That I am a Lowell sport (and know)
That the Vespers, etc.:

WERE HER GUESTS.

MISS KATHERINE CUMMISKEY RECEIVED HER FRIENDS.

One of the Season's Most Elaborate Affairs Graced by the Presence of Many Out-of-Town Ladies and Gentlemen.

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the reception given by Miss Katherine Cummiskey of Fletcher street, to her many friends of this city and out-of-town last evening.

The new Associate hall was the scene of the party, and in keeping with the elaborate nature of the affair was very beautifully and extensively decorated. The walls beneath the balconies were tastefully bedecked with pink bunting and white cream lace, neatly arranged, added greatly to the attractive effect. Tropical plants and palms in abundance adorned the stage, nooks and corners.

From 8 to 9 o'clock, the American orchestra rendered an acceptable concert program, during which time the hostess assisted by Miss Adelaide Crowley of this city and Miss Theresa Farrell of Lawrence received her guests. Miss Cummiskey was becomingly attired in white satin, while her assistants wore gowns of plain and figured blue satin.

At 9 o'clock general dancing, including the latest terpsichorean creations, was enjoyed. When 10 numbers had been danced the march to the supper hall was taken, Miss Cummiskey leaning on the arm of Dr. Collier of Boston. The Page Co., catered. After supper dancing was resumed and continued until 2 o'clock. The attendance was such as to make dancing comfortable, and it is needless to state that the party was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The feature of the affair was the large number of exquisite costumes worn by the ladies.

The matrons were Mesdames E. B. Quinn, Robt. E. Crowley and Wm. P. Barry, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank P. Cummiskey, David Cavanaugh, George P. Green, John W. McEvoy and D. J. Murphy.

Who Were There

Among the guests from abroad were: Dr. Collier, Dr. Stacey, Mr. William Wood, Mr. James Hickey, Mr. John Cadigan, Mr. Daniels and the Misses Costello of Boston, Mr. Joseph Sheehan, Mr. Daniel Donohoe, Mr. Neal Mahoney, Mr. J. P. S. Mahoney, Mr. Thos. Carney, Mr. Jerry Mahoney, the Misses Farrell, Mrs. Morris Curran, Mrs. John Farrell of Lawrence; Miss Linehan, Mr. James Linehan and Mr. Curtiss of Peabody; Dr. Lyons and Miss Lyons of Manchester; Miss Nellie Bayliss of Detroit; Dr. W. R. McGuirk of Providence; Mr. D. E. Murphy of Concord.

DEATHS.

Mary Jane Connell, wife of Abram Connell, died Wednesday evening at her home, 22 Wilder street.

Sarah Hartley, aged 49 years, died yesterday at her home, No. 138 Warren street.

Maria A. Dartt, aged 68 years, died at her home, 25 Shedd street, Wednesday evening. Interment will be at Waitsfield, Vt.

Hattie Lackome, aged 32 years, wife of George Lackome, died Wednesday evening at her late home, 49 Kirk street.

Catherine Wayland, aged 64 years, died yesterday at home, 417 Adams street.

Leonard Page, formerly a resident of this city, died on Tuesday at his home at West Somerville.

Jennie Logan, aged 74 years, died yesterday at the hospital. She was the widow of James Logan, and was an esteemed member of the First Presbyterian church. She leaves three grandchildren, who reside at her late home, 35 Prospect street.

Walter Herbert, infant son of Deputy James A. McQuade and Margaret McQuade, died at their home, 227 Concord street, yesterday afternoon.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mayor Pickman is in Boston today attending the normal school hearing.

The water board last evening heard petitions for pipe extensions in Varnum avenue, Pawtuckettville.

Over 100 persons attended the regular monthly entertainment and supper of Bay State Colony of Pilgrim Fathers at Bay State hall, last evening. The entertainment was a very pleasing one and at its conclusion supper was served in the banquet hall.

The committee on liquor laws has reported a bill amending the public statutes relative to intoxicating liquors, providing that sales of cider and native wines by the makers thereof, shall be in quantities of not less than 10 gallons, except by a special license.

Mr. Sirios, the Aiken street barber, says a burglar entered his house Saturday evening, but when attacked by the barber in the kitchen he fled through the window. Sirios used a leather billy for a weapon and he believed the intruder was cut about the head.

Illegal Liquor Selling.

Joseph Goddu who keeps a drug store at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets, and who was arrested for illegal liquor selling was found guilty in the police court yesterday and fined $100. The liquor officers testified to having gone to his place of business and found that sales had been made to, which nothing that would cover the law could be shown. They also seized a considerable quantity of liquor. Goddu appealed and was held in $300 for the Superior court.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Two drunks were in court this morning. One was placed on probation and the other fined $3.

The case of Mary Fahey, who smashed 14 panes of glass, a few evenings ago, was called this morning. Mary pleaded guilty to the charges of drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass. She received a sentence of four months in the workhouse for drunkenness, while the glass case was placed on file.

St. Patrick's Mission.

The mission at St. Patrick's church continues to draw immense crowds nightly. Last evening, Rev. Fr. Donaghue, C. M., preached an eloquent, powerful sermon on the vices. The number at confession was very large, and priests from the outside parishes assisted.

Public Opening.

THE CITY COMMITTEE.

VERY IMPORTANT MEETING OF THAT BODY LAST NIGHT.

Resolution Presented to Read Four Democratic Councilmen Out of the Party—Caucuses to be Held April 30th.

The democratic city committee met last night.

Councilmen Sparks, O'Connell, Ryan and Robinson, and ex-Councilman Nolan were read out of the party.

Frank J. Donohoe introduced the resolutions expelling these gentlemen from the democratic party.

The fixing of the date for the caucuses for the selection of the new democratic city committee caused considerable discussion.

Several dates were named and a motion was offered to have them called for April 27. Frank J. Donohoe moved as an amendment that the date be the 30th. The amendment was accepted and then Edward W. Rodgers argued in favor of having the caucuses called later in the year, about the month of August or September. This would have the effect of disposing of the charges of the committee, catering to cliques and politicians.

Mr. Donohoe also spoke in favor of Mr. Rodgers' suggestion.

Chairman Farley stated that in order to have the caucuses called for August or September, it would be necessary to amend the constitution. The question then came on the motion to hold the caucuses April 30, and the motion passed.

Marcellus Fletcher moved that all candidates for the committee be obliged to hand in their name, with 25 cents to the printing committe, on or before April 27. An amendment was offered that the names be handed to the ward executive, but this was opposed on the ground that the ward executive would be charged with fixing up the ticket. Mr. Fletcher's motion then passed.

Donahoe's Resolution.

Mr. Frank J. Donohoe then arose and handed to Secretary Mead a set of resolutions he desired to have read.

The resolutions called for the expulsion of Thomas J. Sparks, John Nolan, John J. O'Connell, John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the democratic party; and of John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the city committee. The resolution went further and asked that these gentlemen be prohibited from participating in democratic caucuses either as candidates or voters; that the printing committee be instructed in making up ballots to reject their applications to print their names; that the resolutions be read in Wards 1, 3 and 6 at the opening of the city committee caucuses and that the chairman of said caucuses are instructed to reject the ballots of said Ryan, Robinson, Sparks, Nolan and O'Connell if they offer to vote.

The resolutions created a lengthy discussion in which, at least a dozen participated. Councilman Ryan protested vigorously but to no avail, and the resolutions were adopted.

John E. Maguire then arose and wanted to have the vote reconsidered claiming that he desired to add the names of a few other gentlemen, particularly Overseers of the Poor Gookin and Keefe. Then followed more talk in which John F. Curtis figured prominently. The motion to reconsider was lost and the committee then adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Maguire's grievance against Overseers Gookin and Keefe is because they refused to vote for him for secretary of the overseers of the poor.

It is not quite apparent why he should desire Messrs. Keefe's and Gookin's expulsion, when every other member of the board is a democrat, except Mayor Pickman, and refused to vote for Mr. Maguire, as is evident from Mr. Richardson's unanimous election.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The book "Heavenly Twins" which is still largely called for at the city library, has gone through a New York edition of 17,000 copies.

***

The new word, or perhaps it isn't so new after all, for it is commonly used in England, is "knobsticks in place of "scabs." It is to be hoped that the name will not become a familiar one hereabouts.

OFFICIAL COURTESY.

It is Extended to the City Treasurer-elect by the Out-going Treasurer.

The following correspondence between City Treasurer Chadwick and City Treasurer-elect, John H. Harrington will be read with interest, and is self-explanatory:

LOWELL, Mass., March 28, 1894.

John H. Harrington, Esq., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Please accept my congratulations upon your election as city treasurer.

After a careful audit of my accounts, under the direction of the committee on accounts, I shall be ready to transfer them to you upon your qualification as city treasurer.

Meanwhile any courtesies of the office that may be of assistance in preparing you for your new duties will be very readily extended.

I am,

Very respectfully yours,
AUSTIN K. CHADWICK.

LOWELL, Mass., March 29, 1894.

Dear Sir: I beg leave to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday and to thank you for the generous sentiments therein expressed.

I shall be pleased to accept your kind offer, and will visit the office at an early day.

Anticipating the great pleasure it will give me to meet you and your courteous assistants.

I remain,

Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. HARRINGTON.

Austin K. Chadwick, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.

A Sewer Hearing.

A meeting of the committee on sewers was held last evening, and a hearing was given on the petition to extend the Gorham street sewer from the end of Manchester street to Cosgrove street. P. O'Neil, W. W. Clark, John C. Pead, George Emsley and others argued in favor and there was no opposition.

After the hearing bids were opened for brick and drain pipe. Edward Cowley was awarded the contract for furnishing brick and Cleveland J. Cheney for drain pipe.

Relative to drawing of the general sewer loan, to complete the Centralville sewer, the members of the committee were of the opinion that such could not be done. Already over $40,000 of the $60,000 appropriated for the Centralville sewer is spent, and the sewer is only half built.

SOUND MONEY

President Cleveland's Veto of the Bland Bill.

BETTER POWER TO ISSUE BONDS URGED.

As a Means of Protecting the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—At 12:25 yesterday, while the roll of the house was being called on a contested election case, Mr. Pruden, the president's executive clerk, appeared at the bar of the house, and transmitted the president's special message vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill.

As Mr. Pruden announced that he was directed to transmit a message in writing, and the president's approval of sundry house bills, for a moment the Democrats believed that possibly Mr. Cleveland had signed the Bland bill.

Members rushed down the aisles from all directions and crowded about the speaker's desk. Speaker Crisp himself broke the seal. One glance was enough: "It is veto," said he, and the word was passed from lip to lip.

The news was received with a mixture of joy and sorrow. To a large majority of Democrats the news was a severe blow, and their expressions of dissatisfaction in some cases were loud and emphatic. The Republicans seemed to be greatly elated at the confusion and havoc created in the Democratic camp by the message.

Reasons For the Veto.

In vetoing the bill the president reviews the financial conditions, and says that the recovery being so well under way, nothing should be done to check convalescence. His main objections to the bill are its unfortunate construction, and that it will not maintain parity of the two metals. He says the present perplexities and embarrassments of the secretary of the treasury ought not to be augmented by devolving upon him the execution of a law so uncertain and confused.

He is convinced that the scheme proposed by the second section of the bill is ill-advised and dangerous, and that its ultimate result would be to replace legal tender treasury notes by silver certificates, which are not legal tender.

He closes by urging the desirability of granting to the secretary of the treasury better power than now exists to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve. If this could be done, he thinks the bullion seigniorage now in the treasury could be safely coined

Text of the Bland Bill.

Section 1. The secretary of the treasury shall immediately cause to be coined, as fast as possible, the silver bullion held in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion, and the issuing of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," to the amount of the seigniorage of such bullion, to wit: The sum of $55,158,981, and such coin and silver certificates issued thereon shall be used in the payment of current expenditures, and the secretary of the treasury, may, in his discretion, if the needs of the treasury demand it, issue silver certificates in excess of said coinage, provided that said excess shall not exceed the amount of the seigniorage, as herein authorized to be coined.

Section 2. After the coinage provided for in the first section of this act, the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be coined into legal tender standard silver dollars as fast as possible, and the coin shall be held in the treasury for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion.

Section 3. As fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued, but shall be cancelled and destroyed, in amount equal to the coin held at any time in the treasury derived from the coinage herein provided for, and silver certificates shall be issued on such coin, in the manner now provided by law, provided that this act shall not be construed to change existing law relating to the legal tender character or mode of redemption of the treasury notes issued under said act of July 14, 1890.

Section 4. A sufficient sum of money is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

Bland's Statement.

Representative Bland, author of the Bland seigniorage bill, authorized the following statement, concerning the veto and its effect upon the future of silver: "The main point of the veto is that the president does not wish to infuse into the currency any more silver until he has more bonds and greater gold reserve.

"He insists on the fight that has been in progress for the last year, on the one hand by those who wish to increase the bonded debt in the interests of national banks by selling bonds for gold and for money to pay the current expenditures of the government, and on the other hand by the representatives of the people, who are opposed to bond issues and in favor of coining the silver bullion—the assets we have on hand—and using this money in the payment of current expenses.

"The message criticizes to some extent the language of the bill, but it states that the veto is not based on that, but on the broader ground that the purposes of the bill, if carried out, would largely inflate the silver currency, while providing no gold basis to preserve the parity

"The day is fast approaching, when the peoples president will sign a coinage bill. I intend to do everything in my power to present to the president a free coinage bill, and let him exercise his rules of Lindley Murray on that."

And Still Another.

Representative Hender followed the presentation of the president's veto message by submitting a bill for the coinage of the silver seigniorage. The text is the same as the Bland bill, omitting the second section and some of the explanatory language of the first section. It briefly directs the secretary of the treasury to coin as fast as possible the silver seigniorage into legal tender standard silver dollars. The bill was referred to the coinage committee

Weavers Give Warning.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Weavers of the Riverside mills yesterday gave a formal notice that a strike would be inaugurated in every branch of the mill if the two-loom system was not abandoned by Monday morning. A conference will be held with the company this afternoon, and a definite decision will probably be reached.

Indicted For Forgery.

NEW YORK, March 30. — Herbert H Steele, who at present is serving a term in state prison at Charlestown, Mass., for forgery, and will be liberated April 4 next, was yesterday indicted for the forgery of a check for $180.

SOME RATTLING BOUTS.

LOWELL SPORTS LOOK ON WHILE BOYS PUNCH.

One Six-Round Battle Ended in a Draw While Four Other Contests Were Friendly Bouts for Points.

The sporting blood about town is a little warmer nowadays for quite often a "mill" is held on the q. t. just across the city line. Some of the mills are pretty lively too, and occasionally there is a knock-out. The affairs are always friendly, and no stakes are put up so they cannot be called breaches of the peace.

A six bout mill was the event which sent 300 sports into the suburbs last night. All were mighty interesting although they lack the flavor which comes from having a stake up.

The Moriarty brothers are said to have boxed four rounds for points; Armstrong and Saunders, four rounds for the same object, and three other bouts by local celebrities for decisions, the whole winding up with a drawn six round "go" between Dolan of Lowell and Arnold of Dracut, which the master of ceremonies called a draw.

All the big sports were there, together with bottle-holders and rubbers-down.

A TOOTHSOME PIG.

Made the Boys Think of the Roasts at Corbett's Pond.

Frank L. Richard, the well-known and popular druggist, entertained a large and jolly gathering at his home, 57 Lilley avenue, Wednesday evening. A delicious pig roast proved very appetizing to the company, and several side dishes were provided under the direction of Nap. Provencher.

"Bobbie" Saunders, "Billie" Flynn and "Charlie" Swan, the "Pepper Trio," rendered several of their melodious selections without the aid of a piano or harmonica. Ex-Alderman Choate played the jews-harp and ex-Councilman Constantineau entertained the assemblage with selections on the concertina. The most interesting feature of the evening was the novel recitation by "Picket" Mead. Mr. Mead is the possessor of considerable dramatic ability, and delivers humorous and and sentimental pieces with the same pleasing effect. His rendition of "The pen and ink brigade" elicited hearty applause.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE.

Scenic Artists Now Preparing the New Stage Equipment.

From present indications, the attractions at Lakeview during the coming season will surpass those of all previous years. The theatre will be run this year by Mr. James Gilbert of Boston who made a big success of it during the latter part of last season. He will probably run comic operas with a high class company.

Some fine scenery is being painted for the theatre under the direction of Joseph Harrington, assisted by William H. Mulcahey. Four drops have been completed up to date. They represent street, garden, landscape and horizon scenes. The latter two are taken from scenes in Ireland and are said to be very agreeable to the eye. Besides these a scene representing a prison, kitchen and parlor are being painted and they promise to be as fine as anything offered by a local play house. The necessary wings, set doors, borders and babs trades have been finished, and when the theatre opens it will be found very well equipped with scenery.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE—Tonight the merry comedy of "Jane" will be seen. It is a clean comedy and with Miss Yeamans as "Jane" will no doubt be very enjoyable.

The minstrel season is nearly passed but Lew Dockstader will be here tomorrow and Sunday evening to give his excellent concerts.

CRISP FOR SENATOR.

Speaker of the House Appointed by the Governor of Georgia.

ATLANTA, March 30.—Governor Northen has appointed Speaker Charles F. Crisp to succeed the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Not a word has passed between the governor and the speaker, and the latter's name had not even been presented formally to the governor.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—It was after midnight when Speaker Crisp received notice of his appointment as senator from Georgia. He was much surprised, as the offer was unexpected. His first inclination was to decline, but at 1 o'clock he wired the governor that he would hold his answer in abeyance until he could consult with political friends and associates.

IN POPULISTS' DISTRICT.

The Commonweal Army Now Numbers Over a Hundred.

COLUMBIANA, O., March 30.—Coxey has rejoined his cohorts, the army is among Populists, and the commonweal is enjoying a big boom. The Farmers' Alliance provided three wagon loads of provisions, and two of wood. Beef, hams, coffee and 1000 loaves of bread, will furnish the commonweal with provisions for three days, at least.

In a speech, Carl Browne said he was being misrepresented by 40 argus-eyed demons of hell, who followed him around. He meant the reporters, and has given orders to keep newspaper men out of camp.

Three hundred people welcomed the crowd of 108 soldiers to Columbiana, and the citizens provided Johnson's foundry as a camp. Straw beds were provided.

Thirty-six recruits from East Liverpool joined the ranks. This town has a Coxey club with 53 members, of which John Harold is chairman. After seeing the army Harold said that while he sympathized with Coxey's principles, he could not countenance such an army of tramps to force legislation.

Coxey says success is assured, but refuses to speak of his financial troubles.

For Smuggling Opium Through Canada to the United States.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The customs officials have in custody a man who is believed to be one of the principles in a big opium smuggling scheme, and warrants are out for others who are believed to be implicated in smuggling many thousands of dollars' worth of the narcotic into the United States by way of Canada.

The man under arrest says that his name is Samuel Tilford Rowe, and that he lives in this city. A policeman noticed Rowe passing through Mott street, with a large package under his arm. The man's actions were suspicious, and the policeman took him to the police station. There his package was opened, and was found to contain 40 cans of opium, which did not bear the government stamp, and had clearly been smuggled.

He was remanded to the custody of special inspectors of the treasury department. Postal orders which were found in Rowe's pockets and which he was about to forward to people in Toronto, throw considerable light on the smuggling scheme, it is claimed, furnishing the names of the parties who probably attended to getting the opium through Canada.

VESPER CLUB

It Reproduces the Famous Midway Plaisance.

BEST BURLESQUE EVER GOTTEN UP IN LOWELL.

Merry Song Dedicated to the Champion Bowlers.

It was truly the Vesper's night when the club house hall was well filled with members last evening, on the occasion of the annual meeting.

In anticipation of the entertainment which was to follow the business, every member who could possibly get there was out.

President Butler presided, and after the financial report which showed the club to be in a very prosperous condition, Secretary Swapp read his annual report, prefacing it with a short sketch of the club and its year of activity. Here are a few extracts which are of interest to the general public:

"The Vesper Boat club has reached another mile stone in its existence and as we look back and review the year's history, we find that the club has had one of the most prosperous years since its organization. Strong financially, strong in numbers and strong in its well known high reputation. It stands the leading athletic club of our city."

Then following an account of the annual meeting and the smoke talk.

"Early in May the club navy was put in repair. This consists of five canoes, five single working boats, two double working boats and three pleasure boats.

"The canoes and pleasure boats were in constant demand, but some of the working boats were hardly taken from the racks. This was owing to the fact that the boats are old and of slow model. The time was when these same working boats were used not only for exercise but for parties, for picnics, etc. The canoes and pleasure boats have now taken their place and I would advise that at least four of these working boats be sold and that the club add to its navy two or three light weight working boats. If we had the right kind of boats it would be a great help towards keeping up the interest in rowing."

Mention was made of the proposed June regatta and the two outings.

"Early in the season it became evident that bicycling was to be a feature of the club. The committee recognizing this had the east side of the ground floor arranged with bicycle stalls; about this time a large number of Lowell Cycle club men became Vesper members which makes the number of club riders 65. The following officers were chosen: the present club president, secretary and treasurer, with George H. Stevens, captain; L. H. Swift, 1st lieutenant; A. S. Baker, 2d lieutenant; standard bearer, James Thorpe; buglers, F. A. Baker and F. S. Bean.

"Throughout the season club runs were held, all the surrounding towns were visited, runs being made to Salem, Gloucester, Boston, Nashua, Concord, Groton, the "Hermitage" at Littleton, and the "Indians" at Dunstable, also to Newport. But bicycling has not been all pleasure. In the races round and about Lowell the Vesper club has been well representing. Dr. Charles E. Snyder entered eleven events, and won four first and four second prizes. He holds the one mile championship of Lowell, and at Brockton on Labor day he won the half mile open scratch race. Edward Buffum won the ten mile handicap race at Portsmouth, N. H. J. W. Sidebottom won three events, one and two mile open race at the cricket grounds; the two mile race at the Fair grounds. G. H. Stevens won the Century medals covering 100 miles inside of 10 hours on three occasions in less than 10 hours riding time. The Vesper club was admitted to the L. A. W.; and joined the Associated Cycling club of Boston and vicinity. Messrs. Goulding and Buffum are on the board of management; Messrs. Butler and Stevens are officers of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W., and E. H. Shattuck is local consul. The interest in the sport seems to be on the increase."

Reference was made to lawn tennis and the tournaments and winners. Rev. C. W. Huntington won the city championship and James Thorpe second prize.

Quite a lengthy and interesting review is given of the canoeing season, especially of the big A. C. A. meet with an account of the prize winning of Messrs. Butler, Goddard and Gray. He wound up by saying: "It is a cold A. C. A. meet when the V. B. C. does not get there." (Applause.)

The Bowling Team.

Oct. 2., the executive committee elected H. J. Corwin to be captain of the league bowling team, he to have full power to select and manage the team. To prove what he did his duty you have only to refer to the history of the season just closed. Our club was one of the eight cracks in the first division and the team played two games with each club one at home and one away. It won 18 straight games and first place in the division. It led the league in total pins and rolled the highest team single string. Capt. Corwin made the highest three string total, and established a new record for three strings away from home. At the roll off of the finals with the Melrose A. A. and Les Miserables the Vespers won by rolling in splendid championship form. Thus our club team after three years' rolling has won the championship and made a record of which every Vesper man may well be proud. In the team were Capt. H. J. Corwin, F. H. Grover, C. E. Goulding, James Thorpe, C. F. Harris, J. K. and S. T. Whittier and Julian C. Hood. These men in order to do this have practically given up all their time outside of business hours, and have been put to considerable personal expense; when you stop to consider the reputation they have established for the club throughout the state, not only as scientific bowlers but for good, honest fellowship, that they have won not only the championship but have brought to this club house the champion silver shield, and for the division prize, a handsome punch bowl and ladle, it must be clear to all that this club owes them a vote of thanks and that we should recognize their work by some substantial gift.

Presented Silver Mugs.

Your committee therefore have voted to present to each man who rolled on the team a silver mug suitably inscribed, to be their own personal property. Capt. Corwin has the special prize offered for the highest three string total. The attendance at league games was so large that accommodation in the alleys were badly cramped.

Reference was made to the club tourneys, one of which is not completed, Team Five—C. H. Howard, A. E. Swapp, W. E. Coburn, G. E. Perley and W. H. Hart won the fall tournament. The report states that it is a matter of deep regret that we cannot have at least four alleys instead of two.

Meetings of the executive committee were reported.

With the resignations of the year and the new members the club consists of 181 active and 22 non-resident members; total 203.

In reviewing the work of the past year we find canoeing as brisk as ever. A large number of private canoes have been added to our already large fleet.

Tennis can never be a very popular sport in our club on account of most of our members not being able to give the necessary time during the day.

The number of private steamers owned by club members will make it necessary for the committee to make permanent arrangement for wharfage.

The bowling committee has no plan to suggest on changing the alleys. Richard Gair, the janitor, was highly commended.

New Club Grounds.

"This club since its beginning has never stood still; it has steadily progressed and in order to keep at the top it must still push forward. The time was when this house answered every purpose; now it is not so. Then it was only a summer boat club, now it is the leading athletic club in our city; here all athletic sports are encouraged.

"To increase the interest in boating, canoeing, cycling, we must have some resort which can be reached by both river and road where Vesper men may gather for out door sports. With increased facilities for our bowling and a Vesper outing ground, there is no question but our membership will be so largely increased that all sports can be encouraged so that it will keep the V. B. C., as it is now everywhere the finest club of its kind in existence. You may meet in your travels tennis players, bowlers, cyclers, canoeists, and as soon as it becomes known that you are a Vesper man a cordial, hearty reception is assured you."

Election of Officers.

Above report was enthusiastically received. Then proceeding to election of officers the following was the result: Paul Butler, president; D. S. Goddard and G. H. Stevens, vice presidents; A. G. Swapp, secretary; C. E. Goulding, treasurer; (all re-elected, Mr. Butler for the 10th time); directors, S. T. Whittier, H. W. Salmon and Hon. C. D. Palmer; membership committee for two years, J. K. Whittier; R. F. Brazer, George C. Dempsey, Howard Gray, F. A. Baker and L. F. Sherman; auditors, James Thorpe and Julian B. Keyes.

A change in bylaws making the initiation fee $10, and providing that dues shall begin at time of admittance the new member to pay the proportionate part of the dues as determined by time of election, was passed. The meeting then adjourned and the smoke talk began.

The Midway Plaisance.

The program of the evening was entitled "The Midway Plaisance" and proved probably the finest burlesque ever gotten up in this city. It could only be appreciated by those of the club who had "done" the original Midway. The many eccentricities brought out were recognized by those who had seen them at the fair, and Joe Battles' remarkable skill in bringing them out was at once seen.

The Vesper burlesquers never before shone so conspicuously. The costuming and characters were to perfection.

The end of the hall was turned into an oriental parlor with rugs and divans. In it the Nautch girls danced and the oriental musicians played.

First of all Willis Farrington, who made an ideal fakir, hung out a sign "They won't allow me to talk" illustrating one of the phases of the Midway. The scenes and comments, with many local hits were given by cards. The musicians were W. D. Marren, J. P. Battles, Aaron Thompson, Howard Gray, H. W. Salmon and Harry Thompson.

South Sea Islander—Joe Bennett, who was a terrible specimen of the aborigine, executed a war club dance. Albert Wheeler, was a perfectly made up Chinaman. Walter Leigh was the town crier of Old Vienna and his Dutch cries were immense.

The big features were the dancers Henry K. Gates, F. A. Baker and E. B. Conant. The two first named executed the famous dances which were tabooed at the fair.

Words will not sufficiently describe the success of their dancing and the ovation they received.

In the second part the bridal procession from the streets of Cairo was reproduced with E. B. Conant as the bride, who rode in astride of C. D. Palmer's donkey. The ovation was a roof raiser. The three dancers executed an eccentric dance with an original song by Howard Gray.

After the second part the club members went below for supper, while James Thorpe took a flash light picture of the "artists."

The other fun of the evening which waxed furious consisted of songs by Robert Hyde, a clever banjoist of Boston, with club choruses, the christening of the new punch bowl and a song by Robert Mudie written so as to cleverly bring in the names of the bowlers. The chorus to the tune of "John Brown" was "The Vespers they are champion bowlers." The smoke talk was over at midnight.

The Vesper Chorus.

(To be sung to the tune of "John Brown's body, etc.")

Capt. Corwin and his brother bowlers four
With all clubs but one, this year, have wiped up the floor.
Lowell of her bowling teams is justly very proud,

(Chorus.)
That the Vespers they are champion bowlers,
All the team are manly rollers,
Deservedly they've won the pennant
Of ninety-three and four.

Grover, he's a darling, and the sphere he handles well;
For proof look up the score book, and the story it will tell.
Harris, who is no chicken, has a style both trim and neat,
So let us once more repeat
(Chorus.)

Then we have a Charles, whose surname 'tis Goulding,
Oft what has seemed certain defeat, he's turned into a win;
Our Boys, the Whittier brothers, they are bowlers, good and true
And this is what we know.
(Chorus.)

What about the genial James who hails from Stalybridge,
He certainly puts up a game that is at times gilt-edged,
As an all round man he ranks quite high no matter what the game
And no one can deny
(Chorus.)

Now for our friend Corwin, who is captain of this crew,
I think he's a brick and the same I'm sure do you,
Ask the boys at Norfolk house if he is not a star?
And they also will admit.

(Chorus.)
I really think it would be wrong before my song is done,
To omit friend ex-Mayor Palmer, than whom better there is none,
You must admit he was not wanting, boys, at all your games
And he always will agree.
(Chorus.)

No doubt there are some fellows here who have heard no sing this song
Will wonder who Bob Mudie is, and where does he belong,
Well, boys, I live in Boston, but you bet your own sweet life
That I am a Lowell sport (and know)
That the Vespers, etc.;

WERE HER GUESTS.

MISS KATHERINE CUMMISKEY RECEIVED HER FRIENDS.

One of the Season's Most Elaborate Affairs Graced by the Presence of Many Out-of-Town Ladies and Gentlemen.

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the reception given by Miss Katherine Cummiskey of Fletcher street, to her many friends of this city and out-of-town last evening.

The new Associate hall was the scene of the party, and in keeping with the elaborate nature of the affair was very beautifully and extensively decorated. The walls beneath the balconies were tastefully bedecked with pink bunting and white cream lace, neatly arranged, added greatly to the attractive effect. Tropical plants and palms in abundance adorned the stage, nooks and corners.

From 8 to 9 o'clock, the American orchestra rendered an acceptable concert program, during which time the hostess assisted by Miss Adelaide Crowley of this city and Miss Theresa Farrell of Lawrence received her guests. Miss Cummiskey was becomingly attired in white satin, while her assistants wore gowns of plain and figured blue satin.

At 9 o'clock general dancing, including the latest terpsichorean creations, was enjoyed. When 10 numbers had been danced the march to the supper hall was taken, Miss Cummiskey leaning on the arm of Dr. Collier of Boston. The Page Co., catered. After supper dancing was resumed and continued until 2 o'clock. The attendance was such as to make dancing comfortable, and it is needless to state that the party was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The feature of the affair was the large number of exquisite costumes worn by the ladies.

The matrons were Mesdames E. B. Quinn, Robt. E. Crowley and Wm. P. Barry, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank P. Cummiskey, David Cavanaugh, George P. Green, John W. McEvoy and D. J. Murphy.

Who Were There.

Among the guests from abroad were: Dr. Collier, Dr. Stacey, Mr. William Wood, Mr. James Hickey, Mr. John Cadigan, Mr. Daniels and the Misses Costello of Boston; Mr. Joseph Sheehan, Mr. Daniel Donohoe, Mr. Neal Mahoney, Mr. J. P. S. Mahoney, Mr. Thos. Carney, Mr. Jerry Mahoney, the Misses Farrell, Mrs. Morris Curran, Mrs. John Farrell of Lawrence; Miss Linehan, Mr. James Linehan and Mr. Curtiss of Peabody; Dr. Lyons and Miss Lyons of Manchester; Miss Nellie Bayliss of Detroit; Dr. W. R. McGuirk of Providence; Mr. D. E. Murphy of Concord.

DEATHS.

Mary Jane Connell, wife of Abram Connell, died Wednesday evening, at her home, 22 Wilder street.

Sarah Hartley, aged 40 years, died yesterday at her home, No. 138 Warren street.

Maria A. Darlt, aged 68 years, died at her home, 25 Shedd street, Wednesday evening. Interment will be at Waitsfield, Vt.

Hattie Lackome, aged 32 years, wife of George Lackome, died Wednesday evening at her late home, 40 Kirk street.

Catherine Wayland, aged 64 years, died yesterday at home, 417 Adams street.

Leonard Page, formerly a resident of this city, died on Tuesday at his home at West Somerville.

Jennie Logan, aged 74 years, died yesterday at the hospital. She was the widow of James Logan, and was an esteemed member of the First Presbyterian church. She leaves three grandchildren, who reside at her late home, 35 Prospect street.

Walter Herbert, infant son of Deputy James A. McQuade and Margaret McQuade, died at their home, 227 Concord street, yesterday afternoon.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mayor Pickman is in Boston today attending the normal school hearing.

The water board last evening heard petitions for pipe extensions in Varnum avenue, Pawtucketville.

Over 100 persons attended the regular monthly entertainment and supper of Bay State Colony of Pilgrim Fathers at Bay State hall, last evening. The entertainment was a very pleasing one and at its conclusion supper was served in the banquet hall.

The committee on liquor laws has reported a bill amending the public statutes relative to intoxicating liquors, providing that sales of cider and native wines by the makers thereof, shall be in quantities of not less than 10 gallons, except by a special license.

Mr. Sirios, the Aiken street barber, says a burglar entered his house Saturday evening, but when attacked by the barber in the kitchen he fled through the window. Sirios used a leather billy for a weapon and he believed the intruder was cut about the head.

Illegal Liquor Selling.

Joseph Goddu who keeps a drug store at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets, and who was arrested for illegal liquor selling was found guilty in the police court yesterday and fined $100. The liquor officers testified to having gone to his place of business and found that sales had been made for, which nothing that would cover the law could be shown. They also seized a considerable quantity of liquor. Goddu appealed and was held in $300 for the Superior court.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Two drunks were in court this morning. One was placed on probation and the other fined $3.

The case of Mary Fahey, who smashed 14 panes of glass, a few evenings ago, was called this morning. Mary pleaded guilty to the charges of drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass. She received a sentence of four months in the workhouse for drunkenness, while the glass case was placed on file.

St. Patrick's Mission.

The mission at St. Patrick's church continues to draw immense crowds nightly. Last evening, Rev. Fr. Donaghue, C. M., preached an eloquent, powerful sermon on the vices. The number at confession was very large, and priests from the outside parishes assisted.

THE CITY COMMITTEE.

VERY IMPORTANT MEETING OF THAT BODY LAST NIGHT.

Resolution Presented to Read Four Democratic Councilmen Out of the Party—Caucuses to be Held April 30th.

The democratic city committee met last night.

Councilman Sparks, O'Connell, Ryan and Robinson, and ex-Councilman Nolan were read out of the party.

Frank J. Donohoe introduced the resolutions expelling these gentlemen from the democratic party.

The fixing of the date for the caucuses for the selection of the new democratic city committee caused considerable discussion.

Several dates were named and a motion was offered to have them called for April 27. Frank J. Donohoe moved as an amendment that the date be the 30th. The amendment was accepted and then Edward W. Rodgers argued in favor of having the caucuses called later in the year, about the month of August or September. This would have the effect of disposing of the charges of the committee, catering to cliques and politicians.

Mr. Donohoe also spoke in favor of Mr. Rodgers' suggestion.

Chairman Farley stated that in order to have the caucuses called for August or September, it would be necessary to amend the constitution. The question then came on the motion to hold the caucuses April 30, and the motion passed.

Marcellus Fletcher moved that all candidates for the committee be obliged to hand in their name, with 25 cents to the printing committe, on or before April 27. An amendment was offered that the names be handed to the ward executive, but this was opposed on the ground that the ward executive would be charged with fixing up the ticket. Mr. Fletcher's motion then passed.

Donahoe's Resolution.

Mr. Frank J. Donohoe then arose and handed to Secretary Mead a set of resolutions he desired to have read.

The resolutions called for the expulsion of Thomas J. Sparks, John Nolan, John J. O'Connell, John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the democratic party; and of John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the city committee. The resolution went further and asked that these gentlemen be prohibited from participating in democratic caucuses either as candidates or voters; that the printing committee be instructed in making up ballots to reject their applications to print their names; that the resolutions be read in Wards 1, 3 and 6 at the opening of the city committee caucuses and that the chairman of said caucuses are instructed to reject the ballots of said Ryan, Robinson, Sparks, Nolan and O'Connell if they offer to vote.

The resolutions created a lengthy discussion in which at least a dozen participated. Councilman Ryan protested vigorously but to no avail, and the resolutions were adopted.

John E. Maguire then arose and wanted to have the vote reconsidered claiming that he desired to add the names of a few other gentlemen, particularly Overseers of the Poor Gookin and Keefe. Then followed more talk in which John F. Curtis figured prominently. The motion to reconsider was lost and the committee then adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Maguire's grievance against Overseers Gookin and Keefe is because they refused to vote for him for secretary of the overseers of the poor.

It is not quite apparent why he should desire Messrs. Keefe's and Gookin's expulsion, when every other member of the board is a democrat, except Mayor Pickman, and refused to vote for Mr. Maguire, as is evident from Mr. Richardson's unanimous election.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The book "Heavenly Twins" which is still largely called for at the city library, has gone through a New York edition of 17,000 copies.

The new word, or perhaps it isn't so new after all, for it is commonly used in England, is "knobsticks in place of "scabs." It is to be hoped that the name will not become a familiar one hereabouts.

OFFICIAL COURTESY.

It Is Extended to the City Treasurer-elect by the Out-going Treasurer.

The following correspondence between City Treasurer Chadwick and City Treasurer-elect, John H. Harrington will be read with interest, and is self-explanatory:

LOWELL, Mass., March 28, 1894.

John H. Harrington, Esq., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Please accept my congratulations upon your election as city treasurer.

After a careful audit of my accounts, under the direction of the committee on accounts, I shall be ready to transfer them to you upon your qualification as city treasurer.

Meanwhile any courtesies of the office that may be of assistance in preparing you for your new duties will be very readily extended.

I am,
Very respectfully yours,
AUSTIN K. CHADWICK.

LOWELL, Mass., March 29, 1894.

Dear Sir: I beg leave to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday and to thank you for the generous sentiments therein expressed.

I shall be pleased to accept your kind offer, and will visit the office at an early day.

Anticipating the great pleasure it will give me to meet you and your courteous assistants.

I remain,
Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. HARRINGTON.

Austin K. Chadwick, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.

A Sewer Hearing.

A meeting of the committee on sewers was held last evening, and a hearing was given on the petition to extend the Gorham street sewer from the end of Manchester street to Cosgrove street. P. O'Neil, W. W. Clark, John C. Pond, George Ensley and others argued in favor and there was no opposition.

After the hearing bids were opened for brick and drain pipe. Edward Cawley was awarded the contract for furnishing brick and Cleveland J. Cheney for drain pipe.

Relative to drawing of the general sewer loan, to complete the Centralville sewer, the members of the committee were of the opinion that such could not be done. Already over $40,000 of the $60,000 appropriated for the Centralville sewer is spent, and the sewer is only half built.

Why Not.

If you are economizing why not look over your printing bills and see if you are not paying too much for printing. Call at this office and get prices on your work, and see if we cannot save money for you.

President Cleveland's Veto of the Bland Bill.

BETTER POWER TO ISSUE BONDS URGED.

As a Means of Protecting the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—At 12:25 yesterday, while the roll of the house was being called on a contested election case, Mr. Pruden, the president's executive clerk, appeared at the bar of the house, and transmitted the president's special message vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill.

As Mr. Pruden announced that he was directed to transmit a message in writing, and the president's approval of sundry house bills, for a moment the Democrats believed that possibly Mr. Cleveland had signed the Bland bill.

Members rushed down the aisles from all directions and crowded about the speaker's desk. Speaker Crisp himself broke the seal. One glance was enough: "It is veto," said he, and the word was passed from lip to lip.

The news was received with a mixture of joy and sorrow. To a large majority of Democrats the news was a severe blow, and their expressions of dissatisfaction in some cases were loud and emphatic. The Republicans seemed to be greatly elated at the confusion and havoc created in the Democratic camp by the message.

Reasons For the Veto.

In vetoing the bill the president reviews the financial conditions, and says that the recovery being so well under way, nothing should be done to check convalescence. His main objections to the bill are its unfortunate construction, and that it will not maintain parity of the two metals. He says the present perplexities and embarrassments of the secretary of the treasury ought not to be augmented by devolving upon him the execution of a law so uncertain and confused.

He is convinced that the scheme proposed by the second section of the bill is ill-advised and dangerous, and that its ultimate result would be to replace legal tender treasury notes by silver certificates, which are not legal tender.

He closes by urging the desirability of granting to the secretary of the treasury better power than now exists to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve. If this could be done, he thinks the bullion seigniorage now in the treasury would be safely coined.

Text of the Bland Bill.

Section 1. The secretary of the treasury shall immediately cause to be coined, as fast as possible, the silver bullion held in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion, and the issuing of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," to the amount of the seigniorage of such bullion, to wit: The sum of $55,160,931, and such coin and silver certificates issued thereon shall be used in the payment of current expenditures, and the secretary of the treasury, may, in his discretion, if the needs of the treasury demand it, issue silver certificates in excess of said coinage, provided that said excess shall not exceed the amount of the seigniorage, as herein authorized to be coined.

Section 2. After the coinage provided for in the first section of this act, the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be coined into legal tender standard silver dollars as fast as possible, and the coin shall be held in the treasury for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion.

Section 3. As fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued, but shall be cancelled and destroyed, in amount equal to the coin held at any time in the treasury derived from the coinage herein provided for, and silver certificates shall be issued on such coin in the manner now provided by law, provided that this act shall not be construed to change existing law relating to the legal tender character or mode of redemption of the treasury notes issued under said act of July 14, 1890.

Section 4. A sufficient sum of money is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

Bland's Statement.

Representative Bland, author of the Bland seigniorage bill, authorized the following statement, concerning the veto and its effect upon the future of silver: "The main point of the veto is that the president does not wish to infuse into the currency any more silver until he has more bonds and greater gold reserve.

"He insists on the fight that has been in progress for the last year, on the one hand by those who wish to increase the bonded debt in the interests of national banks by selling bonds for gold and for money to pay the current expenditures of the government, and on the other hand by the representatives of the people, who are opposed to bond issues and in favor of coining the silver bullion—the assets we have on hand—and using this money in the payment of current expenses.

"The message criticizes to some extent the language of the bill, but it states that the veto is not based on that, but on the broader ground that the purposes of the bill, if carried out, would largely inflate the silver currency, while providing no gold basis to preserve the parity.

"The day is fast approaching, when the peoples president' will sign a coinage bill. I intend to do everything in my power to present to the president a free coinage bill, and let him exercise his rules of Lindley Murray on that."

And Still Another.

Representative Hender followed the presentation of the president's veto message by submitting a bill for the coinage of the silver seigniorage. The text is the same as the Bland bill, omitting the second section and some of the explanatory language of the first section. It briefly directs the secretary of the treasury to coin as fast as possible the silver seigniorage into legal tender standard silver dollars. The bill was referred to the coinage committee.

Weavers Give Warning.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Weavers of the Riverside mills yesterday gave a formal notice that a strike would be inaugurated in every branch of the mill if the two-loom system was not abandoned by Monday morning. A conference will be held with the company this afternoon, and a definite decision will probably be reached.

Indicted For Forgery.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Herbert H. Steele, who at present is serving a term in state prison at Charlestown, Mass., for forgery, and will be liberated April 4 next, was yesterday indicted for the forgery of a check for $150.

SOME RATTLING BOUTS.

LOWELL SPORTS LOOK ON WHILE BOYS PUNCH.

One Six-Round Battle Ended in a Draw While Four Other Contests Were Friendly Bouts for Points.

The sporting blood about town is a little warmer nowadays for quite often a "mill" is held on the q. t. just across the city line. Some of the mills are pretty lively too, and occasionally there is a knock-out. The affairs are always friendly, and no stakes are put up so they cannot be called breaches of the peace.

A six bout mill was the event which sent 300 sports into the suburbs last night. All were mighty interesting although they lack the flavor which comes from having a stake up.

The Moriarty brothers are said to have boxed four rounds for points; Armstrong and Saunders, four rounds for the same object, and three other bouts by local celebrities for decisions, the whole winding up with a drawn six round "go" between Dolan of Lowell and Arnold of Dracut, which the master of ceremonies called a draw.

All the big sports were there, together with bottle-holders and rubbers-down.

A TOOTHSOME PIG.

Made the Boys Think of the Roasts at Corbett's Pond.

Frank L. Richard, the well-known and popular druggist, entertained a large and jolly gathering at his home, 57 Lilley avenue, Wednesday evening. A delicious pig roast proved very appetizing to the company, and several side dishes were provided under the direction of Nap. Provencher.

"Bobbie" Saunders, "Billie" Flynn and "Charlie" Swan, the "Pepper Trio," rendered several of their melodious selections without the aid of a piano or harmonica. Ex-Alderman Choate played the jews-harp and ex-Councilman Constantineau entertained the assemblage with selections on the concertina. The most interesting feature of the evening was the novel recitation by "Picket" Mead. Mr. Mead is the possessor of considerable dramatic ability, and delivers humorous and and sentimental pieces with the same pleasing effect. His rendition of "The pen and ink brigade" elicited hearty applause.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE.

Scenic Artists Now Preparing the New Stage Equipment.

From present indications, the attractions at Lakeview during the coming season will surpass those of all previous years. The theatre will be run this year by Mr. James Gilbert of Boston who made a big success of it during the latter part of last season. He will probably run comic operas with a high class company.

Some fine scenery is being painted for the theatre under the direction of Joseph Harrington, assisted by William H. Mullcahey. Four drops have been completed up to date. They represent street, garden, landscape and horizon scenes. The latter two are taken from scenes in Ireland and are said to be very agreeable to the eye. Besides these a scene representing a prison, kitchen and parlor are being painted and they promise to be as fine as anything offered by a local play house. The necessary wings, set doors, borders and bahs trades have been finished, and when the theatre opens it will be found very well equipped with scenery.

OUR THEATRES.

The minstrel season is nearly passed but New Dockstader will be here tomorrow and Sunday evening to give his excellent concerts.

SOME ARMIES want a leader, but in the case of Coxey's crusade, it is the leader that wants the army.

IF GOV. Greenhalge holds to his inaugural address he cannot consistently sign the Fall River police bill. He will show that he meant what he said on inauguration day.

THE PROSPECT of a constitional amendment providing for the referendum in legislation is very encouraging. It will be the safeguard against class legislation and monopolies.

CANADA'S NATIONAL debt is $240,000,000 and still increasing while the population of the country has been reduced by 1,250,000 during the last decade. Such is the benign influence of British rule.

E. MOUNET-SULLY, a French comedian, has arrived in this country for a stay of six months. He is accounted an able tragedian and the American public will doubtless give him a cordial reception, but this is not a season of great theatrical successes.

THE FALL RIVER Herald on behalf of its constituency pleads guilty to the charge made by THE SUN of electing two such fledgling legislators as Bullock and Slade. The Herald promises that the mistake will be remedied in November. Pity it cannot be done sooner.

THE ALDERMANIC hearing upon the condition of Long Island has revealed a state of affairs rivalling the tanning of human hides carried on at Tewksbury. Long Island is to Boston what the poor farm is to Lowell. The cruelties and privations to which the inmates have been subjected are appalling if the evidence of Policeman McCaffrey is to be credited. The investigation was much needed.

GRAVESEND WILL hereafter be synonymous with political corruption. Sentences of from six years to twenty-nine days have been imposed upon twenty culprits, from McKane down to the constables who confessed and nobody has the least sympathy for the offenders, because everybody wants the purity of the ballot protected as the very palladium of our freedom, as sacred as the constitution itself.

THE DELEGATION of factory girls conveyed to Washington to attend the hearing on the Wilson bill enjoyed the trip. They were induced to go by the Woman's Republican association to be put on exhibition for political effect. It is just as well that Lowell was not represented on the delegation. The time is fast approaching when women will be posing as democrats and republicans, mugwumps, populists, socialists and silverites.

BLAND BILL VETOED

President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill at serious risk of disrupting the party. The silver men are irrepressible. They have introduced a free coinage measure in the senate which will doubtless be fought strenuously. In order to secure its passage the silverites will defeat the Wilson bill if they can and without their aid congress would find great difficulty in passing the measure. In the face of their opposition the passage of the measure may be impossible. The veto may plunge the administration into new controversies, and increase the feeling of uncertainty that injuriously affects the business interests of the country.

HOW TO BEST GOVERN A CITY.

The city council has accepted an invitation to hear Rev. Mr. Montgomery next Sunday evening on "How to best govern a city." There are a great many problems on which the city council wants information. They want to know how they will build new schools, new bridges, new public buildings, how they will construct new sewers, dispose of the city's garbage without breeding disease, how they will furnish a pure water supply and keep the unemployed from suffering the pangs of hunger—they want to know how to do all these things without unreasonably raising the tax rate. Will Mr. Montgomery please inform them? To this question he will probably give one answer "Stop drinking intoxicating liquors." That is his panacea for the evils of municipal government.

Besides, the city council would like to know how to stop social vices, how to prevent drunkenness and the evils that usually accompany it. To this Mr. Montgomery will answer "Stamp out the saloon."

The city council would also like to know how to check sectarianism which has of late lifted its hideous head in this city, and is setting class against class in the name of righteousness and religion.

Will Mr. Montgomery shed the light of his intelligence upon this important question? He must admit that the best interests of a city require that all classes of citizens mingle together in harmony, and that they be not divided by the demon of religious discord. The old maxim of "A house divided against itself" applies in this case.

These are questions upon which not only the city council but the bulk of the community will be glad to receive instruction and Rev. Mr. Montgomery will have a golden opportunity of giving his views upon them on next Sunday evening.

There is room for improvement in the government of the city, and that the city council realizes this fact and is willing to take lessons in municipal government, is evidenced by their acceptance of Mr. Montgomery's invitation.

Municipal leagues are becoming popular. They are modelled to a great extent upon the principle of our board of trade but their especial mission is the betterment of municipal government, the suppression of vice and crime, the relief of the unemployed and of the poor in general. Such leagues may do good by suggesting reforms and aiding in their accomplishment, but they will do harm if they undertake to dictate the policy of municipal governments or to seek a curtailment of the prerogatives of municipalties by appealing to the legislature for police or other commissions which would deprive the people of their right to local self-government.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

First Appearance of "Bore."

The first appearance of this pregnant monosyllable in literature occurs in the letters of Lord Carlisle and of Selwyn, but there it is used to express not a creature, but a state or condition induced by tedium. Thus, in 1767 Carlisle writes: "I inclose you a pa of letters which, if they are French, the Lord deliver you from the bore!" Thereafter it became common as a verb in the correspondence of the eighteenth century, expressive, apparently, of the intolerable anguish inflicted on their fellows by a class of men and women for whom, as yet, no generic term had been devised, and in that employment it has been admirably explained of late in the New English Dictionary as "to weary by tedious conversation, or simply by the failure to be interesting."

But the nineteenth century had not long dawned before the want became too pressing not to be supplied, and writers began to apply the word bore to the agent—"the tiresome or uncongenial person; one who wearies or worries." They did so timidly at first, with due caveat of inverted commas, but the term took on. It filled a blank that had been felt for 100 years, and it had come into such common use by the twenties that Byron declared:

Society is now one polished horde
Formed of two mighty tribes—the Bores and Bored.

—Nineteenth Century.

Color Sensations.

The three primary color sensations are considered to be red, green and violet. Certain mixtures of violet and green produce a blue. Red and green also give a yellow. But it is important to observe that these are primary color sensations and not primary colors, though the expression "lights of primary colors" is admissible, for it is commonly imagined that the blue and yellow mixed in certain proportions produce various kinds of green. If yellow and blue pigments be mixed together with water, the green color produced is not a mixture of blue and yellow colors. It is the one color which is not freely absorbed either by the yellow or by the blue pigment. The yellow pigment removes the greater part of the blue, indigo and violet rays—the blue pigment removes the greater part of the red, orange and yellow. Thus the light that finally escapes is mainly green.—Longman's Magazine.

A Plucky Feat.

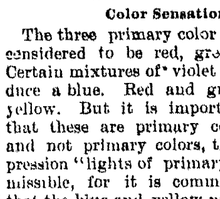

Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton Smith relates this remarkable instance of the confidence of a horse in a firm rider, the horse being an Arab. General Robert Gillespie happened, when mounted on the animal, to be present on the race course of Calcutta during one of the great Hindoo festivals, when several hundred thousand people had assembled. On a sudden an alarm was given that a tiger had escaped from his keepers. Sir Robert immediately snatched a boar spear and rode to attack this formidable enemy.

The tiger was probably confounded by the crowd, but the moment he perceived Sir Robert he crouched to spring at him. At that very instant the gallant soldier on his gallant steed leaped right over him, Sir Robert striking the spear through the animal's spine.—Boston Herald.

Paid For Remaining Single.

A Chinese young lady, living between the long bridge and the city, having lost her betrothed husband through death, made a vow that she would never marry. Out of sympathy for her and admiration of her resolve her relations and friends subscribed among them $1,000, which they have presented to her.—Fuchau Echo.

Troublesome Initials.

Some years ago several wealthy men of Memphis built a steamboat and named it after one of their best citizens, Charles B. Church. But in painting the name on the paddle box, as they wanted the letters large, they put simply the initials, so that the name read "C. B. Church."

When the colored people first caught sight of the boat, they puzzled themselves not a little over this name. Such of them as could read reasoned about the matter at great length.

"What kind ob church am dat C. B. Church?" they queried. "What does de C. B. stan for? Dat's what we want to know."

At length a bright thought struck one of them, and he exclaimed joyfully: "I know what dat 'ere stan for! Wonder I didn't see it 'fore! Dat C. B. stan for Colored Baptis'—it's de Colored Baptis' church, dat's what it is!"

The steamboat went by that name for some time, until the owners, in desperation at the jokes about it, erased the initials and had Charles B. Church painted in full.—Youth's Companion.

A Brief Census.

There was an energetic landlady, a widow, in a large boarding house in New Hampshire, and her brother, who was a widower, joined her in the business enterprise.

It so happened their first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently buried his second wife. The Associated Charities sent out an agent to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and it chanced this was the first house she hit upon.

"Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress.

"All remnants," was the prompt reply.—Exchange.

EASTER GREETING

With what joy does the good Christian anticipate Easter, the most glorious festival of his church? What beautiful music is rendered on that day in all our churches, and for the gay and fashionable what time of the year can compare with Easter, for fashion and gay attire? why none; and then the social circle what charm after the long vigil of Lent? Why, take it altogether there is no time of the year that confers such delight as Easter. And to add to the pleasure of Easter time you have only to get the necessary things which sociability requires and among them I know of nothing more necessary and useful to make you happy at this time than a bottle of good wine, and you can get it so cheap that you ought not to be without it. Send an order to the GLOBE HOTEL and get Three Large Bottles for $1.00, or Five for $1.50, Port or Sherry.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was failing all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

With a mother's gratitude and many thanks to DR. WILSON,

SOME ARMIES want a leader, but in the case of Coxey's crusade, it is the leader that wants the army.

IF GOV. Greenhalge holds to his inaugural address he cannot consistently sign the Fall River police bill. He will show that he meant what he said on inauguration day.

THE PROSPECT of a constitutional amendment providing for the referendum in legislation is very encouraging. It will be the safeguard against class legislation and monopolies.

CANADA'S NATIONAL debt is $240,000,000 and still increasing while the population of the country has been reduced by 1,250,000 during the last decade. Such is the benign influence of British rule.

F. MOUNET-SULLY, a French comedian, has arrived in this country for a stay of six months. He is accounted an able tragedian and the American public will doubtless give him a cordial reception, but this is not a season of great theatrical successes.

THE FALL RIVER Herald on behalf of its constituency pleads guilty to the charge made by THE SUN of electing two such dodgling legislators as Bullock and Slade. The Herald promises that the mistake will be remedied in November. Pity it cannot be done sooner.

THE ALDERMANIC hearing upon the condition of Long Island has revealed a state of affairs rivalling the tanning of human hides carried on at Tewksbury. Long Island is to Boston what the poor farm is to Lowell. The cruelties and privations to which the inmates have been subjected are appalling if the evidence of Policeman McCaffrey is to be credited. The investigation was much needed.

GRAVESEND will hereafter be synonymous with political corruption. Sentences of from six years to twenty-nine days have been imposed upon twenty culprits, from McKane down to the constables who confessed and nobody has the least sympathy for the offenders, because everybody wants the purity of the ballot protected as the very palladium of our freedom, as sacred as the constitution itself.

THE DELEGATION of factory girls conveyed to Washington to attend the hearing on the Wilson bill enjoyed the trip. They were induced to go by the Woman's Republican association to be put on exhibition for political effect. It is just as well that Lowell was not represented on the delegation. The time is fast approaching when women will be posing as democrats and republicans, mugwumps, populists, socialists and silverites.

BLAND BILL VETOED.

President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill at serious risk of disrupting the party. The silver men are irrepressible. They have introduced a free coinage measure in the senate which will doubtless be fought strenuously. In order to secure its passage the silverites will defeat the Wilson bill if they can and without their aid congress would find great difficulty in passing the measure. In the face of their opposition the passage of the measure may be impossible. The veto may plunge the administration into new controversies, and increase the feeling of uncertainty that injuriously affects the business interests of the country.

HOW TO BEST GOVERN A CITY.

The city council has accepted an invitation to hear Rev. Mr. Montgomery next Sunday evening on "How to best govern a city." There are a great many problems on which the city council wants information. They want to know how they will build new schools, new bridges, new public buildings, how they will construct new sewers, dispose of the city's garbage without breeding disease, how they will furnish a pure water supply and keep the unemployed from suffering the pangs of hunger—they want to know how to do all these things without unreasonably raising the tax rate. Will Mr. Montgomery please inform them? To this question he will probably give one answer "Stop drinking intoxicating liquors." That is his panacea for the evils of municipal government.

Besides, the city council would like to know how to stop social vices, how to prevent drunkenness and the evils that usually accompany it. To this Mr. Montgomery will answer "Stamp out the saloon."

The city council would also like to know how to check sectarianism which has of late lifted its hideous head in this city, and is setting class against class in the name of righteousness and religion.

Will Mr. Montgomery shed the light of his intelligence upon this important question? He must admit that the best interests of a city require that all classes of citizens mingle together in harmony, and that they be not divided by the demon of religious discord. The old maxim of "A house divided against itself" applies in this case.

These are questions upon which not only the city council but the bulk of the community will be glad to receive instruction and Rev. Mr. Montgomery will have a golden opportunity of giving his views upon them on next Sunday evening.

There is room for improvement in the government of the city, and that the city council realizes this fact and is willing to take lessons in municipal government, is evidenced by their acceptance of Mr. Montgomery's invitation.

Municipal leagues are becoming popular. They are modelled to a great extent upon the principle of our board of trade but their especial mission is the betterment of municipal government, the suppression of vice and crime, the relief of the unemployed and of the poor in general. Such leagues may do good by suggesting reforms and aiding in their accomplishment, but they will do harm if they undertake to dictate the policy of municipal governments or, to seek a curtailment of the prerogatives of municipalities by appealing to the legislature for police or other commissions which would deprive the people of their right to local self-government.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

First Appearance of "Bore."

The first appearance of this pregnant monosyllable in literature occurs in the letters of Lord Carlisle and of Selwyn, but there it is used to express not a creature, but a state or condition induced by tedium. Thus, in 1767 Lord Carlisle writes: "I inclose you a packet of letters which, if they are French, the Lord deliver you from the bore!" Thereafter it became common as a verb in the correspondence of the eighteenth century, expressive, apparently, of the intolerable anguish inflicted on their fellows by a class of men and women for whom, as yet, no generic term had been devised, and in that employment it has been admirably explained of late in the New English Dictionary as "to weary by tedious conversation, or simply by the failure to be interesting."

But the nineteenth century had not long dawned before the want became too pressing not to be supplied, and writers began to apply the word bore to the agent—"the tiresome or uncongenial person; one who wearies or worries." They did so timidly at first, with due caveat of inverted commas, but the term took on. It filled a blank that had been felt for 100 years, and it had come into such common use by the twenties that Byron declared:

Society is now one polished horde
Formed of two mighty tribes—the Bores and Bored,

—Nineteenth Century.

Color Sensations.

The three primary color sensations are considered to be red, green and violet. Certain mixtures of violet and green produce a blue. Red and green also give a yellow. But it is important to observe that these are primary color sensations and not primary colors, though the expression "lights of primary colors" is admissible, for it is commonly imagined that the blue and yellow mixed in certain proportions produce various kinds of green. If yellow and blue pigments be mixed together with water, the green color produced is not a mixture of blue and yellow colors. It is the one color which is not freely absorbed either by the yellow or by the blue pigment. The yellow pigment removes the greater part of the blue, indigo and violet rays—the blue pigment removes the greater part of the red, orange and yellow. Thus the light that finally escapes is mainly green.—Longman's Magazine.

A Plucky Feat.

Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton Smith relates this remarkable instance of the confidence of a horse in a firm rider, the horse being an Arab. General Robert Gillespie happened, when mounted on the animal, to be present on the race course of Calcutta during one of the great Hindoo festivals, when several hundred thousand people had assembled. On a sudden an alarm was given that a tiger had escaped from his keepers. Sir Robert immediately snatched a boar spear and rode to attack this formidable enemy.

The tiger was probably confounded by the crowd, but the moment he perceived Sir Robert he crouched to spring at him. At that very instant the gallant soldier on his gallant steed leaped right over him, Sir Robert striking the spear through the animal's spine.—Boston Herald.

Paid For Remaining Single.

A Chinese young lady, living between the long bridge and the city, having lost her betrothed husband through death, made a vow that she would never marry. Out of sympathy for her and admiration of her resolve her relations and friends subscribed among them $1,000, which they have presented to her.—Fuchau Echo.

THE SMALLER, THE BETTER

—if you can only be sure that a small pill will do you as much good. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are smaller than any others, sugar-coated, easier to take and easier in the way they act—and yet they really do you more good. Their refined and concentrated vegetable extracts act upon the liver in a natural way that lasts. They have a peculiar strengthening effect on the intestines. They not only relieve, but permanently cure.

In every liver, stomach, and bowel disorder—Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Windy Eructations, "Risings of Food," Sick or Bilious Headaches, Sour Stomach—they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

The Difference.

Mrs. Hays (the farmer's wife)—What good does Sunday do me? Here it's 4 o'clock, and I haven't sat down since I got up.

Bill Bingo (the hired man)—Waal, Sunday suits me. If you hevn't set down sence you got up, I hevn't got up sence I set down.—Truth.

Troublesome Initials.

Some years ago several wealthy men of Memphis built a steamboat and named it after one of their best citizens, Charles B. Church. But in painting the name on the paddle box, as they wanted the letters large, they put simply the initials, so that the name read "C. B. Church."

When the colored people first caught sight of the boat, they puzzled themselves not a little over this name. Such of them as could read reasoned about the matter at great length.

"What kind ob church am dat, C. B. Church?" they queried. "What does de C. B. stan for? Dat's what we want to know."

At length a bright thought struck one of them, and he exclaimed joyfully: "I know what dat 'ere stan for! Wonder I didn't see it 'fore! Dat C. B. stan for Colored Baptis'—it's de Colored Baptis' church, dat's what it is!"

The steamboat went by that name for some time, until the owners, in desperation at the jokes about it, erased the initials and had Charles B. Church painted in full.—Youth's Companion.

A Brief Census.

There was an energetic landlady, a widow, in a large boarding house in New Hampshire, and her brother, who was a widower, joined her in the business enterprise.

It so happened their first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently buried his second wife. The Associated Charities sent out an agent to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and it chanced this was the first house she hit upon.

"Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress.

"All remnants," was the prompt reply.—Exchange.

EASTER GREETING

With what joy does the good Christian anticipate Easter, the most glorious festival of his church? What beautiful music is rendered on that day in all our churches, and for the gay and fashionable what time of the year can compare with Easter, for fashion and gay attire? why none; and then the social circle what charm after the long vigil of Lent? Why, take it altogether there is no time of the year that confers such delight as Easter. And to add to the pleasure of Easter time you have only to get the necessary things which sociability requires and among them I know of nothing more necessary and useful to make you happy at this time than a bottle of good wine, and you can get it so cheap that you ought not to be without it. Send an order to the GLOBE HOTEL and get Three Large Bottles for $1.00, or Five for $1.50, Port or Sherry.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was failing all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

With a mother's gratitude and many thanks to DR. WILSON,

BASE BALL NOTES.

What is Going On Throughout the Country Regarding the Great American Game.

That the base ball season is right at hand is shown by the appearance of Reach's official base ball guide for '94 without which no game of any consequence can be carried on. The guide this year is the finest ever compiled. Every crank should get one.

The "Little Casino" base ball schedule comes to hand as neat and handy as you please. Emil Grossman and company of Cleveland are now convinced that it is indispensable to patrons of the big league games.

The Groves have organized with T. Cuff and T. Barrington p., P. Moody lb.; G. Quinn 2b., A. Johnson ss., F. O'Brien 3b., J. Jackson l. f., O. Johnson c. f. They are open to challenges.

The last cold snap has served to somewhat chill the ardor of the base ball cranks, and there are only a few practice games on the common.

Clark of Brockton may yet go to Fall River.

The Portland club has signed catcher James Casey of Amesbury, Mass.

The old Chicago brotherhood team is well distributed, with Comisky, Dwyer and Latham in Cincinnati, Pfeffer in Louisville, Farrell in New York, Duffy in Boston and Boyle in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburg club the coming season will issue free season tickets in book form to ladies, good for games on Tuesdays and Fridays. Heretofore ladies were admitted free on those days, but had to get their tickets at the ground gates each day.

The new Cincinnati diamond is exactly 90 feet from every front foot of the new grand stand. The grand stand will be painted a light green color, with a darker green shading for its trimmings. All the fences and the pavilions will be whitewashed.

Cleveland is now kicking on the schedule. It doesn't want games played in that city during the week of the races. Pittsburg and St. Louis play there during that week. The Cleveland club will endeavor to have the Pittsburg games transferred to that city.

Manager Barnie says he has received several letters from Danny Richardson, according to which the Elmira player is dubious of playing at all this season. He assures Barnie, however, that if he plays with any western club it will be with Louisville.

NEW SPINNING FRAME.

A Recent Patent for Spinning Yarn Direct from the Slubber.

A Fall River machine company has recently completed at its works, for one of the largest corporations in New England, one of its new patented spinning frames for spinning yarn direct from the slubber or intermediate roving. This frame is built as a common spinning frame, except that it has four rolls and condenser. The draft between the first and second back rolls is very light, it being simply just enough to break the twist; between the second and third back rolls the draft is the same as on a fly-frame, or from six to seven; and between the two front rolls the draft is the same as on a spinning frame, say from seven to ten.

This might be thought a heavy draft, but when it is divided up it is no more than by the old process, it being a combination of two machines. It spins a slubber, ½-hank roving, doubling on the frame, thus bringing it down to ½-hank, making No. 13 yarns, although 28s and 30s have been spun on it with the same success. The yarn spun on the frame is even and strong, its breaking strength being fully up to the same numbers of yarn made by the old process.

The advantages in the use of this frame are said to be: First, the cost of fitting up a mill is less, as on coarse yarn the intermediate and fine roving frames are not needed, and on fine work the fine speeders are not required, as in making fine yarns the roving can be used direct from the intermediates, and coarse yarns direct from the slubber. Second, if the cloth should be coming from the loom heavy or light it can be changed almost at once, when with the old process it would take several days; thus the spinner has always complete control of the yarn. Third, it takes less power, supplies, help, etc. The frame has the Kabbeth spindle.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE.

BOSTON BUILDING LAWS TO BE REVISED.

The Use of Seals by Cities and Towns—Bill to Abolish the Death Penalty—The Liquor Law.

BOSTON, March 30.—In the senate, the committee on cities reported a bill revising the building laws of the city of Boston in conformity with a draft reported by a special committee of the Boston Society of Architects.

A bill to authorize officials of commissions and municipal departments to adopt seals, distinctive from the town or city seals, was defeated, the main argument against the measure being that some official in the service of the city of Boston desired to give added dignity to the position he occupies.

Mr Estabrook moved that committees having matters before them on which hearings have been closed, be instructed to report on or before April 2. Laid over.

In the house the committee on liquor law reported a bill providing that sales of cider and native wines, by makers thereof, shall not be sold in quantities of less than 10 gallons without a special license.

It is an open question whether the judiciary committee will report for or against the bill to abolish the death penalty, with the chances rather against the bill. But whatever the committee may report, Representative Knell is prepared to make a fight for his bill, and in case of an adverse report, he will move to substitute his proposition, which is to substitute imprisonment for life for the death penalty, and to take from the governor the pardoning power, which is only to be exercised by the supreme court when it finds the convict innocent.

At the meeting of the executive council the governor reappointed John Quincy Adams and David P. Kimball as state directors of the Fitchburg railroad.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED.

Herman R French Is Mysteriously Missing From Everett, Mass.

EVERETT, Mass., March 30.—The family and friends of Herman R. French of this city are much perplexed as to what has become of him. He has not been seen at his home since last Saturday morning, at which time he left for his office, 27 Cornhill, Boston, apparently in the best of spirits.

Inquiry at all the hospitals and other institutions in and about the city, where he might have been taken if injured or suddenly bereft of his senses, has failed to reveal the slightest trace of him.

Mr. French has just passed his 54th birthday. He is of medium height, and dark of hair and complexion. His mustache is heavy and gray and his head is partially bald in front. He had no marks on his body by which he could be identified.

When he went away he wore dark trousers, a brown coat and vest, dark overcoat, derby hat and low shoes and gaiters. He carried a gold watch, open face, of Elgin manufacture, across a shield on the back of which was his full name, H. R. French. In his pockets were papers by which he could also easily be identified.

NINE CHARRED BODIES

Found In the Ruins of a Burned Dwelling In a Southern Town.

WHEFLING, March 30.—The residence of John Witt at McKendree was burned to the ground yesterday, and with it were cremated eight small children and a servant girl named Mary Hendricks.

Mr. Witt was away from home, leaving his wife and eight children who, with the servant girl, were sleeping alone in the house. At an early hour Mrs. Witt was awakened by the smell of smoke and burning wood and discovered that the lower part of the house was enveloped in flames. The frightened woman ran from the house, but returned immediately and attempted to save her children, but she was forced to give up and barely escaped with her life. The neighbors made heroic efforts to save the nine occupants of the building, but without success.

The house was completely destroyed, and in the ruins were found the charred bodies of the eight children and the servant girl, which will be buried in one grave. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. Mr. and Mrs. Witt are prostrated by the terrible calamity, and it is feared that they will lose their minds.

IN CONGRESS.

Lively Scenes In the House—Senate Passes the McGarrahan Bill.

A Stormy Session.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Filibustering was resumed in the house yesterday on the O'Neill-Joy election case. Scenes of confusion, recalling some of the incidents of the Fifty-first congress, occurred. Speaker Crisp took the floor, and both he and ex-Speaker Reed spoke on the parliamentary questions involved. All sorts of motions and appeals were made. A scene of confusion followed. After a long while Mr. Patterson's resolution for the arrest of members absent without leave was agreed to, yeas, 164; nays, 3. Mr Hainer moved to reconsider the vote just taken, and this introduced another hour's filibustering. While this was going on, however, the leaders of the two sides got the ground and affected an amicable arrangement by which Mr Hainer withdrew his motion. The house then adjourned.

In the senate, the house joint resolution appropriating $10,000 for carrying out the provisions of the Chinese exclusion act was reported from the committee on appropriations and passed.

The pension appropriation bill was reported from the committee on appropriations, and placed on the calendar. The amount carried is the same passed by the house. An amendment making a pension a vested right was added by the senate committee.

At 2 p. m., the McGarrahan bill was taken up. Mr George offered an amendment providing that nothing in the bill shall be construed as acknowledging any responsibility on the part of the United States to pay for the land, substance or materials taken, or as assuming any obligation in that behalf.

This amendment was agreed to, and the bill was finally passed without a division. It refers the claim to the court of private land claims.

After an executive session the senate adjourned till Monday.

Hostile Forces Defeated.

BERLIN, March 30.—A dispatch from Major Francois, commander of the German forces in Damaraland, operating against Chief Hendrik Witbooi, stated that he has inflicted two severe defeats upon Chief Witbooi, and believes that he has put an end to the latter's raids against German settlers.

The new rooms will be fitted up and elegantly furnished, to meet the requirements of these popular organizations.

The first meeting in the new quarters will take place next Tuesday evening, when the Emerald associates will meet. It was found necessary to secure these new quarters in order to better accommodate the largely increasing membership.

The organizations are composed of a number of the most popular young men in the city and are in a very flourishing condition.

FIRED HOT SHOT.

During a Hearing Upon the New Bedford Fire Department.

Down in New Bedford there is an awful row over the fire department. It was precipitated over an attempt to re-organize engine companies under new ordinances. A big hearing was granted by the committee to the fire engineers on certain changes.

Chief Macy opposed the reduction of the size of engine companies from 12 to 10 men. One of his assistant chiefs supported him, while two others opposed him, believing the cut down in force would pay for one permanent captain.

After considerable arguing Councilman Lawton made a savage harangue against the department, during which he said: "It was notorious that drunkards and men of bad moral character were retained in in the department year after year. There has been permanent drivers employed who were frequently too drunk to drive one horse, let alone two horses, attached to valuable fire apparatus. It is a damnable disgrace," he said, "that the chief of the fire department employs drunkards for drivers in preference to men of good moral character." Mr. Lawton charged that it was notorious. In a previous year he recommended a man as a sober, moral man, to three of the board of engineers, and they said: "That isn't the kind of a man the chief wants."

Chief Macy said it had been his endeavor to employ sober men and he thought the present drivers were such. He considered it was in bad taste for the three engineers named by Mr. Lawton to put the blame for appointments on the chief when they hired the men as much as he did. He didn't think much of such engineers.

The hearing is not yet finished.

CITY TIED UP.

Affairs Assume a New Phase In Denver's Great Squabble.

DENVER, March 30.—Judge Glynn has issued an order for an injunction restraining the old police board from interfering with the new board pending the settlement of the controversy between the two boards in the court, on the quo warranto proceedings. The sheriff is also enjoined from taking a hand in the controversy.

As Judge Allen's injunction restrains the new board from interfering with the old board, the two injunctions leave the city in almost the same state as martial law would. The police and fire departments are tied up, and even the sheriff could not act in case the partisans of the two warring boards should clash.

Must Share Profits.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The government has decided that henceforth all American insurance companies conducting operations in the empire must divide their profits with the insured after the policies have been in effect for four years. Policies already issued are exempt from the provisions of this regulation.

Reconstructing the New England.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Judge Wallace has granted permission to Thomas C. Platt and Marsden J. Perry, receivers of the New York and New England railroad, to execute to the United States government and the customhouse authorities a number of bonds to enable them to carry on the business of the company.

An Osculatory Performance.

ABBAZIA, March 30.—The Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria met at Mattuglie, the end of the railway route to Abbazia. They embraced and kissed one another. After the greeting the emperors went to Abbazzia. The inhabitants assembled and cheered along the entire route.

BRECKINRIDGE'S STORY

OF HIS FIRST MEETING WITH MISS POLLARD.

He Was Lured Away by the Young Woman—How the Gallant Colonel Was Cajoled by a Girl.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Had an alien, untutored in the king's English, dropped into the circuit court yesterday afternoon, he might have received the impression that the benevolent elderly-looking gentleman, with ruddy face and waves of snowy hair and beard, who held the open-mouthed attention of 200 men while he discussed in a slow, mellifluous tone, was preaching a sermon from the gospel of peace.

This mistake would have been a natural one, but it would have been a mistake, for the elderly gentleman with the scriptural head, was the silver-tongued orator of Kentucky, Congressman Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, and he was telling to 12 of his peers, and incidentally to the world at large, the story of his intrigue with Madeline Pollard.

There is a minor key of tenderness, of exquisite pathos, in the voice of Colonel Breckinridge, which has done much to win for him his sobriquet of the "Silver-tongued."

It is such a tone as one would have expected Antony to employ in rehearsing the virtues of dead Cæsar. It has charmed thousands in the house of representatives, the hustings of Kentucky, and the lecture rooms of female seminaries and Christian societies, and it to him in his customary appearances, only it hardly accords with such a narrative as he had to tell yesterday.

Comes Perfectly Natural

The colonel stood in the little witness box, his left elbow resting on Judge Bradley's desk, with his left hand a pillow for his head, and his right hand thrust carelessly into his trousers pocket. He smiled occasionally as he spoke. At first he was evidently a little tremulous in his utterances, but he lost that trace of nervousness before he proceeded far with his story.

Once he glanced down at the slender young woman in the first row of seats before him, that was when he was assuring the court that her manner toward him had been perfectly respectful and very deferential, but for the most part, he addressed himself to his attorney, Major Butterworth, who did the questioning.

As for Madeline Pollard, she never took her eyes from his face. Part of the time she rested her head on her hand, and for half an hour she vigorously wielded a fan.

When Colonel Breckinridge was telling him he made her accept a $10 bill, after their first interview, she shut her lips tightly, and would have made a motion to rise but for restraining words of Attorney Carlisle.

Elevated above the scene sat Judge Bradley, with his chair turned away from the defendant, his head tilted back, his eyes closed, and his features cast into an utterly bored expression.

The Kentucky congressman got no further in his story than the first meeting with Miss Pollard. He held that the young woman had lured him to her; had met him more than half way in their intimacy, and the ground of his excuse is found in his words:

"I was a man with passion; she was a woman with passion; we were human."

JUDGE FORBES' WARNING.

Doesn't Propose to Allow Guilty Students to Escape the Law.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 30.—When court was called to order yesterday, Judge Forbes instructed the stenographer to make a transcript of Taylor's evidence taken before the grand jury, also to certify and present it to him.

"I will then see," he said, "what right another judge has to interfere with the business of this court. I am determined to see that there is no miscarriage of justice in this case, and do not propose to be interfered with in the discharge of my duty. It is your duty, Mr. District Attorney, to arrest these men if the evidence warrants it.

"This court has been trifled with long enough. If the witnesses refuse to testify before me, and if we have jails enough in Tompkins county in which to confine them, and they continue to refuse to open their mouths, we will send them to prison and keep them there until they will testify."

Farm Buildings Burned.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 30.—The nest of large barns at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the old home farm of the late Samuel J. Tilden, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire. Ninety tons of hay, a large quantity of grain and agricultural implements and some sheep were burned. Loss, $7500.

To Tackle Insurgents.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 30.—President Peixoto's warships from Montevideo have arrived here, and every preparation is being made to send them southward, with instructions to seek out and engage in battle with the Aquidaban, Republica and other ships which are still under the command of Admiral de Mello.

Court Will Look After Revenue.

OMAHA, March 30.—In the fight between the National water works of Kansas City and its eastern bondholders, involving $2,000,000, Judge Caldwell ordered the water works company to turn its revenues into court. The court promised to give a decision in the case soon.

SEAL FISHERY

U. S. Vessels Patrol Pearl River Harbor.

A SCHEME OF GREAT BRITAIN IS PROPOSED.

The London Standard Praises Ambassador Bayard.

WASHINGTON, March 30. — When Admiral John C. Walker sails from San Francisco on April 5, he will carry with him instructions having a most important bearing on the Behring sea question, all speculation to the contrary notwithstanding.

Admiral Walker was not selected by the president for this mission on account of any threatening condition of affairs in Hawaii, for the official advices received from that country gave no hint of trouble or of a restoration to be expected in the near future, and Admiral Walker's stay at Honolulu will not extend over two months at most.

Of course, if during his stay trouble should arise, he will be in a position to command the situation, but there is no such expectation, and the admiral's mission has to do primarily with the seal question.

The arbitration just concluded provides for a joint protection by the United States and Great Britain over the seal waters, and the two nations are bound to secure, if they can, the co-operation of other interested nations—Russia, Japan and China, and perhaps Germany.

A Great Undertaking.

The policing of the seal waters, which had previously been a temporary expedient, was made a permanent charge upon the parties to the arbitration, and the difficulties in the execution of the task had been enormously increased by the vast extent of the protected zone, fixed by the arbitration, comprising all of the Pacific ocean east of the 180th meridian and north of the 35th parallel and Behring sea.

If the effort to secure the co-operation of Russia and Japan and China should succeed, of which there is every promise, the zone would be still further extended, so as to include the Western Pacific to the shores of Asia. No such task as this —the policing of a vast ocean—was ever before undertaken, and it became necessary to devise a system by which this could be done effectively, economically and permanently, by the combined action of the nations interested.

The first requisite to an effective and economical patrol was the establishment of a permanent basis of supply. There will probably be three of these—San Francisco on the east, Yokohama on the west, and Pearl harbor, Hawaii, in the center, all on the lower boundary of the protected zone.

Looking Over Pearl Harbor.

The first two are already within reach, and it is the establishment of the third which had caused Admiral Walker's journey to Hawaii. He will select the best location, looking to its adaptability to the supply, and, in a limited way, repair of the cruisers engaged in the patrol service, estimate the difficulties to be met in dredging a channel across the bar at the entrance to Pearl harbor, and upon his report to the president, will depend the expenditure of the $250,000 which for years has been at the disposal of the president for the establishment of naval stations.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard this morning says editorially: It is due to Ambassador Bayard that we testify to the friendly and sympathetic temper in which he has throughout performed his share in the Behring sea negotiations. Thus a pleasant ending will close an exceedingly unpleasant clash of opinion between the two nations.

We doubt that after a certain amount of grumbling and remonstrance on the part of the unreasonable and grasping Canadian fishermen, that it will be universally recognized that everything has been saved for Canada that could reasonably be claimed. Neither need we harbor any misgivings as to the manner in which America will carry out the award of the tribunal of arbitration.

The absolutely amicable and pacific spirit that has animated the conduct of the matter throughout constitutes an effective guarantee that any future differences will be settled in the same rational and friendly manner.

Timothy Porter Weds.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 30.—Timothy H. Porter, the eccentric Stamford millionaire, against whom charges of insanity were recently brought by his three sons, was married at noon yesterday to Miss Mabel Earle of this city, at the home of the bride, 147 West avenue.

Pitcher Out of Prison.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, Que., March 30.—Charles A. Pitcher, who, six years ago, absconded with all the assets of the Union Bank of Providence, amounting to over $500,000, left the penitentiary yesterday. He refused to talk to reporters.

Steam Wringer Burst.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Three girls were at work beside a steam wringer in the Narragansett hotel laundry, when it burst. Pieces of the flying iron struck the girls on the face and head. Celia McCurdy was badly injured. The other girls were not so seriously hurt.

Famous Musician Dead.

BADEN, March 30.—Jacob Rosenhain, the celebrated composer and pianist, died yesterday. He was born at Mannheim on Dec. 2, 1805. He was the author of a very large number of compositions for the piano, and wrote many songs.

Kick Against Reduction.

MERIDEN, Conn., March 30.—One hundred and fifty spinners employed at the mill of Rawlitzer Bros., here, struck yesterday for an increase of 10 per cent in their wages, which had been deducted recently.

Americans at the Tail End.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Six hundred nonunion cigarmakers employed by E. Valjons & Co., are out on a strike. The strikers demand an equalization of wages, claiming that Spaniards are paid $18 a thousand, Germans, $12 and Americans less.

Edison's Suit Begun.

NEWARK, N. J., March 30.—The hearing in the application for a receiver for the Edison United Phonograph company, made by Thomas A. Edison, was begun yesterday before Vice Chancellor Van Vleet.

Peru's President Very Sick.

LIMA, March 30.—An operation was performed yesterday upon President Iberstadez, who is suffering severely from a disorder of the intestines. The patient is still in a critical condition.

TOTAL OF $9,500,000

Embraced In the River and Harbor Bill. New England Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The river and harbor committee of the house has practically completed the river and harbor bill for this congress, though there may be some minor changes therein when the bill is finally passed on by the committee. The bill makes a total appropriation approximating $9,500,000.

Among the items of appropriation in the bill are the following, no mention being made of points where the amount involved is less than $10,000. The appropriations for harbors are as follows: Maine—Harbor of Camden, $12,000; Rockland, $25,000; Back Cove, $20,000; construction of breakwater from Mt. Desert to Porcupine Island, $20,000.

New Hampshire—Harbor of Refuge at Little Harbor, $10,000; Burlington, $10,000.

Massachusetts — Continuing improvements of harbor at Boston, $150,000, of which $10,000 may be used in the work in Nantasket beach channel; Nantucket Harbor, $20,000; Newburyport, $20,000; Harbor of Refuge at Sandy Bay, Cape Ann, $150,000; Gloucester, $25,000.

Connecticut—Bridgeport, $10,000; New Haven, $10,000; Duck Island, $35,000; Stamford, $10,000.

Appropriations for rivers and creeks are as follows:

Maine—Kennebec, $20,000; Saco, $10,000.

New Hampshire—Cocheco, $15,000.

Massachusetts—Mystic and Malden, $10,000.

Rhode Island—Pawtucket, $23,500; Providence and Narragansett bay, $17,500.

Connecticut—Connecticut, below Hartford, $20,000; Housatonic, $20,000; Thames, $10,000.

HEALY BOUNCED.

Stormy Meeting of the Directors of the Freeman's Journal.

DUBLIN, March 30.—There were disorderly scenes at the meeting of the directors of The Freeman's Journal. Finally, the annual report was adopted by a vote of 38 to 36. A motion was made and carried to substitute John MacDonald for Timothy Healy as a member of the board. Healy, in a long speech, demanded why he was being displaced.

The motion to remove Mr. Healy caused a disgraceful scene. The meeting was almost instantly in an uproar, and such epithets as "Thundering blackguard" were exchanged.

A similar scene occurred later when Thomas Sexton arose to make an explanation of his own position. Remarks that tended to create disorder were exchanged on all sides, and for a time the situation was very threatening.

When order was somewhat restored, John Dillon arose and declared that if he was ousted from the board of directors, he would not appeal to the country as Mr. Healy had threatened to do, but would do his best for the company.

The motion to remove Healy from the directorate was then put to a vote and was carried by a small majority. When the result was announced, Healy, in high dudgeon quitted the room, followed by a dozen young priests.

A vote was then taken on the motion to replace Dillon. The motion was carried without dissent.

BILL VETOED

President Cleveland Sends His Message.

TELLS THE REASONS FOR HIS ACTION.

Believes in a Bond Issue to Protect Gold.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill.

The president in his message reviews the financial condition of the times and says that recovery from uncertainty is now well under way.

Nothing should be done to hinder the return of better times and the main object now is not to obstruct whatever measure is proposed to even improve the tone of business. He objects to the Bland bill because it will not maintain the parity of the two metals. Again it is not right to add to the perplexing and anxiety of the secretary of the treasury by the execution of a law as involved and confusing as that submitted to him.

He objects to the second section because it is ill advised and badly constructed. It provides for the issuance of certificates of silver which are not legal notes to replace full legal notes. He believes in more power to enable the secretary to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve.

In conclusion he reviews the bill, and says that it provisions could not be safely carried out.

THE PROSECUTION.

It Goes on Again in Pollard-Breckinridge Trial.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—At the opening of the Pollard-Breckinridge trial today Judge Carlisle for the plaintiff asked permission to put on two witnesses in rebuttal. Major Butterworth objected and finally the witnesses testified. John Bernehardt of Lexington was called upon to contradict statements relative to the character of the houses figuring in evidence.

FRIGHTFUL TRAGEDY.

Bride and Groom of Three Hours Were Killed.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 29. A terrible tragedy was enacted in this city Tuesday night, in which C. S. Huff and bride, who had been married but three hours, lost their lives.

Mrs. Huff was formerly the wife of Thomas Trainor, a steamboat captain, from whom she obtained a divorce last fall and Tuesday married Huff.

Trainor claims that he went to Huff's house to obtain his clothes and was ordered out by Huff, who advanced towards him with a knive in his hand. Trainor drew his pistol and shot him. He also claims that Mrs. Huff was shot accidently by going between him and Huff.

FROM THE WIRE.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

The Marlboro street railway directors last night voted to extend the line to Hudson.

The ice houses of C. W. Haywood at Milford, Mass., were destroyed by an incendiary fire today.

Upon suggestion of the Bay State Gas company's counsel, acquiesced to by counsel for the other side the payment of a four and one half millions dollar note was referred to the attorney general before the legislative committee today.

A petition has been sent to congress to have Col. Breckinridge impeached.

Burglars made big breaks in Dover, N. H., and East Weymouth, last night.

EVICTING STRIKERS.

Washington Mills Are Running With New Hands.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

LAWRENCE, March 29.—The Washington mills strike still drags along. The strikers are all yet out, but about 300 new employes are at work in the mills.

The mill management has started anew the work of evicting former employes from tenements. Legal notices to quit have been served on many of the strikers who occupy houses belonging to the company.

Gov. Greenhalge's Appointments.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

BOSTON, March 29.—Gov. Greenhalge today reappointed Charles Francis Adams and Daniel T. Kimball state commissioners.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Six drunks.

Dennis Hood received a sentence of 20 days in jail, and Frank Kennedy a fine of $10.

Mary Fahey, the woman who smashed 15 panes of glass in Marren's liquor store windows, last evening, was charged with drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass. She was held in $300 until tomorrow.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of Michael Hickey took place this morning from his home on Lagrange street, and was very well attended. A high mas of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The regular choir of the church under the direction of E. F. Faulkner assisted at the services. At the conclusion of the mass, the funeral cortege proceeded to the Northern depot, and the remains were placed on the train and taken to Fitchburg for interment.

A high mass of requiem was offered up at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Michael's church for the repose of the soul of Christopher A. Flanders. Many friends and relatives attended the services. The bearers were two sanctuary boys from St. Michael's church, two from the Immaculate Conception church and two pupils of the parochial school. There were several floral offerings. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

At 9 o'clock this morning Rev. Fr. Shaw offered up a high mass of requiem at St. Catherine's church, Graniteville, for the repose of the soul of Cornelius J. Driscoll. The church was filled with sorrowing friends. The bearers were immediate friends of the deceased. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery in this city.

Comrades Will Gather.

The Old Sixth regiment will hold a reunion and field day at Pepperell on the Nineteenth of April. About 100 comrades from Lowell will be present.

Mrs. Darracott's Reception.

There was a charming social affair at Huntington hall last evening, it being Mrs. C. J. Darracott's annual reception to her younger classes. The young people of tender age and their older brothers and sisters, and their parents were out in goodly numbers. Early in the evening the young people danced and after 9.30 the floor was given to general dancing.

It was a dressy affair nearly every one conforming to the requirements of the occasion. The many little fellows looked quite dignified in their conventional dress while the little girls wore charming ball dresses. There was excellent music, and the whole affair was one of the most delightful of the season.

Took Their Waist Measure.

The carriers were measured for summer uniforms Tuesday to be delivered May 1st. The department gave the contract to two firms for the United States, Faibleln Bros. and Oehan & Co., of Baltimore; the latter house will furnish all the Eastern states.

The Bunco Supremes Again.

Deputy Sheriff Stiles is to sell at public auction on May 30 all the right, title and interest which H. E. Marr had to property on Westford street, and the same which H. P. Staples had in land and buildings on Pawtucket and Lincoln street, and in Carlisle and Chelmsford. Notices of the sale are postponed in Barrister's hall.

Men For Strikers Places.

BIDDEFORD, Me., March 29.—A representative of the Washington mills in Lawrence, is here, hiring men to take the places of strikers there.

LOCAL NOTES.

Ex-alderman G. R. Choate has left for New York. He may locate there permanently.

Mr. James Connors of No. Chelmsford will resume his studies at Holy Cross college, tomorrow.

The operatives of the Navy Yard mills are to have a benefit in Associate hall, on Monday evening.

The annual reception of the Y. W. C. A., was held last evening in the rooms of the association, and proved an enjoyable affair. Refreshments were served.

Billy Merritt, the popular ball player, will report with the Bostons on Monday. Billy's many friends will be pleased to see him in a Boston uniform once more.

The Lowell Celtics will go to Maynard, Saturday, to play foot ball. All the Celtics will please be at the Middlesex street depot at 1 o'clock sharp. Per order, Michael Casey.

Mrs. Frank Livingstone, formerly Mattie Martin of Lowell, but now of Ravenna, Ohio, is again renewing acquaintance with Spindle City friends as the guest of Mrs. C. M. Young.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip had a debate at the First Congregational church last evening. The subject was: "Resolved, that the common council of this city should be abolished." The leaders on the affirmative side of the question were Messrs. C. D. Frye and M. C. True, and those on the negative were Messrs. Arthur Bartlett and Hiram R Blanchard. Others took part in the debate also. It was decided that the affirmative side was on the weight of the argument and the negative on the merits of the question.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

The Vats at the New Brewery Are All Right.

THE SUN was informed this noon at the new brewery in Ayer's city that there was not a particle of truth to the story prevalent this morning that the vats were settling. The story may have risen from the fact that new cement floors are being laid.

Post 42's Fine Gifts.

The maps and volumes presented Post 42, last evening, by Hon. Jeremiah Crowley, are of great value.

There are over 60 volumes and they are a compilation of the history of both the union and confederate armies, with official documents, plans and maps.

There are few obtainable outside the war department and their value will increase as the years roll by. The city should provide a case suitable to receive them and set them up in Memorial hall.

There is a Woman

in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, and a frequent desire to urinate.

All this time relief was close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West St., who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it also and be cured. It expels tumors, removes backache, invigorates the system.

All druggists keep it for you.

SEAL FISHERY

U. S. Vessels Patrol Pearl River Harbor.

A SCHEME OF GREAT BRITAIN IS PROPOSED.

The London Standard Praises Ambassador Bayard.

WASHINGTON, March 30 — When Admiral John C. Walker sails from San Francisco on April 5, he will carry with him instructions having a most important bearing on the Behring sea question, all speculation to the contrary notwithstanding.

Admiral Walker was not selected by the president for this mission on account of any threatening condition of affairs in Hawaii, for the official advices received from that country gave no hint of trouble or of a restoration to be expected in the near future, and Admiral Walker's stay at Hodolulu will not extend over two months at most.

Of course, if during his stay trouble should arise, he will be in a position to command the situation, but there is no such expectation, and the admiral's mission has to do primarily with the seal question.

The arbitration just concluded provides for a joint protection by the United States and Great Britain over the seal waters, and the two nations are bound to secure, if they can, the co-operation of other interested nations—Russia, Japan and China, and perhaps Germany.

A Great Undertaking.

The policing of the seal waters, which had previously been a temporary expedient, was made a permanent charge upon the parties to the arbitration, and the difficulties in the execution of the task had been enormously increased by the vast extent of the protected zone, fixed by the arbitration, comprising all of the Pacific ocean east of the 180th meridian and north of the 35th paralell and Behring sea.

If the effort to secure the co-operation of Russia and Japan and China should succeed, of which there is every promise, the zone would be still further extended, so as to include the Western Pacific to the shores of Asia. No such task as this —the policing of a vast ocean—was ever before undertaken, and it became necessary to devise a system by which this could be done effectively, economically and permanently, by the combined action of the nations interested.

The first requisite to an effective and economical patrol was the establishment of a permanent basis of supply. There will probably be three of these—San Francisco on the east, Yokohama on the west, and Pearl harbor, Hawaii, in the center, all on the lower boundary of the protected zone.

Looking Over Pearl Harbor.

The first two are already within reach, and it is the establishment of the third which had caused Admiral Walker's journey to Hawaii. He will select the best location, looking to its adaptability to the supply, and, in a limited way, repair of the cruisers engaged in the patrol service, estimate the difficulties to be met in dredging a channel across the bar at the entrance to Pearl harbor, and upon his report to the president, will depend the expenditure of the $250,000 which for years has been at the disposal of the president for the establishment of naval stations.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard this morning says editorially: It is due to Ambassador Bayard that we testify to the friendly and sympathetic temper in which he has throughout performed his share in the Behring sea negotiations. Thus a pleasant ending will close an exceedingly unpleasant clash of opinion between the two nations.

We doubt that after a certain amount of grumbling and remonstrance on the part of the unreasonable and grasping Canadian fishermen, that it will be universally recognized that everything has been saved for Canada that could reasonably be claimed. Neither need we harbor any misgivings as to the manner in which America will carry out the award of the tribunal of arbitration.

The absolutely amicable and pacific spirit that has animated the conduct of the matter throughout constitutes an effective guarantee that any future differences will be settled in the same rational and friendly manner.

Timothy Porter Weds.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 30.—Timothy H. Porter, the eccentric Stamford millionaire, against whom charges of insanity were recently brought by his three sons, was married at noon yesterday to Miss Mabel Earle of this city, at the home of the bride, 147 West avenue.

Pitcher Out of Prison.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, Que., March 30.—Charles A. Pitcher, who, six years ago, absconded with all the assets of the Union Bank of Providence, amounting to over $500,000, left the penitentiary yesterday. He refused to talk to reporters.

Steam Wringer Burst.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Three girls were at work beside a steam wringer in the Narragansett hotel laundry, when it burst. Pieces of the flying iron struck the girls on the face and head. Celia McCurdy was badly injured. The other girls were not so seriously hurt.

Famous Musician Dead.

BADEN, March 30.—Jacob Rosenhain, the celebrated composer and pianist, died yesterday. He was born at Mannheim on Dec. 2, 1815. He was the author of a very large number of compositions for the piano, and wrote many songs.

Kick Against Reduction.

MERIDEN, Conn., March 30.—One hundred and fifty spinners employed at the mill of Rawitzer Bros., here, struck yesterday for an increase of 10 per cent in their wages, which had been deducted recently.

Americans at the Tail End.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Six hundred nonunion cigarmakers employed by E. Vallens & Co., are out on a strike. The strikers demand an equalization of wages, claiming that Spaniards are paid $18 a thousand, Germans, $12 and Americans less.

Embraced In the River and Harbor Bill. New England Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The river and harbor committee of the house has practically completed the river and harbor bill for this congress, though there may be some minor changes therein when the bill is finally passed on by the committee. The bill makes a total appropriation approximating $9,500,000.

Among the items of appropriation in the bill are the following, no mention being made of points where the amount involved is less than $10,000. The appropriations for harbors are as follows: Maine—Harbor of Camden, $12,000; Rockland, $25,000; Back Cove, $20,000; construction of breakwater from Mt. Desert to Porcupine island, $20,000

New Hampshire—Harbor of Refuge at Little Harbor, $10,000. Burlington, $10 000.

Massachusetts — Continuing improvements of harbor at Boston, $150,000, of which $10,000 may be used in the work in Nantasket beach channel; Nantucket Harbor, $20,000; Newburyport, $20 000, Harbor of Refuge at Sandy Bay, Cape Ann, $150,000, Gloucester, $25 000

Connecticut—Bridgeport, $10,000, New Haven, $10 000; Duck Island, $25,000, Stamford, $10,000.

Appropriations for rivers and creeks are as follows:

Maine—Kennebec, $20,000; Saco, $10,000

New Hampshire—Cocheco, $15,000

Massachusetts—Mystic and Malden, $10,000.

Rhode Island—Pawtucket, $92,500 Providence and Narragansett bay, $17 500

Connecticut—Connecticut, below Hartford, $20,000; Housatonic, $20,000, Thames, $10,000.

HEALY BOUNCED.

Stormy Meeting of the Directors of the Freeman's Journal.

DUBLIN, March 30.—There were disorderly scenes at the meeting of the directors of The Freeman's Journal Finally, the annual report was adopted by a vote of 36 to 33 A motion was made and carried to substitute John MacDonald for Timothy Healy as a member of the board. Healy, in a long speech, demanded why he was being displaced.

The motion to remove Mr Healy caused a disgraceful scene. The meeting was almost instantly in an uproar, and such epithets as "Thundering blackguard" were exchanged.

A similar scene occurred later when Thomas Sexton arose to make an explanation of his own position. Remarks that tended to create disorder were exchanged on all sides, and for a time the situation was very threatening.

When order was somewhat restored, John Dillon arose and declared that if he was ousted from the board of directors, he would not appeal to the country as Mr. Healy had threatened to do, but would do his best for the company.

The motion to remove Healy from the directorate was then put to a vote and was carried by a small majority. When the result was announced, Healy, in high dudgeon quitted the room, followed by a dozen young priests.

A vote was then taken on the motion to replace Dillon. The motion was carried without dissent.

BILL VETOED

President Cleveland Sends His Message.

TELLS THE REASONS FOR HIS ACTION.

Believes in a Bond Issue to Protect Gold.

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill.

The president in his message reviews the financial condition of the times and says that recovery from uncertainty is now well under way.

Nothing should be done to hinder the return of better times and the main object now is not to obstruct whatever measure is proposed to even improve the tone of business. He objects to the Bland bill because it will not maintain the parity of the two metals. Again it is not right to add to the perplexity and anxiety of the secretary of the treasury by the execution of a law as involved and confusing as that submitted to him.

He objects to the second section because it is ill advised and badly constructed. It provides for the issuance of certificates of silver which are not legal notes to replace full legal notes. He believes in more power to enable the secretary to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve.

In conclusion he reviews the bill, and says that it provisions could not be safely carried out.

THE PROSECUTION.

It Goes on Again in Pollard Breckinridge Trial

By Telegraph to THE SUN.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—At the opening of the Pollard-Breckinridge trial today Judge Carlisle for the plaintiff asked permission to put on two witnesses in rebuttal. Major Butterworth objected and finally the witnesses testified. John Berechardt of Lexington was called upon to contradict statements relative to the character of the houses figuring in evidence

FRIGHTFUL TRAGEDY.

Bride and Groom of Three Hours Were Killed.

By Telegraph to THE SUN

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 29. A terrible tragedy was enacted in this city Tuesday night, in which C S. Huff and bride, who had been married but three hours, lost their lives.

Mrs. Huff was formerly the wife of Thomas Trainor, a steamboat captain, from whom she obtained a divorce last fall and Tuesday married Huff.

Trainor claims that he went to Huff's house to obtain his clothes and was ordered out by Huff, who advanced towards him with a knive in his hand Trainor drew his pistol and shot him. He also claims that Mrs. Huff was shot accidently by going between him and Huff.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of Michael Hickey took place this morning from his home on Lagrange street, and was very well attended. A high mas of requiem was celebrated at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The regular choir of the church under the direction of E. F. Faulkner assisted at the services At the conclusion of the mass, the funeral cortege proceeded to the Northern depot, and the remains were placed on the train and taken to Fitchburg for interment.

A high mass of requiem was offered up at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Michael's church for the repose of the soul of Christopher A. Flanders. Many friends and relatives attended the services. The bearers were two sanctuary boys from St. Michael's church, two from the Immaculate Conception church and two pupils of the parochial school. There were several floral offerings. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

At 9 o'clock this morning Rev. Fr. Shaw offered up a high mass of requiem at St. Catherine's church, Graniteville, for the repose of the soul of Cornelius J. Driscoll. The church was filled with surrowing friends. The bearers were immediate friends of the deceased. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery in this city.

Comrades Will Gather,

The Old Sixth regiment will hold a reunion and field day at Pepperell on the Nineteenth of April. About 100 comrades from Lowell will be present.

Mrs. Darracott's Reception.

There was a charming social affair at Huntington hall last evening, it being Mrs. C. J. Darracott's annual reception to her younger classes. The young people of tender age and their older brothers and sisters, and their parents were out in goodly numbers. Early in the evening the young people danced and after 9.30 the floor was given to general dancing.

It was a dressy affair nearly every one conforming to the requirements of the occasion. The many little fellows looked quite dignified in their conventional dress while the little girls wore charming ball dresses. There was excellent music and the whole affair was one of the most delightful of the season.

Took Their Waist Measure.

Mrs. Frank Livingstone, formerly Mattie Martin of Lowell, but now of Ravenna, Ohio, is again renewing acquaintance with Spindle City friends as the guest of Mrs. C. M. Young.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip had a debate at the First Congregational church last evening. The subject was: "Resolved, that the common council of this city should be abolished." The leaders on the affirmative side of the question were Messrs. C. D. Frye and M. C. True, and those on the negative were Messrs. Arthur Bartlett and Hiram R Blanchard. Others took part in the debate also. It was decided that the affirmative side was on the weight of the argument and the negative on the merits of the question.

UNFOUNDED RUMOR.

The Vats at the New Brewery Are All Right.

THE SUN was informed this noon at the new brewery in Avers city that there was not a particle of truth to the story prevalent this morning that the vats were setting. The story may have risen from the fact that new cement floors are being laid.

Post 42's Fine Gifts.

The maps and volumes presented Post 42, last evening, by Hon. Jeremiah Crowley, are of great value.

There are over 50 volumes and they are a compilation of the history of both the union and confederate armies, with official documents, plans and maps.

There are few obtainable outside the war department and their value will increase as the years roll by The city should provide a case suitable to receive them and set them up in Memorial hall.

There is a Woman
in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, and a frequent desire to urinate.

All this time relief was close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West St., who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it also and be cured. It expels tumors, removes backache, invigorates the system.

BASE BALL NOTES.

What is Going On Throughout the Country Regarding the Great American Game.

That the base ball season is right at hand is shown by the appearance of Reach's official base ball guide for '94 without which no game of any consequence can be carried on. The guide this year is the finest ever compiled. Every crank should get one.

The "Little Casino" base ball schedule comes to hand as neat and handy as you please. Emil Grossman and company of Cleveland are now convinced that it is indispensable to patrons of the big league games.

The Groves have organized with T. Cull and T. Barrington p., P. Moody 1b., G. Quinn 2b., A. Johnson ss., F. O'Brien 3b., J. Jackson l. f., O. Johnson c. f. They are open to challenges.

The last cold snap has served to somewhat chill the ardor of the base ball cranks, and there are only a few practice games on the common.

Clark of Brockton may yet go to Fall River.

The Portland club has signed catcher James Casey of Amesbury, Mass.

The old Chicago brotherhood team is well distributed, with Comisky, Dwyer and Latham in Cincinnati, Pfeffer in Louisville, Farrell in New York, Duffy in Boston and Boyle in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburg club the coming season will issue free season tickets in book form to ladies, good for games on Tuesdays and Fridays. Heretofore ladies were admitted free on those days, but had to get their tickets at the ground gates each day.

The new Cincinnati diamond is exactly 90 feet from every front foot of the new grand stand. The grand stand will be painted a light green color, with a darker green shading for its trimmings. All the fences and the pavilions will be whitewashed.

Cleveland is now kicking on the schedule. It doesn't want games played in that city during the week of the races. Pittsburg and St. Louis play there during that week. The Cleveland club will endeavor to have the Pittsburg games transferred to that city.

Manager Barnie says he has received several letters from Danny Richardson, according to which the Elmira player is dubious of playing at all this season. He assures Barnie, however, that if he plays with any western club it will be with Louisville.

NEW SPINNING FRAME.

A Recent Patent for Spinning Yarn Direct from the Slubber.

A Fall River machine company has recently completed at its works, for one of the largest corporations in New England, one of its new patented spinning frames for spinning yarn direct from the slubber or intermediate roving. This frame is built as a common spinning frame, except that it has four rolls and condenser. The draft between the first and second back rolls is very light, it being simply just enough to break the twist; between the second and third back rolls the draft is the same as on a fly-frame, or from six to seven; and between the two front rolls the draft is the same as on a spinning frame, say from seven to ten.

This might be thought a heavy draft, but when it is divided up it is no more than by the old process, it being a combination of two machines. It spins a slubber, 4-hank roving, doubling on the frame, thus bringing it down to 2-hank, making No. 18 yarns, although 28s and 36s have been spun on it with the same success. The yarn spun on the frame is even and strong, its breaking strength being fully up to the same numbers of yarn made by the old process.

The advantages in the use of this frame are said to be: First, the cost of fitting up a mill is less, as on coarse yarn the intermediate and fine roving frames are not needed, and on fine work the fine speeders are not required, as in making fine yarns the roving can be used direct from the intermedintes, and coarse yarns direct from the slubber. Second, if the cloth should be coming from the loom heavy or light it can be changed almost at once, when with the old process it would take several days; thus the spinner has always complete control of the yarn. Third, it takes less power, supplies, help, etc. The frame has the Rabbeth spindle.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE.

BOSTON BUILDING LAWS TO BE REVISED.

The Use of Souls by Cities and Towns—Bill to Abolish the Death Penalty—The Liquor Law.

BOSTON, March 30.—In the senate, the committee on cities reported a bill revising the building laws of the city of Boston in conformity with a draft reported by a special committee of the Boston Society of Architects.

A bill to authorize officials of commissions and municipal departments to adopt seals, distinctive from the town or city seals, was defeated, the main argument against the measure being that some official in the service of the city of Boston desired to give added dignity to the position he occupies.

Mr. Estabrook moved that committees having matters before them on which hearings have been closed, be instructed to report on or before April 2. Laid over.

In the house the committee on liquor law reported a bill providing that sales of cider and native wines, by makers thereof, shall not be sold in quantities of less than 10 gallons without a special license.

It is an open question whether the judiciary committee will report for or against the bill to abolish the death penalty, with the chances rather against the bill. But whatever the committee may report, Representative Knell is prepared to make a fight for his bill, and in case of an adverse report, he will move to substitute his proposition, which is to substitute imprisonment for life for the death penalty, and to take from the governor the pardoning power, which is only to be exercised by the supreme court when it finds the convict innocent.

At the meeting of the executive council the governor reappointed John Quincy Adams and David P. Kimball as state directors of the Fitchburg railroad.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED.

Herman R. French Is Mysteriously Missing From Everett, Mass.

EVERETT, Mass., March 30.—The family and friends of Herman R. French of this city are much perplexed as to what has become of him. He has not been seen at his home since last Saturday morning, at which time he left for his office, 27 Cornhill, Boston, apparently in the best of spirits.

Inquiry at all the hospitals and other institutions in and about the city, where he might have been taken if injured or suddenly bereft of his senses, has failed to reveal the slightest trace of him.

Mr. French has just passed his 54th birthday. He is of medium height, and dark of hair and complexion. His mustache is heavy and gray and his head is partially bald in front. He had no marks on his body by which he could be identified.

When he went away he wore dark trousers, a brown coat and vest, dark overcoat, derby hat and low shoes and gaiters. He carried a gold watch, open face, of Elgin manufacture, across a shield on the back of which was his full name, H. R. French. In his pockets were papers by which he could also easily be identified.

NINE CHARRED BODIES

Found In the Ruins of a Burned Dwelling In a Southern Town.

WHEELING, March 30.—The residence of John Witt at McKendree was burned to the ground yesterday, and with it were cremated eight small children and a servant girl named Mary Hendricks.

Mr. Witt was away from home, leaving his wife and eight children who, with the servant girl, were sleeping alone in the house. At an early hour Mrs. Witt was awakened by the smell of smoke and burning wood and discovered that the lower part of the house was enveloped in flames. The frightened woman ran from the house, but returned immediately and attempted to save her children, but she was forced to give up and barely escaped with her life. The neighbors made heroic efforts to save the nine occupants of the building, but without success.

The house was completely destroyed, and in the ruins were found the charred bodies of the eight children and the servant girl, which will be buried in one grave. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. Mr. and Mrs. Witt are prostrated by the terrible calamity, and it is feared that they will lose their minds.

IN CONGRESS.

Lively Scenes In the House—Senate Passes the McGarrahan Bill.

A Stormy Session.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Filibustering was resumed in the house yesterday on the O'Neill-Joy election case. Scenes of confusion, recalling some of the incidents of the Fifty-first congress, occurred. Speaker Crisp took the floor, and both he and ex-Speaker Reed spoke on the parliamentary questions involved. All sorts of motions and appeals were made. A scene of confusion followed. After a long while Mr. Patterson's resolution for the arrest of members absent without leave was agreed to, yeas, 164; nays, 3. Mr. Hainer moved to reconsider the vote just taken, and this introduced another hour's filibustering. While this was going on, however, the leaders of the two sides got the ground and affected an amicable arrangement by which Mr. Hainer withdrew his motion. The house then adjourned.

In the senate, the house joint resolution appropriating $10,000 for carrying out the provisions of the Chinese exclusion act was reported from the committee on appropriations and passed.

The pension appropriation bill was reported from the committee on appropriations, and placed on the calendar. The amount carried is the same passed by the house. An amendment making a pension a vested right was added by the senate committee.

At 2 p. m., the McGarrahan bill was taken up. Mr. George offered an amendment providing that nothing in the bill shall be construed as acknowledging any responsibility on the part of the United States to pay for the land, substance or materials taken, or as assuming any obligation in that behalf.

This amendment was agreed to, and the bill was finally passed without a division. It refers the claim to the court of private land claims.

After an executive session the senate adjourned till Monday.

Hostile Forces Defeated.

BERLIN, March 30.—A dispatch from Major Francois, commander of the German forces in Damaraland, operating against Chief Hendrik Witbooi, stated that he has inflicted two severe defeats upon Chief Witbooi, and believes that he has put an end to the latter's raids against German settlers.

Dust to Dust.

HAMBURG, March 30.—The remains of Hans Von Bulow, who died recently in Egypt, were cremated yesterday at the cemetery here. Previous to the cremation there was an imposing funeral service.

In New Quarters.

The Celtic and Emerald Associates have decided to move into the new quarters on Market street, recently vacated by the Mathew Temperance Institute.

The new rooms will be fitted up and elegantly furnished, to meet the requirements of these popular organizations.

The first meeting in the new quarters will take place next Tuesday evening, when the Emerald associates will meet. It was found necessary to secure these new quarters in order to better accommodate the largely increasing membership.

The organizations are composed of a number of the most popular young men in the city and are in a very flourishing condition.

FIRED HOT SHOT.

During a Hearing Upon the New Bedford Fire Department.

Down in New Bedford there is an awful row over the fire department. It was precipitated over an attempt to re-organize engine companies under new ordinances. A big hearing was granted by the committee to the fire engineers on certain changes.

Chief Macy opposed the reduction of the size of engine companies from 12 to 10 men. One of his assistant chiefs supported him, while two others opposed him, believing the cut down in force would pay for one permanent captain.

After considerable arguing Councilman Lawton made a savage harangue against the department, during which he said: "It was notorious that drunkards and men of bad moral character were retained in in the department year after year. There has been permanent drivers employed who were frequently too drunk to drive one horse, let alone two horses, attached to valuable fire apparatus. It is a damnable disgrace," he said, "that the chief of the fire department employs drunkards for drivers in preference to men of good moral character." Mr. Lawton charged that it was notorious. In a previous year he recommended a man as a sober, moral man, to three of the board of engineers, and they said: "That isn't the kind of a man the chief wants."

Chief Macy said it had been his endeavor to employ sober men and he thought the present drivers were such. He considered it was in bad taste for the three engineers named by Mr. Lawton to put the blame for appointments on the chief when they hired the men as much as he did. He didn't think much of such engineers.

The hearing is not yet finished.

CITY TIED UP.

Affairs Assume a New Phase In Denver's Great Squabble.

DENVER, March 30.—Judge Glynn has issued an order for an injunction restraining the old police board from interfering with the new board pending the settlement of the controversy between the two boards in the court, on the quo warranto proceedings. The sheriff is also enjoined from taking a hand in the controversy.

As Judge Allen's injunction restrains the new board from interfering with the old board, the two injunctions leave the city in almost the same state as martial law would. The police and fire departments are tied up, and even the sheriff could not act in case the partisans of the two warring boards should clash.

Must Share Profits.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The government has decided that henceforth all American insurance companies conducting operations in the empire must divide their profits with the insured after the policies have been in effect for four years. Policies already issued are exempt from the provisions of this regulation.

Reconstructing the New England.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Judge Wallace has granted permission to Thomas C. Platt and Marsden J. Perry, receivers of the New York and New England railroad, to execute to the United States government and the customhouse authorities a number of bonds to enable them to carry on the business of the company.

An Oculatory Performance.

ADBAZIA, March 30.—The Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria met at Meltuglie, the end of the railway route to Abbazia. They embraced and kissed one another. After the greeting the emperors went to Abbazzia. The inhabitants assembled and cheered along the entire route.

Many Lives Lost.

WARSAW, March 30.—The shaft of a coal mine at Kuszdew collapsed yesterday. Thus far 11 bodies have been recovered, and a number of miners have been removed from the mine, seriously injured.

BRECKINRIDGE'S STORY

OF HIS FIRST MEETING WITH MISS POLLARD.

He Was Lured Away by the Young Woman—How the Gallant Colonel Was Cajoled by a Girl.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Had an alien, untutored in the king's English, dropped into the circuit court yesterday afternoon, he might have received the impression that the benevolent elderly-looking gentleman, with ruddy face and waves of snowy hair and beard, who held the open-mouthed attention of 200 men while he discussed in a slow, mellifluous tone, was preaching a sermon from the gospel of peace.

This mistake would have been a natural one, but it would have been a mistake, for the elderly gentleman with the scriptural head, was the silver-tongued orator of Kentucky, Congressman Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, and he was telling to 12 of his peers, and incidentally to the world at large, the story of his intrigue with Madeline Pollard.

There is a minor key of tenderness, of exquisite pathos, in the voice of Colonel Breckinridge, which has done much to win for him his sobriquet of the "Silver-tongued."

It is such a tone as one would have expected Antony to employ in rehearsing the virtues of dead Cæsar. It has charmed thousands in the house of representatives, the hustings of Kentucky, and the lecture rooms of female seminaries and Christian societies, and it to him in his customary appearances, only it hardly accords with such a narrative as he had to tell yesterday.

The colonel stood in the little witness box, his left elbow resting on Judge Bradley's desk, with his left hand a pillow for his head, and his right hand thrust carelessly into his trousers pocket. He smiled occasionally as he spoke. At first he was evidently a little tremulous in his utterances, but he lost that trace of nervousness before he proceeded far with his story.

Once he glanced down at the slender young woman in the first row of seats before him, that was when he was assuring the court that her manner toward him had been perfectly respectful and very deferential, but for the most part, he addressed himself to his attorney, Major Butterworth, who did the questioning.

As for Madeline Pollard, she never took her eyes from his face. Part of the time she rested her head on her hand, and for half an hour she vigorously wielded a fan.

When Colonel Breckinridge was telling him he made her accept a $10 bill, after their first interview, she shut her lips tightly, and would have made a motion to rise but for restraining words of Attorney Carlisle.

Elevated above the scene sat Judge Bradley, with his chair turned away from the defendant, his head tilted back, his eyes closed, and his features cast into an utterly bored expression.

The Kentucky congressman got no further in his story than the first meeting with Miss Pollard. He held that the young woman had lured him to her; had met him more than half way in their intimacy, and the ground of his excuse is found in his words:

"I was a man with passion; she was a woman with passion; we were human."

JUDGE FORBES' WARNING.

Doesn't Propose to Allow Guilty Students to Escape the Law.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 30.—When court was called to order yesterday, Judge Forbes instructed the stenographer to make a transcript of Taylor's evidence taken before the grand jury, also to certify and present it to him.

"I will then see," he said, "what right another judge has to interfere with the business of this court. I am determined to see that there is no miscarriage of justice in this case, and do not propose to be interfered with in the discharge of my duty. It is your duty, Mr. District Attorney, to arrest these men if the evidence warrants it.

"This court has been trifled with long enough. If the witnesses refuse to testify before me, and if we have jails enough in Tompkins county in which to confine them, and they continue to refuse to open their mouths, we will send them to prison and keep them there until they will testify."

Farm Buildings Burned.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 30. — The nest of large barns at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the old home farm of the late Samuel J. Tilden, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire. Ninety tons of hay, a large quantity of grain and agricultural implements and some sheep were burned. Loss, $7500.

To Tackle Insurgents.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 30.—President Peixoto's warships from Montevideo have arrived here, and every preparation is being made to send them southward, with instructions to seek out and engage in battle with the Aquidaban, Republica and other ships which are still under the command of Admiral de Mello.

Court Will Look After Revenue.

OMAHA, March 30.—In the fight between the National water works of Kansas City and its eastern bondholders, involving $2,000,000, Judge Caldwell ordered the water works company to turn its revenues into court. The court promised to give a decision in the case soon.

REV. R. A. GREENE

Shakes Hands With His Parishioners and Friends

Rev. R. A. Greene of the Shattuck Street church observed the 17th anniversary of his pastorate last evening. The occasion was honored by a reception tendered the pastor and Mrs. Greene by their parishioners. The reception took place in the church which was crowded, and included friends from other churches, among them being Mayor Pickman, Rev. Mr. Hall of the First Universalist, Rev. Mr. Batchelor of the First Unitarian and Rev. Mr. Johnson of the John Street Congregational church. The reception lasted from 8 o'clock to 9.30, and Mr. and Mrs. Greene and their son, Master Vernon, were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cheney, Mr. and Mrs. William Langley, and Mr. H. P. Goodell. The platform on which they received was banked with potted plants and cut flowers and the two dates "1877" and "1894" were conspicuous in golden letters. After the reception a supper was served by the Page company. The tables, which were arranged in the form of a cross, were artistically decorated.

The ushers were: Lincoln R. Welch, chief; Walter A. Knapp, William Earl, Dr. Tufts, C. W. Taylor, A. R. Philbrick, H. H. Harris and Robert Goodell.

The ushers in the vestry were Messrs. F. L. Knapp, Frank Burnham, B. F. B. Tucker, L. A. Pierce and C. Fred Hard.

The committee on arrangements consisted of Leroy S. Hall, chairman; Mrs. William H. Hard, Mrs. William Langley, Mrs. George F. Penniman and Mrs. A. Y. Paige.

Among the tributes of respect were some pretty ones from the schools of which as a member of the school board Mr. Greene has charge. The teachers in the Powell street school sent a bouquet of 17 roses, those in the Edson sent a similar gift and the High and John street schools also remembered him.

ANOTHER BIG FIGHT

Is Developing in the Hearing on Proposed Banking Law.

There was another big hearing upon the banking bill which many people consider is aimed against the Lowell Trust company holding so much of the city's funds, at the state house yesterday. F. W. Qua, Esq., appeared for those favoring proposed legislation, and John C. Burke, Esq., cross-examined him, and also did the others who spoke. City Treasurer Chadwick spoke and A. S. Covel, treasurer of the Tremont and Suffolk mills, C. L. Lovering, treasurer of the Massachusetts mill had considerable to say. All protested against the present law and pronounced the financial system in Lowell as unsafe. The hearing was not finished but will be resumed next Tuesday, the petitioners from 10 to 11, the remonstrants from 11 to 1 p. m.

CRISP FOR SENATOR.

Speaker of the House Appointed by the Governor of Georgia.

ATLANTA, March 30.—Governor Northen has appointed Speaker Charles F. Crisp to succeed the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Not a word has passed between the governor and the speaker, and the latter's name had not even been presented formally to the governor.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—It was after midnight when Speaker Crisp received notice of his appointment as senator from Georgia. He was much surprised, as the offer was unexpected. His first inclination was to decline, but at 1 o'clock he wired the governor that he would hold his answer in abeyance until he could consult with political friends and associates.

IN POPULISTS' DISTRICT.

The Commonweal Army Now Numbers Over a Hundred.

COLUMBIANA, O., March 30.—Coxey has rejoined his cohorts, the army is among Populists, and the commonweal is enjoying a big boom. The Farmers' Alliance provided three wagon loads of provisions, and two of wood. Beef, hams, coffee and 1000 loaves of bread, will furnish the commonweal with provisions for three days, at least.

In a speech, Carl Browne said he was being misrepresented by 40 argus-eyed demons of hell, who followed him around. He meant the reporters, and has given orders to keep newspaper men out of camp.

Three hundred people welcomed the crowd of 108 soldiers to Columbiana, and the citizens provided Johnson's foundry as a camp. Straw beds were provided.

Thirty-six recruits from East Liverpool joined the ranks. This town has a Coxey club with 58 members, of which John Harold is chairman. After seeing the army Harold said that while he sympathized with Coxey's principles, he could not countenance such an array of tramps to force legislation.

Coxey says success is assured, but refuses to speak of his financial troubles.

AN UNDERGROUND RAILWAY

For Smuggling Opium Through Canada to the United States.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The customs officials have in custody a man who is believed to be one of the principles in a big opium smuggling scheme, and warrants are out for others who are believed to be implicated in smuggling many thousands of dollars' worth of the narcotic into the United States by way of Canada.

The man under arrest says that his name is Samuel Tilford Rowe, and that he lives in this city. A policeman noticed Rowe passing through Mott street, with a large package under his arm. The man's actions were suspicious, and the policeman took him to the police station. There his package was opened, and was found to contain 40 cans of opium, which did not bear the government stamp, and had clearly been smuggled.

He was remanded to the custody of special inspectors of the treasury department. Postal orders which were found in Rowe's pockets and which he was about to forward to people in Toronto, throw considerable light on the smuggling scheme, it is claimed, furnishing the names of the parties who probably attended to getting the opium through Canada.

VESPER CLUB

It Reproduces the Famous Midway Plaisance.

BEST BURLESQUE EVER GOTTEN UP IN LOWELL.

Merry Song Dedicated to the Champion Bowlers.

It was truly the Vesper's night when the club house hall was well filled with members last evening, on the occasion of the annual meeting.

In anticipation of the entertainment which was to follow the business, every member who could possibly get there was out.

President Butler presided, and after the financial report which showed the club to be in a very prosperous condition, Secretary Swapp read his annual report, prefacing it with a short sketch of the club and its year of activity. Here are a few extracts which are of interest to the general public:

"The Vesper Boat club has reached another mile stone in its existence and as we look back and review the year's history, we find that the club has had one of the most prosperous years since its organization. Strong financially, strong in numbers and strong in its well known high reputation. It stands the leading athletic club of our city."

Then following an account of the annual meeting and the smoke talk.

"Early in May the club navy was put in repair. This consists of five canoes, five single working boats, two double working boats and three pleasure boats.

"The canoes and pleasure boats were in constant demand, but some of the working boats were hardly taken from the racks. This was owing to the fact that the boats are old and of slow model. The time was when these same working boats were used not only for exercise but for parties, for picnics, etc. The canoes and pleasure boats have now taken their place and I would advise that at least four of these working boats be sold and that the club add to its navy two or three light weight working boats. If we had the right kind of boats it would be a great help towards keeping up the interest in rowing."

Mention was made of the proposed June regatta and the two outings.

"Early in the season it became evident that bicycling was to be a feature of the club. The committee recognizing this had the east side of the ground floor arranged with bicycle stalls; about this time a large number of Lowell Cycle club men became Vesper members which makes the number of club riders 65. The following officers were chosen: the present club president, secretary and treasurer, with George H. Stevens, captain; L. H. Swift, 1st lieutenant; A. S. Baker, 2d lieutenant; standard bearer, James Thorpe; buglers, F. A. Baker and F. S. Bean.

"Throughout the season club runs were held, all the surrounding towns were visited, runs being made to Salem, Gloucester, Boston, Nashua, Concord, Groton, the "Hermitage" at Littleton, and the "Indians" at Dunstable, also to Newport. But bicycling has not been all pleasure. In the races round and about Lowell the Vesper club has been well representing. Dr. Charles E. Snyder entered eleven events, and won four first and four second prizes. He holds the one mile championship of Lowell, and at Brockton on Labor day he won the half mile open scratch race. Edward Buffum won the ten mile handicap race at Portsmouth, N. H. J. W. Sidebottom won three events, one and two mile open race at the cricket grounds; the two mile race at the Fair grounds. G. H. Stevens won the Century medals covering 100 miles inside of 15 hours on three occasions in less than 10 hours riding time. The Vesper club was admitted to the L. A. W.; and joined the Associated Cycling club of Boston and vicinity. Messrs. Goulding and Buffum are on the board of management; Messrs. Butler and Stevens are officers of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W., and E. H. Shattuck is local consul. The interest in the sport seems to be on the increase."

Reference was made to lawn tennis and the tournaments and winners. Rev. C. W. Huntington won the city championship and James Thorpe second prize.

Quite a lengthy and interesting review is given of the canoeing season, especially of the big A. C. A. meet with an account of the prize winning of Messrs. Butler, Goddard and Gray. He wound up by saying: "It is a cold A. C. A. meet when the V. B. C. does not get there." (Applause.)

The Bowling Team.

Oct. 2, the executive committee elected H. J. Corwin to be captain of the league bowling team, he to have full power to select and manage the team. To prove that he did his duty you have only to refer to the history of the season just closed. Our club was one of the eight cracks in the first division and the team played two games with each club one at home and one away. It won 13 straight games and first place in the division. It led the league in total pins and rolled the highest team single string. Capt. Corwin made the highest three string total, and established a new record for three strings away from home. At the roll off of the finals with the Melrose A. A. and Les Miserables the Vespers won by rolling in splendid championship form. Thus our club team after three years' rolling has won the championship and made a record of which every Vesper man may well be proud. In the team were Capt. H. J. Corwin, F. H. Grover, C. E. Goulding, James Thorpe, C. F. Harris, J. K. and S. T. Whittier and Julian C. Hood. These men in order to do this have practically given up all their time outside of business hours, and have been put to considerable personal expense; when you stop to consider the reputation they have established for the club throughout the state, not only as scientific bowlers but for good, honest fellowship, that they have won not only the championship but have brought to this club house the champion silver shield, and for the division prize, a handsome punch bowl and ladle, it must be clear to all that this club owes them a vote of thanks and that we should recognize their work by some substantial gift.

Presented Silver Mugs.

Your committee therefore have voted to present to each man who rolled on the them a silver mug suitably inscribed, to be their own personal property. Capt Corwin won the special prize offered for the highest thre string total. The attendance at league games was so large that accommodation in the alleys were badly cramped

Reference was made to the club tourneys, one of which is not completed, Team Five—C. H. Howard, A. E. Swapp, W. F. Coburn, G. E. Perley and W. B. Hart won the fall tournament. The report states that it is a matter of deep regret that we cannot have at least four alleys instead of two.

Meetings of the executive committee were reported.

With the resignations of the year and the new members the club consists of 181 active and 22 non-resident members; total 203.

In reviewing the work of the past year we find canoeing as brisk as ever. A large number of private canoes have been added to our already large fleet.

Tennis can never be a very popular sport in our club on account of most of our members not being able to give the necessary time during the day.

The number of private steamers owned by club members will make it necessary for the committee to make permanent arrangement for wharfage.

The bowling committee has no plan to suggest on changing the alleys. Richard Gair, the janitor, was highly commended.

New Club Grounds.

"This club since its beginning has never stood still; it has steadily progressed and in order to keep at the top it must still push forward. The time was when this house answered every purpose; now it is not so. Then it was only a summer boat club, now it is the leading athletic club in our city; here all athletic sports are encouraged.

"To increase the interest in boating, canoeing, cycling, we must have some resort which can be reached by both river and road where Vesper men may gather for out door sports. With increased facilities for our bowling and a Vesper outing ground, there is no question but our membership will be so largely increased that all sports can be encouraged so that it will keep the V. B. C., as it is now everywhere the finest club of its kind in existence. You may meet in your travels tennis players, bowlers, cyclers, canoeists, and as soon as it becomes known that you are a Vesper man a cordial, hearty reception is assured you."

Election of Officers.

Above report was enthusiastically received. Then proceeding to election of officers the following was the result: Paul Butler, president; D. S. Goddard and G. H. Stevens, vice presidents; A. G. Swapp, secretary; C. E. Goulding, treasurer; (all re-elected, Mr. Butler for the 10th time); directors, S. T. Whittier, H. W. Salmon and Hon. C. D. Palmer; membership committee for two years, J. K. Whittier; R. F. Brazer, George C. Dempsey, Howard Gray, F. A. Baker and L. F. Sherman; auditors, James Thorpe and Julian B. Keyes.

A change in bylaws making the initiation fee $10, and providing that dues shall begin at time of admittance the new member to pay the proportionate part of the dues as determined by time of election, was passed. The meeting then adjourned and the smoke talk began.

The Midway Plaisance.

The program of the evening was entitled "The Midway Plaisance" and proved probably the finest burlesque ever gotten up in this city. It could only be appreciated by those of the club who had "done" the original Midway. The many eccentricities brought out were recognized by those who had seen them at the fair, and Joe Battles' remarkable skill in bringing them out was at once seen.

The Vesper burlesquers never before shone so conspicuously. The costuming and characters were to perfection.

The end of the hall was turned into an oriental parlor with rugs and divans. In it the Nautch girls danced and the oriental musicians played.

First of all Willis Farrington, who made an ideal fakir, hung out a sign "They won't allow me to talk" illustrating one of the phases of the Midway. The scenes and comments, with many local lists were given by cards. The musicians were W. D. Marren, J. P. Battles, Aaron Thompson, Howard Gray, H. W. Salmon and Harry Thompson.

South Sea Islander—Joe Bennett, who was a terrible speciman of the aborigine, executed a war club dance. Albert Wheeler, was a perfectly made up Chinaman. Walter Leigh was the town crier of Old Vienna and his Dutch cries were immense.

The big features were the dancers Henry K. Gates, F. A. Baker and E. B. Conant. The two first named executed the famous dances which were tabooed at the fair.

Words will not sufficiently describe the success of their dancing and the ovation they received.

In the second part the bridal procession from the streets of Cairo was reproduced with E. B. Conant as the bride, who rode in astride of C. D. Palmer's donkey. The ovation was a roof raiser. The three dancers executed an eccentric dance with an original song by Howard Gray.

After the second part the club members went below for supper, while James Thorpe took a flash light picture of the artists.

The other fun of the evening which waxed furious consisted of songs by Robert Hyde, a clever banjoist of Boston, with club choruses, the christening of the new punch bowl and a song by Robert Mudie written so as to cleverly bring in the names of the bowlers. The chorus to the tune of "John Brown" was "The Vespers they are champion bowlers." The smoke talk was over at midnight.

The Vesper Chorus.

(To be sung to the tune of "John Brown's body, etc,")

Capt. Corwin and his brother bowlers four
With all clubs but one, this year, have wiped up the floor.
Lowell of her bowling teams is justly very proud,

(Chorus.)
That the Vespers they are champion bowlers,
All the team are dandy rollers,
Deservedly they've won the pennant
Of ninety-three and four.

Grover, he's a darling, and the sphere he handles well;
For proof look up the score book, and the story it will tell.
Harris, who is no chicken, has a style both trim and neat,
So let us once more repeat
(Chorus.)

Then we have a Charles, whose surname 'tis Goulding
Oft what has seemed certain defeat, he's turned into a win;
Our Boys, the Whittier brothers, they are bowlers, good and true
And this is what we knew.
(Chorus.)

What about the genial James who hails from Stalybridge,
He certainly puts up a game that is at times gilt-edged.
As an all round man he ranks quite high no matter what the game
And no one can deny
(Chorus)

Now for our friend Corwin, who is captain of this crew,
I think he's a lu-lu and the same I'm sure do you,
Ask the boys at Norfolk house if he is not a star?
And they also will admit.

(Chorus.)
I really think it would be wrong before my song is done,
To omit friend ex-Mayor Palmer, than whom better there is none,
You must admit he was not wanting, boys, at all your games
And he always will agree.
(Chorus.)

No doubt there are some fellows here who have heard me sing this song
Will wonder who Bob Mudie is, and where does he belong
Well, boys, I live in Boston, but you bet your own sweet life
That I am a Lowell sport (and know)
That the Vespers, etc.:

When you need printing, remember THE SUN.

WERE HER GUESTS.

MISS KATHERINE CUMMISKEY RECEIVED HER FRIENDS.

One of the Season's Most Elaborate Affairs Graced by the Presence of Many Out-of-Town Ladies and Gentlemen.

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the reception given by Miss Katherine Cummiskey of Fletcher street, to her many friends of this city and out-of-town last evening.

The new Associate hall was the scene of the party, and in keeping with the elaborate nature of the affair was very beautifully and extensively decorated. The walls beneath the balconies were tastefully bedecked with pink bunting and white cream lace, neatly arranged, added greatly to the attractive effect. Tropical plants and palms in abundance adorned the stage, nooks and corners.

From 8 to 9 o'clock, the American orchestra rendered an acceptable concert program, during which time the hostess assisted by Miss Adelaide Crowley of this city and Miss Theresa Farrell of Lawrence received her guests. Miss Cummiskey was becomingly attired in white satin, while her assistants wore gowns of plain and figured blue satin.

At 9 o'clock general dancing, including the latest terpsichorean creations, was enjoyed. When 10 numbers had been danced the march to the supper hall was taken, Miss Cummiskey leading, on the arm of Dr. Collier of Boston. The Page Co., catered. After supper dancing was resumed and continued until 2 o'clock. The attendance was such as to make dancing comfortable, and it is needless to state that the party was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The feature of the affair was the large number of exquisite costumes worn by the ladies.

The matrons were Mesdames E. B. Quinn, Robt. E. Crowley and Wm. P. Barry, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank P. Cummiskey, David Cavanaugh, George P. Green, John W. McEvoy and D. J. Murphy.

Who Were There

Among the guests from abroad were: Dr. Collier, Dr. Stacey, Mr. William Wood, Mr. James Hickey, Mr. John Cadigan, Mr. Daniels and the Misses Costello of Boston, Mr. Joseph Sheehan, Mr. Daniel Donohoe, Mr. Neal Mahoney, Mr. J. P. S. Mahoney, Mr. Thos Carney, Mr. Jerry Mahoney, the Misses Farrell, Mrs. Morris Curran, Mrs. John Farrell of Lawrence; Miss Linehan, Mr. James Linehan and Mr. Curtiss of Peabody; Dr. Lyons and Miss Lyons of Manchester; Miss Nellie Bayliss of Detroit; Dr. W. R. McGuirk of Providence; Mr. D. E. Murphy of Concord.

DEATHS.

Mary Jane Connell, wife of Abram Connell, died Wednesday evening, at her home, 22 Wilder street.

Sarah Hartley, aged 49 years, died yesterday at her home, No. 138 Warren street.

Maria A. Dartt, aged 68 years, died at her home, 25 Shedd street, Wednesday evening. Interment will be at Waitsfield, Vt.

Hattie Lackome, aged 32 years, wife of George Lackome, died Wednesday evening at her late home, 49 Kirk street.

Catherine Wayland, aged 64 years, died yesterday at home, 417 Adams street.

Leonard Page, formerly a resident of this city, died on Tuesday at his home at West Somerville.

Jennie Ingan, aged 74 years, died yesterday at the hospital. She was the widow of James Logan, and was an esteemed member of the First Presbyterian church. She leaves three grandchildren, who reside at her late home, 35 Prospect street.

Walter Herbert, infant son of Deputy James A. McQuade and Margaret McQuade, died at their home, 227 Concord street, yesterday afternoon.

Joseph Foster, 21 years of age, died today at his home, 131 Howard street. Deceased was the son of Joseph and Mary Foster.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mayor Pickman is in Boston today attending the normal school hearing.

The water board last evening heard petitions for pipe extensions in Varnum avenue, Pawtucketville.

Daniel O'Day, John Carroll, Michael Brennan and Annie Brennan are booked by Murphy for the old country.

Mr. George Ryan of White's tannery is happy over the arrival of a daughter Mrs. Ryan and little Miss Ryan are doing nicely.

Mr. M. J. Mahoney, the popular clerk of the Merrimack Clothing company, is again at his post of duty after a severe illness of malaria.

Over 100 persons attended the regular monthly entertainment and supper of Bay State Colony of Pilgrim Fathers at Bay State hall, last evening. The entertainment was a very pleasing one and at its conclusion supper was served in the banquet hall.

The committee on liquor laws has reported a bill amending the public statutes relative to intoxicating liquors, providing that sales of cider and native wines by the makers thereof, shall be in quantities of not less than 10 gallons, except by a special license.

Mr. Sirios, the Aiken street barber, says a burglar entered his house Saturday evening, but when attacked by the barber in the kitchen he fled through the window. Sirios used a leather billy for a weapon and he believed the intruder was cut about the head.

Officer Farrington this noon arrested two of the drunkest drunks seen in a long time. He found them lying insensible in a yard off Cross street. They were carried bodily to the wagon and from the wagon to their respective cells. Their names could not be learned.

Illegal Liquor Selling.

Joseph Goddu who keeps a drug store at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets, and who was arrested for illegal liquor selling was found guilty in the police court yesterday and fined $100. The liquor officers testified to having gone to his place of business and found that sales had been made for which nothing that would cover the law could be shown. They also seized a considerable quantity of liquor. Goddu appealed and was held in $300 for the Superior court.

THE CITY COMMITTEE.

VERY IMPORTANT MEETING OF THAT BODY LAST NIGHT.

Resolution Presented to Read Four Democratic Councilmen Out of the Party—Caucuses to be Held April 30th.

The democratic city committee met last night.

Councilmen Sparks, O'Connell, Ryan and Robinson, and ex-Councilman Nolan were read out of the party.

Frank J. Donohoe introduced the resolutions expelling these gentlemen from the democratic party.

The fixing of the date for the caucuses for the selection of the new democratic city committee caused considerable discussion.

Several dates were named and a motion was offered to have them called for April 27. Frank J. Donohoe moved as an amendment that the date be the 30th. The amendment was accepted and then Edward W. Rodgers argued in favor of having the caucuses called later in the year, about the month of August or September. This would have the effect of disposing of the charges of the committee, catering to cliques and politicians.

Mr. Donohoe also spoke in favor of Mr. Rodgers' suggestion.

Chairman Farley stated that in order to have the caucuses called for August or September, it would be necessary to amend the constitution. The question then came on the motion to hold the caucuses April 30, and the motion passed.

Marcellus Fletcher moved that all candidates for the committee be obliged to hand in their name, with 25 cents to the printing committe, on or before April 27. An amendment was offered that the names be handed to the ward executive, but this was opposed on the ground that the ward executive would be charged with fixing up the ticket. Mr. Fletcher's motion then passed.

Donahoe's Resolution.

Mr. Frank J. Donohoe then arose and handed to Secretary Mead a set of resolutions he desired to have read.

The resolutions called for the expulsion of Thomas J. Sparks, John Nolan, John J. O'Connell, John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the democratic party; and of John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the city committee. The resolution went further and asked that these gentlemen be prohibited from participating in democratic caucuses either as candidates or voters; that the printing committee be instructed in making up ballots to reject their applications to print their names; that the resolutions be read in Wards 1, 3 and 6 at the opening of the city committee caucuses and that the chairman of said caucuses are instructed to reject the ballots of said Ryan, Robinson, Sparks, Nolan and O'Connell if they offer to vote.

The resolutions created a lengthy discussion in which at least a dozen participated, Councilman Ryan protested vigorously but to no avail, and the resolutions were adopted.

John E. Maguire then arose and wanted to have the vote reconsidered claiming that he desired to add the names of a few other gentlemen, particularly Overseers of the Poor Gookin and Keefe. Then followed more talk in which John F. Curtis figured prominently. The motion to reconsider was lost and the committee then adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Maguire's grievance against Overseers Gookin and Keefe is because they refused to vote for him for secretary of the overseers of the poor.

It is not quite apparent why he should desire Messrs. Keefe's and Gookin's expulsion, when every other member of the board is a democrat, except Mayor Pickman, and refused to vote for Mr. Maguire, as is evident from Mr. Richardson's unanimous election.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The book "Heavenly Twins" which is still largely called for at the city library, has gone through a New York edition of 17,000 copies.

The new word, or perhaps it isn't so new after all, for it is commonly used in England, is "knobsticks in place of "scabs." It is to be hoped that the name will not become a familiar one hereabouts.

OFFICIAL COURTESY.

It is Extended to the City Treasurer-elect by the Out-going Treasurer.

The following correspondence between City Treasurer Chadwick and City Treasurer-elect, John H. Harrington will be read with interest, and is self explanatory:

LOWELL, Mass., March 28, 1894.
John H. Harrington, Esq., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Please accept my congratulations upon your election as city treasurer.

After a careful audit of my accounts, under the direction of the committee on accounts, I shall be ready to transfer them to you upon your qualification as city treasurer.

Meanwhile any courtesies of the office that may be of assistance in preparing you for your new duties will be very readily extended.

I am,
Very respectfully yours,
AUSTIN K. CHADWICK.

LOWELL, Mass., March 29, 1894.

Dear Sir: I beg leave to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday and to thank you for the generous sentiments therein expressed.

I shall be pleased to accept your kind offer, and will visit the office at an early day.

Anticipating the great pleasure it will give me to meet you and your courteous assistants.

I remain,
Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. HARRINGTON.

Austin K. Chadwick, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.

A Sewer Hearing

A meeting of the committee on sewers was held last evening, and a hearing was given on the petition to extend the Gorham street sewer from the end of Manchester street to Cosgrove street. P. O'Neil, W. W. Clark, John C. Read, George Emsley and others argued in favor and there was no opposition.

After the hearing bids were opened for brick and drain pipe. Edward Cawley was awarded the contract for furnishing brick and Cleveland J. Cheney for drain pipe.

Relative to drawing of the general sewer loan, to complete the Centralville sewer, the members of the committee were of the opinion that such could not be done. Already over $40,000 of the $60,000 appropriated for the Centralville sewer is spent, and the sewer is only half built.

License Applications Come In.

License applications are being filed with a rush at the city clerk's office today. There are close on to 100 filed already. The time for receiving applications expires at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Sheldon, J.

The case of Benjamin F. Abbott vs. Merrimack Manufacturing Co. was on trial all day yesterday. The machine by which the plaintiff was injured was shown in court to enable the jury to understand better its workings. The case in all probability will not be finished today.

There were no motions heard this afternoon contrary to expectation.

BOWLING NEWS.

The Lowells are not quite certain whether they can bowl or not. They intend to keep on sawing wood but such defeats as last night is very much like chopping down trees of lignum vitæ, they don't get there in a hurry.

The Miserables beat them 215 pins in totals of 2418 to 2203. The winning team put up a great game with string totals of 801, 774 and 843. The individual totals were:

Miserables—Sternberg, 405; D. Donohoe, 525; G. Kelly, 453; H. Farrell, 531; W. Kily, 444.

Lowells—McCurdy, 418; Seede, 466; J. Farrell, 422; Buckland, 432; Murray, 465.

The Pastimes No. 1 team while winning all right came very near getting into a pocket for one of their opponents on the Baker's put up 515, and Baker himself 498, the team total being over 2300. But Wilson came to the rescue with 542, and the totals stood 2872 to 2301.

Pastimes—Brown 437, Wilson 542, Campbell 486, Young 446, Simmons 458.

Baker's—Baker 498, Sherwood 397, Loupret 486, W. Purcell 515, McMahon 455.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

A high mass of requiem was offered up at St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, at 9 o'clock this morning, for the repose of the soul of Lucy Maxwell. A large congregation was present. Rev. Fr. McAvinnue, O. M. I., celebrated the mass. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery in this city.

The remains of Catherine Wayland were forwarded to Bucksport, Me., this afternoon for interment.

Street Railway Matters

In the senate, yesterday, Mr. Fitzgerald of Suffolk, made a plea against the bill to authorize the Lowell and Suburban Street Railroad to extend its tracks for electricity. He said that it was a stock watering operation. The legislature should not become a party to a scheme to issue stocks and bonds to an unlimited amount without any representative value behind the issue. A motion to table the petition after lengthy discussion was lost.

Marriage Intentions.

Arthur Jodoin, 24, to Lida J. Gingras, 23
Edmond St. Laurent, 23, to Virginie Boisvert, 17,
Albert Lefaivre, 26, to Caroline Masicotte, 23.

Outside Spring garments for boys and children.

Natty blue serge and fancy Cheviot Reefers, with deep collars, for children 3 to 8 years.

Covert Coats for boys, miniature copies of our men' Coverts, 3 years to 14.

Blue Rough Faced Serge and mixed Cheviot Reefers, 10 years to 16.

Spring Overcoats and Covert Coats, 10 years to 18.

It follows naturally that the new Spring Suits are here to go with the top coats.

Attractive little outfits for youngest children; single breast plaited Norfolk Blouses and double-breast jackets, with short trousers for larger lads, the new idea, and rightly made. Possibly in Boston the assortment may be rivalled, but not here.

SOME RATTLING BOUTS.

LOWELL SPORTS LOOK ON WHILE BOYS PUNCH.

One Six-Round Battle Ended in a Draw While Four Other Contests Were Friendly Bouts for Points.

The sporting blood about town is a little warmer nowadays for quite often a "mill" is held on the q. t. just across the city line. Some of the mills are pretty lively too, and occasionally there is a knock-out. The affairs are always friendly, and no stakes are put up so they cannot be called breaches of the peace.

A six bout mill was the event which sent 300 sports into the suburbs last night. All were mighty interesting although they lack the flavor which comes from having a stake up.

The Moriarty brothers are said to have boxed four rounds for points; Armstrong and Saunders, four rounds for the same object, and three other bouts by local celebrities for decisions, the whole winding up with a drawn six round "go" between Dolan of Lowell and Arnold of Dracut, which the master of ceremonies called a draw.

All the big sports were there, together with bottle-holders and rubbers-down.

A TOOTHSOME PIG.

Made the Boys Think of the Roasts at Corbett's Pond.

Frank L. Richard, the well-known and popular druggist, entertained a large and jolly gathering at his home, 57 Lilley avenue, Wednesday evening. A delicious pig roast proved very appetizing to the company, and several side dishes were provided under the direction of Nap. Provencher.

"Bobbie" Saunders, "Billie" Flynn and "Charlie" Swan, the "Pepper Trio," rendered several of their melodious selections without the aid of a piano or harmonica. Ex-Alderman Choate played the jews-harp and ex-Councilman Constantineau entertained the assemblage with selections on the concertina. The most interesting feature of the evening was the novel recitation by "Picket" Mead. Mr. Mead is the possessor of considerable dramatic ability, and delivers humorous and sentimental pieces with the same pleasing effect. His rendition of "The pen and ink brigade" elicited hearty applause.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE.

Scenic Artists Now Preparing the New Stage Equipment.

From present indications, the attractions at Lakeview during the coming season will surpass those of all previous years. The theatre will be run this year by Mr. James Gilbert of Boston who made a big success of it during the latter part of last season. He will probably run comic operas with a high class company.

Some fine scenery is being painted for the theatre under the direction of Joseph Harrington, assisted by William H. Mulcahey. Four drops have been completed up to date. They represent street, garden, landscape and horizon scenes. The latter two are taken from scenes in Ireland and are said to be very agreeable to the eye. Besides these a scene representing a prison, kitchen and parlor are being painted and they promise to be as fine as anything offered by a local play house. The necessary wings, set doors, borders and balustrades have been finished, and when the theatre opens it will be found very well equipped with scenery.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE—Tonight the merry comedy of "Jane" will be seen. It is a clean comedy and with Miss Yeamans as "Jane" will no doubt be very enjoyable.

The minstrel season is nearly passed but Lew Dockstader will be here tomorrow and Sunday evening to give his excellent concerts.

MUSIC HALL—Iola Pomeroy is still as charmingly attractive in her new piece as ever. Every night she is enthusiastically greeted by large audience. There will be a matinee tomorrow.

REV. R. A. GREENE

Shakes Hands With His Parishioners and Friends.

Rev. R. A. Greene of the Shattuck Street church observed the 17th anniversary of his pastorate last evening. The occasion was honored by a reception tendered the pastor and Mrs. Greene by their parishioners. The reception took place in the church which was crowded, and included friends from other churches, among them being Mayor Pickman, Rev. Mr. Hall of the First Universalist, Rev. Mr. Batchelor of the First Unitarian and Rev. Mr. Johnson of the John Street Congregational church. The reception lasted from 8 o'clock to 9.30, and Mr. and Mrs. Greene and their son, Master Vernon, were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cheney, Mr. and Mrs. William Langley, and Mr. H. P. Goodell. The platform on which they received was banked with potted plants and cut flowers and the two dates "1877" and "1894" were conspicuous in golden letters. After the reception a supper was served by the Page company. The tables, which were arranged in the form of a cross, were artistically decorated.

The ushers were: Lincoln R. Welch, chief; Walter A. Knapp, William Earl, Dr. Tufts, C. W. Taylor, A. R. Philbrick, H. H. Harris and Robert Goodell.

The ushers in the vestry were Messrs. F. L. Knapp, Frank Burnham, B. F. B. Tucker, L. A. Pierce and C. Fred Hard.

The committee on arrangements consisted of Leroy S. Hall, chairman; Mrs. William H. Hard, Mrs. William Langley, Mrs. George F. Pendiman and Mrs. A. Y. Paige.

Among the tributes of respect were some pretty ones from the schools of which as a member of the school board Mr. Greene has charge. The teachers in the Powell street school sent a bouquet of 17 roses, those in the Edson sent a similar gift and the High and John street schools also remembered him.

ANOTHER BIG FIGHT

Is Developing in the Hearing on Proposed Banking Law.

There was another big hearing upon the banking bill which many people consider is aimed against the Lowell Trust company holding so much of the city's funds, at the state house yesterday. F. W. Qua, Esq., appeared for those favoring proposed legislation, and John C. Burke, Esq., cross-examined him, and also did the others who spoke. City Treasurer Chadwick spoke and A. S. Covel, treasurer of the Tremont and Suffolk mills, C. L. Lovering, treasurer of the Massachusetts mill had considerable to say. All protested against the present law and pronounced the financial system in Lowell as unsafe. The hearing was not finished but will be resumed next Tuesday, the petitioners from 10 to 11, the remonstrants from 11 to 1 p. m.

CRISP FOR SENATOR.

Speaker of the House Appointed by the Governor of Georgia.

ATLANTA, March 30.—Governor Northen has appointed Speaker Charles F. Crisp to succeed the late Senator Alfred H. Colquitt. Not a word has passed between the governor and the speaker, and the latter's name had not even been presented formally to the governor.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—It was after midnight when Speaker Crisp received notice of his appointment as senator from Georgia. He was much surprised, as the offer was unexpected. His first inclination was to decline, but at 1 o'clock he wired the governor that he would hold his answer in abeyance until he could consult with political friends and associates.

IN POPULISTS' DISTRICT.

The Commonweal Army Now Numbers Over a Hundred.

COLUMBIANA, O., March 30.—Coxey has rejoined his cohorts, the army is among Populists, and the commonweal is enjoying a big boom. The Farmers' Alliance provided three wagon loads of provisions, and two of wood. Beef, hams, coffee and 1000 loaves of bread, will furnish the commonweal with provisions for three days, at least.

In a speech, Carl Browne said he was being misrepresented by 40 argus-eyed demons of hell, who followed him around. He meant the reporters, and has given orders to keep newspaper men out of camp.

Three hundred people welcomed the crowd of 108 soldiers to Columbiana, and the citizens provided Johnson's foundry as a camp. Straw beds were provided.

Thirty-six recruits from East Liverpool joined the ranks. This town has a Coxey club with 58 members, of which John Harold is chairman. After seeing the army Harold said that while he sympathized with Coxey's principles, he could not countenance such an army of tramps to force legislation.

Coxey says success is assured, but refuses to speak of his financial troubles.

AN UNDERGROUND RAILWAY

For Smuggling Opium Through Canada to the United States.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The customs officials have in custody a man who is believed to be one of the principles in a big opium smuggling scheme, and warrants are out for others who are believed to be implicated in smuggling many thousands of dollars' worth of the narcotic into the United States by way of Canada.

The man under arrest says that his name is Samuel Tilford Rowe, and that he lives in this city. A policeman noticed Rowe passing through Mott street, with a large package under his arm. The man's actions were suspicious, and the policeman took him to the police station. There his package was opened, and was found to contain 40 cans of opium, which did not bear the government stamp, and had clearly been smuggled.

He was remanded to the custody of special inspectors of the treasury department. Postal orders which were found in Rowe's pockets and which he was about to forward to people in Toronto, throw considerable light on the smuggling scheme, it is claimed, furnishing the names of the parties who probably attended to getting the opium through Canada.

VESPER CLUB

It Reproduces the Famous Midway Plaisance.

BEST BURLESQUE EVER GOTTEN UP IN LOWELL.

Merry Song Dedicated to the Champion Bowlers.

It was truly the Vesper's night when the club house hall was well filled with members last evening, on the occasion of the annual meeting.

In anticipation of the entertainment which was to follow the business, every member who could possibly get there was out.

President Butler presided, and after the financial report which showed the club to be in a very prosperous condition, Secretary Swapp read his annual report, prefacing it with a short sketch of the club and its year of activity. Here are a few extracts which are of interest to the general public:

"The Vesper Boat club has reached another mile stone in its existence and as we look back and review the year's history, we find that the club has had one of the most prosperous years since its organization. Strong financially, strong in numbers and strong in its well known high reputation. It stands the leading athletic club of our city."

Then following an account of the annual meeting and the smoke talk.

"Early in May the club navy was put in repair. This consists of five canoes, five single working boats, two double working boats and three pleasure boats.

"The canoes and pleasure boats were in constant demand, but some of the working boats were hardly taken from the racks. This was owing to the fact that the boats are old and of slow model. The time was when these same working boats were used not only for exercise but for parties, for picnics, etc. The canoes and pleasure boats have now taken their place and I would advise that at least four of these working boats be sold and that the club add to its navy two or three light weight working boats. If we had the right kind of boats it would be a great help towards keeping up the interest in rowing."

Mention was made of the proposed June regatta and the two outings.

"Early in the season it became evident, that bicycling was to be a feature of the club. The committee recognizing this had the east side of the ground floor arranged with bicycle stalls; about this time a large number of Lowell Cycle club men became Vesper members which makes the number of club riders 65. The following officers were chosen: the present club president, secretary and treasurer, with George H. Stevens, captain; L. H. Swift, 1st lieutenant; A. S. Baker, 2d lieutenant; standard bearer, James Thorpe; buglers, F. A. Baker and F. S. Beau.

"Throughout the season club runs were held, all the surrounding towns were visited, runs being made to Salem, Gloucester, Boston, Nashua, Concord, Groton, the "Hermitage" at Littleton, and the "Indians" at Dunstable, also to Newport. But bicycling has not been all pleasure. In the races round and about Lowell the Vesper club has been well representing. Dr. Charles E. Snyder entered eleven events, and won four first and four second prizes. He holds the one mile championship of Lowell, and at Brockton on Labor day he won the half mile open scratch race. Edward Buffum won the ten mile handicap race at Portsmouth, N. H. J. W. Slidebottom won three events, one and two mile open race at the cricket grounds; the two mile race at the Fair grounds. G. H. Stevens won the Century medals covering 100 miles inside of 15 hours on three occasions in less than 10 hours riding time. The Vesper club was admitted to the L. A. W.; and joined the Associated Cycling club of Boston and vicinity. Messrs. Goulding and Buffum are on the board of management; Messrs. Butler and Stevens are officers of the Massachusetts division of the L. A. W., and E. H. Shattuck is local consul. The interest in the sport seems to be on the increase."

Reference was made to lawn tennis and the tournaments and winners. Rev. C. W. Huntington won the city championship and James Thorpe second prize.

Quite a lengthy and interesting review is given of the canoeing season, especially of the big A. C. A. meet with an account of the prize winning of Messrs. Butler, Goddard and Gray. He wound up by saying: "It is a cold A. C. A. meet when the V. B. C. does not get there." (Applause.)

The Bowling Team.

Oct. 2., the executive committee elected H. J. Corwin to be captain of the league bowling team, he to have full power to select and manage the team. To prove that he did his duty you have only to refer to the history of the season just closed. Our club was one of the eight cracks in the first division and the team played two games with each club one at home and one away. It won 13 straight games and first place in the division. It led the league in total pins and rolled the highest team single string. Capt. Corwin made the highest three string total, and established a new record for three strings away from home. At the roll off of the finals with the Melrose A. A. and Les Miserables the Vespers won by rolling in splendid championship form. Thus our club team after three years' rolling has won the championship and made a record of which every Vesper man may well be proud. In the team were Capt. H. J. Corwin, F. H. Grover, C. E. Goulding, James Thorpe, C. F. Harris, J. K. and S. T. Whittier and Julian C. Hood. These men in order to do this have practically given up all their time outside of business hours, and have been put to considerable personal expense; when you stop to consider the reputation they have established for the club throughout the state, not only as scientific bowlers but for good, honest fellowship, that they have won not only the championship but have brought to this club house the champion silver shield, and for the division prize, a handsome punch bowl and ladle, it must be clear to all that this club owes them a vote of thanks and that we should recognize their work by some substantial gift.

Presented Silver Mugs.

Your committee therefore have voted to present to each man who rolled on the team a silver mug suitably inscribed, to be their own personal property. Capt. Corwin won the special prize offered for the highest three string total. The attendance at league games was so large that accommodation in the alleys were badly cramped.

Reference was made to the club tourneys, one of which is not completed, Team Five—C. H. Howard, A. E. Swapp, W. F. Coburn, G. E. Perley and W. B. Hart won the fall tournament. The report states that it is a matter of deep regret that we cannot have at least four alleys instead of two.

Meetings of the executive committee were reported.

With the resignations of the year and the new members the club consists of 181 active and 22 non-resident members; total 203.

In reviewing the work of the past year we find canoeing as brisk as ever. A large number of private canoes have been added to our already large fleet.

Tennis can never be a very popular sport in our club on account of most of our members not being able to give the necessary time during the day.

The number of private steamers owned by club members will make it necessary for the committee to make permanent arrangement for wharfage.

The bowling committee has no plan to suggest on changing the alleys. Richard Gair, the janitor, was highly commended.

New Club Grounds.

"This club since its beginning has never stood still; it has steadily progressed and in order to keep at the top it must still push forward. The time was when this house answered every purpose; now it is not so. Then it was only a summer boat club, now it is the leading athletic club in our city; here all athletic sports are encouraged.

"To increase the interest in boating, canoeing, cycling, we must have some resort which can be reached by both river and road where Vesper men may gather for out door sports. With increased facilities for our bowling and a Vesper outing ground, there is no question but our membership will be so largely increased that all sports can be encouraged so that it will keep the V. B. C., as it is now everywhere the finest club of its kind in existence. You may meet in your travels tennis players, bowlers, cyclers, canoeists, and as soon as it becomes known that you are a Vesper man a cordial, hearty reception is assured you."

Election of Officers.

Above report was enthusiastically received. Then proceeding to election of officers the following was the result: Paul Butler, president; D. S. Goddard and G. H. Stevens, vice presidents; A. G. Swapp, secretary; C. E. Goulding, treasurer; (all re-elected, Mr. Butler for the 10th time); directors, S. T. Whittier, H. W. Salmon and Hon. C. D. Palmer; membership committee for two years, J. K. Whittier; R. F. Brazer, George C. Dempsey, Howard Gray, F. A. Baker and L. F. Sherman; auditors, James Thorpe and Julian B. Keyes.

A change in bylaws making the initiation fee $10, and providing that dues shall begin at time of admittance the new member to pay the proportionate part of the dues as determined by time of election, was passed. The meeting then adjourned and the smoke talk began.

The Midway Plaisance.

The program of the evening was entitled "The Midway Plaisance" and proved probably the finest burlesque ever gotten up in this city. It could only be appreciated by those of the club who had "done" the original Midway. The many eccentricities brought out were recognized by those who had seen them at the fair, and Joe Battles' remarkable skill in bringing them out was at once seen.

The Vesper burlesquers never before shone so conspicuously. The costuming and characters were to perfection.

The end of the hall was turned into an oriental parlor with rugs and divans. In it the Nautch girls danced and the oriental musicians played.

First of all Willis Farrington, who made an ideal fakir, hung out a sign "They won't allow me to talk" illustrating one of the phases of the Midway. The scenes and comments, with many local hits were given by cards. The musicians were W. D. Marren, J. P. Battles, Aaron Thompson, Howard Gray, H. W. Salmon and Harry Thompson.

South Sea Islander—Joe Bennett, who was a terrible specimen of the aborigine, executed a war club dance. Albert Wheeler, was a perfectly made up Chinaman. Walter Leigh was the town crier of Old Vienna and his Dutch cries were immense.

The big features were the dancers Henry K. Gates, F. A. Baker and E. B. Conant. The two first named executed the famous dances which were tabooed at the fair.

Words will not sufficiently describe the success of their dancing and the ovation they received.

In the second part the bridal procession from the streets of Cairo was reproduced with E. B. Conant as the bride, who rode in astride of C. D. Palmer's donkey. The ovation was a roof raiser. The three dancers executed an eccentric dance with an original song by Howard Gray.

After the second part the club members went below for supper, while James Thorpe took a flash light picture of the "artists."

The other fun of the evening which waxed furious consisted of songs by Robert Hyde, a clever banjoist of Boston, with club choruses, the christening of the new punch bowl and a song by Robert Mudie written so as to cleverly bring in the names of the bowlers. The chorus to the tune of "John Brown" was "The Vespers they are champion bowlers." The smoke talk was over at midnight.

The Vesper Chorus.

(To be sung to the tune of "John Brown's body, etc.")

Capt. Corwin and his brother bowlers four
With all clubs but one, this year, have wiped up the floor.
Lowell of her bowling teams is justly very proud,
And all the sports admit

(Chorus.)
That the Vespers they are champion bowlers,
All the team are dandy rollers,
Deservedly they've won the pennant
Of ninety-three and four.

Grover, he's a darling, and the sphere he handles well;
For proof look up the score book, and the story it will tell.
Harris, who is no chicken, has a style both trim and neat,
So let us once more repeat
(Chorus.)

Then we have a Charles, whose surname 'tis Goulding.
Oft what has seemed certain defeat, he's turned into a win;
Our Boys, the Whittier brothers, they are bowlers, good and true
And this is what we know.
(Chorus.)

What about the genial James who hails from Stidybridge,
He certainly puts up a game that is at times glit-edged.
As an all round man he ranks quite high no matter what the game
And no one can deny
(Chorus.)

Now for our friend Corwin, who is captain of this crew,
I think he's a dude and the same I'm sure do you,
Ask the boys at Norfolk house if he is not a star?
And they also will admit.

(Chorus.)
I really think it would be wrong before my song is done,
To omit friend ex-Mayor Palmer, than whom better there is none,
You must admit he was not wanting, boys, at all your games
And he always will agree.
(Chorus.)

No doubt there are some fellows here who have heard me sing this song
Will wonder who Bob Mudie is, and where does he belong
Well, boys, I live in Boston, but you bet your own sweet life
That I am a Lowell sport (and know)
That the Vespers, etc.:

When you need printing, remember THE SUN.

WERE HER GUESTS.

MISS KATHERINE CUMMISKEY RECEIVED HER FRIENDS.

One of the Season's Most Elaborate Affairs Graced by the Presence of Many Out-of-Town Ladies and Gentlemen.

One of the most delightful social events of the season was the reception given by Miss Katherine Cummiskey of Fletcher street, to her many friends of this city and out-of-town last evening.

The new Associate hall was the scene of the party, and in keeping with the elaborate nature of the affair was very beautifully and extensively decorated. The walls beneath the balconies were tastefully bedecked with pink blanting and white cream lace, neatly arranged, added greatly to the attractive effect. Tropical plants and palms in abundance adorned the stage, nooks and corners.

From 8 to 9 o'clock, the American orchestra rendered an acceptable concert program, during which time the hostess assisted by Miss Adelaide Crowley of this city and Miss Theresa Farrell of Lawrence received her guests. Miss Cummiskey was becomingly attired in white satin, while her assistants wore gowns of plain and figured blue satin.

At 9 o'clock general dancing, including the latest terpsichorean creations, was enjoyed. When 10 numbers had been danced the march to the supper hall was taken, Miss Cummiskey leading, on the arm of Dr. Collier of Boston. The Page Co., catered. After supper dancing was resumed and continued until 2 o'clock. The attendance was such as to make dancing comfortable, and it is needless to state that the party was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The feature of the affair was the large number of exquisite costumes worn by the ladies.

The matrons were Mesdames E. B. Quinn, Robt. E. Crowley and Wm. P. Barry, and the ushers were Messrs. Frank P. Cummiskey, David Cavanaugh, George P. Green, John W. McEvoy and D. J. Murphy.

Who Were There.

Among the guests from abroad were: Dr. Collier, Dr. Stacey, Mr. William Wood, Mr. James Hickey, Mr. John Cudigan, Mr. Daniels and the Misses Costello of Boston; Mr. Joseph Sheehan, Mr. Daniel Donohoe, Mr. Neal Mahoney, Mr. J. P. S. Mahoney, Mr. Thos. Carney, Mr. Jerry Mahoney, the Misses Farrell, Mrs. Morris Curran, Mrs. John Farrell of Lawrence; Miss Linehan, Mr. James Linehan and Mr. Curtiss of Peabody; Dr. Lyons and Miss Lyons of Manchester; Miss Nellie Bayliss of Detroit; Dr. W. R. McGuirk of Providence; Mr. D. E. Murphy of Concord.

LOCAL NOTES.

Mayor Pickman is in Boston today attending the normal school hearing.

The water board last evening heard petitions for pipe extensions in Varnum avenue, Pawtucketville.

Daniel O'Day, John Carroll, Michael Brennan and Annie Brennan are booked by Murphy for the old country.

Mr. George Ryan of White's tannery is happy over the arrival of a daughter. Mrs. Ryan and little Miss Ryan are doing nicely.

Mr. M. J. Mahoney, the popular clerk of the Merrimack Clothing company, is again at his post of duty after a severe illness of malaria.

Over 100 persons attended the regular monthly entertainment and supper of Bay State Colony of Pilgrim Fathers at Bay State hall, last evening. The entertainment was a very pleasing one and at its conclusion supper was served in the banquet hall.

The committee on liquor laws has reported a bill amending the public statutes relative to intoxicating liquors, providing that sales of cider and native wines by the makers thereof, shall be in quantities of not less than 10 gallons, except by a special license.

Mr. Sirios, the Aiken street barber, says a burglar entered his house Saturday evening, but when attacked by the barber in the kitchen he fled through the window. Sirios used a leather billy for a weapon and he believed the intruder was cut about the head.

Officer Farrington this noon arrested two of the drunkest drunks seen in a long time. He found them lying insensible in a yard off Cross street. They were carried bodily to the wagon and from the wagon to their respective cells. Their names could not be learned.

Illegal Liquor Selling.

Joseph Goddu who keeps a drug store at the corner of Merrimack and Cabot streets, and who was arrested for illegal liquor selling was found guilty in the police court yesterday and fined $100. The liquor officers testified to having gone to his place of business and found that sales had been made for which nothing that would cover the law could be shown. They also seized a considerable quantity of liquor. Goddu appealed and was held in $300 for the Superior court.

THE CITY COMMITTEE.

VERY IMPORTANT MEETING OF THAT BODY LAST NIGHT.

Resolution Presented to Read Four Democratic Councilmen Out of the Party—Caucuses to be Held April 30th.

The democratic city committee met last night.

Councilman Sparks, O'Connell, Ryan and Robinson, and ex-Councilman Nolan were read out of the party.

Frank J. Donohoe introduced the resolutions expelling these gentlemen from the democratic party.

The fixing of the date for the caucuses for the selection of the new democratic city committee caused considerable discussion.

Several dates were named and a motion was offered to have them called for April 27. Frank J. Donohoe moved as an amendment that the date be the 30th. The amendment was accepted and then Edward W. Rodgers argued in favor of having the caucuses called later in the year, about the month of August or September. This would have the effect of disposing of the charges of the committee, entering to cliques and politicians.

Mr. Donohoe also spoke in favor of Mr. Rodgers' suggestion.

Chairman Farley stated that in order to have the caucuses called for August or September, it would be necessary to amend the constitution. The question then came on the motion to hold the caucuses April 30, and the motion passed.

Marcellus Fletcher moved that all candidates for the committee be obliged to hand in their name, with 25 cents, to the printing committee, on or before April 27. An amendment was offered that the names be handed to the ward executive, but this was opposed on the ground that the ward executive would be charged with fixing up the ticket. Mr. Fletcher's motion then passed.

Donohoe's Resolution.

Mr. Frank J. Donohoe then arose and handed to Secretary Mead a set of resolutions he desired to have read.

The resolutions called for the expulsion of Thomas J. Sparks, John Nolan, John J. O'Connell, John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the democratic party; and of John J. Ryan and Anthony A. Robinson from the city committee. The resolution went further and asked that these gentlemen be prohibited from participating in democratic caucuses either as candidates or voters; that the printing committee be instructed in making up ballots to reject their applications to print their names; that the resolutions be read in Wards 1, 3 and 6 at the opening of the city committee caucuses and that the chairman of said caucuses are instructed to reject the ballots of said Ryan, Robinson, Sparks, Nolan and O'Connell if they offer to vote.

The resolutions created a lengthy discussion in which at least a dozen participated, Councilman Ryan protested vigorously but to no avail, and the resolutions were adopted.

John E. Maguire then arose and wanted to have the vote reconsidered claiming that he desired to add the names of a few other gentlemen, particularly Overseers of the Poor Gookin and Keefe. Then followed more talk in which John F. Curtis figured prominently. The motion to reconsider was lost and the committee then adjourned.

It is understood that Mr. Maguire's grievance against Overseers Gookin and Keefe is because they refused to vote for him for secretary of the overseers of the poor.

It is not quite apparent why he should desire Messrs. Keefe's and Gookin's expulsion, when every other member of the board is a democrat, except Mayor Pickman, and refused to vote for Mr. Maguire, as is evident from Mr. Richardson's unanimous election.

SEEN AND HEARD.

The book "Heavenly Twins" which is still largely called for at the city library, has gone through a New York edition of 17,000 copies.

The new word, or perhaps it isn't so new after all, for it is commonly used in England, is "knobsticks in place of "scabs." It is to be hoped that the name will not become a familiar one hereabouts.

OFFICIAL COURTESY.

It is Extended to the City Treasurer-elect by the Out-going Treasurer.

The following correspondence between City Treasurer Chadwick and City Treasurer-elect, John H. Harrington will be read with interest, and is self-explanatory:

LOWELL, Mass., March 28, 1894.

John H. Harrington, Esq., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: Please accept my congratulations upon your election as city treasurer.

After a careful audit of my accounts, under the direction of the committee on accounts, I shall be ready to transfer them to you upon your qualification as city treasurer.

Meanwhile any courtesies of the office that may be of assistance in preparing you for your new duties will be very readily extended.

I am,

Very respectfully yours,
AUSTIN K. CHADWICK.

LOWELL, Mass., March 29, 1894.

Dear Sir: I beg leave to acknowledge the receipt of your note of yesterday and to thank you for the generous sentiments therein expressed.

I shall be pleased to accept your kind offer, and will visit the office at an early day.

Anticipating the great pleasure it will give me to meet you and your courteous assistants.

I remain,

Very respectfully yours,
JOHN H. HARRINGTON.

Austin K. Chadwick, City Treasurer, Lowell, Mass.

A Sewer Hearing.

A meeting of the committee on sewers was held last evening, and a hearing was given on the petition to extend the Gorham street sewer from the end of Manchester street to Cossgrove street. P. O'Neil, W. W. Clark, John C. Peal, George Ensley and others argued in favor and there was no opposition.

After the hearing bids were opened for brick and drain pipe. Edward Cawley was awarded the contract for furnishing brick and Cleveland J. Cheney for drain pipe.

Relative to drawing of the general sewer loan, to complete the Centralville sewer, the members of the committee were of the opinion that such could not be done. Already over $40,000 of the $80,000 appropriated for the Centralville sewer is spent, and the sewer is only half built.

License Applications Come In.

License applications are being filed with a rush at the city clerk's office today. There are close on to 100 filed already. The time for receiving applications expires at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Sheldon, J.

The case of Benjamin F. Abbott vs. Merrimack Manufacturing Co. was on trial all day yesterday. The machine by which the plaintiff was injured was shown in court to enable the jury to understand better its workings. The case in all probability will not be finished today.

There were no motions heard this afternoon contrary to expectation.

BOWLING NEWS.

The Lowells are not quite certain whether they can bowl or not. They intend to keep on sawing wood but such defeats as last night is very much like chopping down trees of lignum vitæ, they don't get there in a hurry.

The Miserables beat them 215 pins, in totals of 2418 to 2203. The winning team put up a great game with string totals of 891, 774 and 843. The individual totals were:

Miserables—Sternberg, 405; D. Donohoe, 525; G. Kelly, 453; H. Farrell, 531; W. Kily, 444.

Lowells—McCurdy, 418; Seede, 460; J. Farrell, 422; Buckland, 432; Murray, 405.

The Pastimes No. 1 team while winning all right came very near getting into a pocket for one of their opponents on the Baker's put up 515, and Baker himself 498, the team total being over 2300. But Wilson came to the rescue with 542, and the totals stood 2372 to 2301.

Pastimes—Brown 437, Wilson 542, Campbell 486, Young 440, Simmons 458.

Baker's—Baker 498, Sherwood 397, Loupret 480, W. Purcell 515, McMahon 455.

HAYES HISSED.

Liveliest Sort of a Scene on the Floor of the House.

Rep. W. H. H. Hayes made a vigorous attack upon the right of women to vote on the floor of the house yesterday afternoon, and he was hissed by women in the galleries.

POLICE COURT.

Hadley, J.

Two drunks were in court this morning. One was placed on probation and the other fined $9.

The case of Mary Fahey, who smashed 14 panes of glass, a few evenings ago, was called this morning. Mary pleaded guilty to the charges of drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass. She received a sentence of four months in the workhouse for drunkenness, while the glass case was placed on file.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

A high mass of requiem was offered up at St. Andrew's church, North Billerica, at 9 o'clock this morning, for the repose of the soul of Lucy Maxwell. A large congregation was present. Rev. Fr. McAvinnie, O. M. I., celebrated the mass. Burial was in the Catholic cemetery in this city.

The remains of Catherine Wayland were forwarded to Bucksport, Me., this afternoon for interment.

STREET RAILWAY MATTERS.

In the Senate, Yesterday, Mr. Fitzgerald of Suffolk, Made a Plea Against the Bill to Authorize the Lowell and Suburban Street Railroad to Extend Its Tracks for Electricity.

He said that it was a stock watering operation. The legislature should not become a party to a scheme to issue stocks and bonds to an unlimited amount without any representative value behind the issue. A motion to table the petition after lengthy discussion was lost.

Miss White's Concert.

A delightful concert was given in Mechanics hall last evening by Miss Villa White. She has a remarkably fine voice, powerful and rich, and showing the control which culture can give. She sang for nearly an hour and was accompanied by Mrs. Haskell of Boston.

St. Patrick's Mission.

The mission at St. Patrick's church continues to draw immense crowds nightly. Last evening, Rev. Fr. Donaghue, C. M., preached an eloquent, powerful sermon on the vices. The number at confession was very large, and priests from the outside parishes assisted.

Marriage Intentions.

Arthur Jodoin, 21, to Lida J. Gingras, 23.

Edmond St. Laurent, 23, to Virginie Boisvert, 17.

Albert Lotstyre, 20, to Caroline Masicotte, 23.

Outside Spring garments for boys and children.

Natty blue serge and fancy Cheviot Reefers, with deep collars, for children 3 to 8 years.

Covert Coats for boys, miniature copies of our men' Coverts, 3 years to 14.

Blue Rough Faced Serge and mixed Cheviot Reefers, 10 years to 16.

Spring Overcoats and Covert Coats, 10 years to 18.

It follows naturally that the new Spring Suits are here to go with the top coats.

Attractive little outfits for youngest children; single breast plaited Norfolk Blouses and double-breast jackets, with short trousers for larger lads, the new idea, and rightly made. Possibly in Boston the assortment may be rivalled, but not here.

Your money back for clothes you don't like.

SOME RATTLING BOUTS.

LOWELL SPORTS LOOK ON WHILE BOYS PUNCH.

One Six-Round Battle Ended in a Draw While Four Other Contests Were Friendly Bouts for Points.

The spotting blood about town is a little warmer now adays for quite often a "mill" is held on the q. t. just across the city line. Some of the mills are pretty lively too, and occasionally there is a knock-out. The affairs are always friendly, and no stakes are put up so they cannot be called breaches of the peace.

A six bout mill was the event which sent 300 sports into the suburbs last night. All were mighty interesting although they lack the flavor which comes from having a stake up.

The Moriarty brothers are said to have boxed four rounds for points; Armstrong and Saunders, four rounds for the same object, and three other bouts by local celebrities for decisions, the whole winding up with a drawn six round "go" between Dolan of Lowell and Arnold of Dracut, which the master of ceremonies called a draw.

All the big sports were there, together with bottle-holders and rubbers-down.

A TOOTHSOME PIG.

Made the Boys Think of the Roasts at Corbett's Pond.

Frank L. Richard, the well-known and popular druggist, entertained a large and jolly gathering at his home, 67 Lilley avenue, Wednesday evening. A delicious pig roast proved very appetizing to the company, and several side dishes were provided under the direction of Nap. Provencher.

"Bobbie" Saunders, "Billie" Flynn and "Charlie" Swan, the "Pepper Trio," rendered several of their melodious selections without the aid of a piano or harmonica. Ex-Alderman Choate played the jews-harp and ex-Councilman Constantineau entertained the assemblage with selections on the concertina. The most interesting feature of the evening was the novel recitation by "Picket" Mead. Mr. Mead is the possessor of considerable dramatic ability, and delivers humorous and sentimental pieces with the same pleasing effect. His rendition of "The pen and ink brigade" elicited hearty applause.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE.

Scenic Artists Now Preparing the New Stage Equipment.

From present indications, the attractions at Lakeview during the coming season will surpass those of all previous years. The theatre will be run this year by Mr. James Gilbert of Boston who made a big success of it during the latter part of last season. He will probably run comic operas with a high class company.

Some fine scenery is being painted for the theatre under the direction of Joseph Harrington, assisted by William H. Mulcahey. Four drops have been completed up to date. They represent street, garden, landscape and horizon scenes. The latter two are taken from scenes in Ireland and are said to be very agreeable to the eye. Besides these a scene representing a prison, kitchen and parlor are being painted and they promise to be as fine as anything offered by a local play house. The necessary wings, set doors, borders and balustrades have been finished, and when the theatre opens it will be found very well equipped with scenery.

OUR THEATRES.

OPERA HOUSE—Tonight the merry comedy of "Jane" will be seen. It is a clean comedy and with Miss Yeamans as "Jane" will no doubt be very enjoyable.

The minstrel season is nearly passed but Lew Dockstader will be here tomorrow and Sunday evening to give his excellent concerts.

MUSIC HALL.—Ida Pomeroy is still as charmingly attractive in her new piece as ever. Every night she is enthusiastically greeted by large audience. There will be a matinee tomorrow.

SOME ARMIES want a leader, but in the case of Coxey's crusade, it is the leader that wants the army.

JT GOV. Greenhalge holds to his inaugural address he cannot consistently sign the Fall River police bill. He will show that he meant what he said on inauguration day.

THE PROSPECT of a constitional amendment providing for the referendum in legislation is very encouraging. It will be the safeguard against class legislation and monopolies.

CANADA'S NATIONAL debt is $210,000,000 and still increasing while the population of the country has been reduced by 1,250,000 during the last decade. Such is the benign influence of British rule.

E. MOUNET-SULLY, a French comedian, has arrived in this country for a stay of six months. He is accounted an able tragedian and the American public will doubtless give him a cordial reception, but this is not a season of great theatrical successes.

THE FALL River Herald on behalf of its constituency pleads guilty to the charge made by THE SUN of electing two such fledgling legislators as Bullock and Slade. The Herald promises that the mistake will be remedied in November. Pity it cannot be done sooner.

THE ALDERMANIC hearing upon the condition of Long Island has revealed a state of affairs rivalling the tanning of human hides carried on at Tewksbury. Long Island is to Boston what the poor farm is to Lowell. The cruelties and privations to which the inmates have been subjected are appalling if the evidence of Policeman McCaffrey is to be credited. The investigation was much needed.

GRAVESEND WILL hereafter be synonymous with political corruption. Sentences of from six years to twenty-nine days have been imposed upon twenty culprits, from McKane down to the constables who confessed and nobody has the least sympathy for the offenders, because everybody wants the purity of the ballot protected as the very palladium of our freedom, as sacred as the constitution itself.

THE DELEGATION of factory girls conveyed to Washington to attend the hearing on the Wilson bill enjoyed the trip. They were induced to go by the Woman's Republican association to be put on exhibition for political effect. It is just as well that Lowell was not represented on the delegation. The time is fast approaching when women will be posing as democrats and republicans, mugwumps, populists, socialists and silverites.

BLAND BILL VETOED

President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill at serious risk of disrupting the party. The silver men are irrepressible. They have introduced a free coinage measure in the senate which will doubtless be fought strenuously. In order to secure its passage the silverites will defeat the Wilson bill if they can and without their aid congress would find great difficulty in passing the measure. In the face of their opposition the passage of the measure may be impossible. The veto may plunge the administration into new controversies, and increase the feeling of uncertainty that injuriously affects the business interests of the country.

HOW TO BEST GOVERN A CITY.

The city council has accepted an invitation to hear Rev. Mr. Montgomery next Sunday evening on "How to best govern a city." There are a great many problems on which the city council wants information. They want to know how they will build new schools, new bridges, new public buildings, how they will construct new sewers, dispose of the city's garbage without breeding disease, how they will furnish a pure water supply and keep the unemployed from suffering the pangs of hunger —they want to know how to do all these things without unreasonably raising the tax rate. Will Mr. Montgomery please inform them? To this question he will probably give one answer "Stop drinking intoxicating liquors." That is his panacea for the evils of municipal government.

Besides, the city council would like to know how to stop social vices, how to prevent drunkenness and the evils that usually accompany it. To this Mr. Montgomery will answer "Stamp out the saloon."

The city council would also like to know how to check sectarianism which has of late lifted its hideous head in this city, and is setting class against class in the name of righteousness and religion.

Will Mr. Montgomery shed the light of his intelligence upon this important question? He must admit that the best interests of a city require that all classes of citizens mingle together in harmony, and that they be not divided by the demon of religious discord. The old maxim of "A house divided against itself" applies in this case.

These are questions upon which not only the city council but the bulk of the community will be glad to receive instruction and Rev. Mr. Montgomery will have a golden opportunity of giving his views upon them on next Sunday evening.

There is room for improvement in the government of the city, and that the city council realizes this fact and is willing to take lessons in municipal government, is evidenced by their acceptance of Mr. Montgomery's invitation.

Municipal leagues are becoming popular. They are modelled to a great extent upon the principle of our board of trade but their especial mission is the betterment of municipal government, the suppression of vice and crime, the relief of the unemployed and of the poor in general. Such leagues may do good by suggesting reforms and aiding in their accomplishment but they will do harm if they undertake to dictate the policy of municipal governments or to seek a curtailment of the prerogatives of municipalities by appealing to the legislature for police or other commissions which would deprive the people of their right to local self-government.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

First Appearance of "Bore."

The first appearance of this pregnant monosyllable in literature occurs in the letters of Lord Carlisle and of Selwyn, but there it is used to express not a creature, but a state or condition induced by tedium. Thus, in 1767 [illegible] Carlisle writes: "I inclose you a pa[illegible] of letters which, if they are French, the Lord deliver you from the bore!" Thereafter it became common as a verb in the correspondence of the eighteenth century, expressive, apparently, of the intolerable anguish inflicted on their fellows by a class of men and women for whom, as yet, no generic term had been devised, and in that employment it has been admirably explained of late in the New English Dictionary as "to weary by tedious conversation, or simply by the failure to be interesting."

But the nineteenth century had not long dawned before the want became too pressing not to be supplied, and writers began to apply the word bore to the agent—"the tiresome or uncongenial person; one who wearies or worries." They did so timidly at first, with due caveat of inverted commas, but the term took on. It filled a blank that had been felt for 100 years, and it had come into such common use by the twenties that Byron declared:

Society is now one polished horde
Formed of two mighty tribes—the Bores and Bored.

—Nineteenth Century.

Color Sensations.

The three primary color sensations are considered to be red, green and violet. Certain mixtures of violet and green produce a blue. Red and green also give a yellow. But it is important to observe that these are primary color sensations and not primary colors, though the expression "lights of primary colors" is admissible, for it is commonly imagined that the blue and yellow mixed in certain proportions produce various kinds of green. If yellow and blue pigments be mixed together with water, the green color produced is not a mixture of blue and yellow colors. It is the one color which is not freely absorbed either by the yellow or by the blue pigment. The yellow pigment removes the greater part of the blue, indigo and violet rays; the blue pigment removes the greater part of the red, orange and yellow. Thus the light that finally escapes is mainly green.—Longman's Magazine.

A Plucky Feat.

Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton Smith relates this remarkable instance of the confidence of a horse in a firm rider, the horse being an Arab. General Robert Gillespie happened, when mounted on the animal, to be present on the race course of Calcutta during one of the great Hindoo festivals, when several hundred thousand people had assembled. On a sudden an alarm was given that a tiger had escaped from his keepers. Sir Robert immediately snatched a boar spear and rode to attack this formidable enemy.

The tiger was probably confounded by the crowd, but the moment he perceived Sir Robert he crouched to spring at him. At that very instant the gallant soldier on his gallant steed leaped right over him, Sir Robert striking the spear through the animal's spine.—Boston Herald.

Paid For Remaining Single.

A Chinese young lady, living between the long bridge and the city, having lost her betrothed husband through death, made a vow that she would never marry. Out of sympathy for her and admiration of her resolve her relations and friends subscribed among them $1,000, which they have presented to her.—Fuchau Echo.

Troublesome Initials.

Some years ago several wealthy men of Memphis built a steamboat and named it after one of their best citizens, Charles B. Church. But in painting the name on the paddle box, as they wanted the letters large, they put simply the initials, so that the name read "C. B. Church."

When the colored people first caught sight of the boat, they puzzled themselves not a little over this name. Such of them as could read reasoned about the matter at great length.

"What kind ob church am dat C. B. Church?" they queried. "What does de C. B. stan for? Dat's what we want to know."

At length a bright thought struck one of them, and he exclaimed joyfully: "I know what dat 'ere stan for! Wonder I didn't see it 'fore! Dat C. B. stan for Colored Baptis'—it's de Colored Baptis' church, dat's what it is!"

The steamboat went by that name for some time, until the owners, in desperation at the jokes about it, erased the initials and had Charles B. Church painted in full.—Youth's Companion.

A Brief Census.

There was an energetic landlady, a widow, in a large boarding house in New Hampshire, and her brother, who was a widower, joined her in the business enterprise.

It so happened their first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently buried his second wife. The Associated Charities sent out an agent to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and it chanced this was the first house she hit upon.

"Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress.

EASTER GREETING

With what joy does the good Christian anticipate Easter, the most glorious festival of his church? What beautiful music is rendered on that day in all our churches, and for the gay and fashionable what time of the year can compare with Easter, for fashion and gay attire? why none; and then the social circle what charm after the long vigil of Lent? Why, take it altogether there is no time of the year that confers such delight as Easter. And to add to the pleasure of Easter time you have only to get the necessary things which sociability requires and among them I know of nothing more necessary and useful to make you happy at this time than a bottle of good wine, and you can get it so cheap that you ought not to be without it. Send an order to the GLOBE HOTEL and get Three Large Bottles for $1.00, or Five for $1.50, Port or Sherry.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was failing all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

SOME ARMIES want a leader, but in the case of Coxey's crusade, it is the leader that wants the army.

IF GOV. Greenhalge holds to his inaugural address he cannot consistently sign the Fall River police bill. He will show that he meant what he said on inauguration day.

THE PROSPECT of a constitutional amendment providing for the referendum in legislation is very encouraging. It will be the safeguard against class legislation and monopolies.

CANADA'S NATIONAL debt is $240,000,000 and still increasing while the population of the country has been reduced by 1,250,000 during the last decade. Such is the benign influence of British rule.

F. MOUNET-SULLY, a French comedian, has arrived in this country for a stay of six months. He is accounted an able tragedian and the American public will doubtless give him a cordial reception, but this is not a season of great theatrical successes.

THE FALL RIVER Herald on behalf of its constituency pleads guilty to the charge made by THE SUN of electing two such dodging legislators as Bullock and Slade. The Herald promises that the mistake will be remedied in November. Pity it cannot be done sooner.

THE ALDERMANIC hearing upon the condition of Long Island has revealed a state of affairs rivalling the tanning of human hides carried on at Tewksbury. Long Island is to Boston what the poor farm is to Lowell. The cruelties and privations to which the inmates have been subjected are appalling if the evidence of Policeman McCaffrey is to be credited. The investigation was much needed.

GRAVESEND will hereafter be synonymous with political corruption. Sentences of from six years to twenty-nine days have been imposed upon twenty culprits, from McKane down to the constables who confessed and nobody has the least sympathy for the offenders, because everybody wants the purity of the ballot protected as the very palladium of our freedom, as sacred as the constitution itself.

THE DELEGATION of factory girls conveyed to Washington to attend the hearing on the Wilson bill enjoyed the trip. They were induced to go by the Woman's Republican association to be put on exhibition for political effect. It is just as well that Lowell was not represented on the delegation. The time is fast approaching when women will be posing as democrats and republicans, mugwumps, populists, socialists and silverites.

BLAND BILL VETOED.

President Cleveland has vetoed the Bland bill at serious risk of disrupting the party. The silver men are irrepressible. They have introduced a free coinage measure in the senate which will doubtless be fought strenuously. In order to secure its passage the silverites will defeat the Wilson bill if they can and without their aid congress would find great difficulty in passing the measure. In the face of their opposition the passage of the measure may be impossible. The veto may plunge the administration into new controversies, and increase the feeling of uncertainty that injuriously affects the business interests of the country.

HOW TO BEST GOVERN A CITY.

The city council has accepted an invitation to hear Rev. Mr. Montgomery next Sunday evening on "How to best govern a city." There are a great many problems on which the city council wants information. They want to know how they will build new schools, new bridges, new public buildings, how they will construct new sewers, dispose of the city's garbage without breeding disease, how they will furnish a pure water supply and keep the unemployed from suffering the pangs of hunger—they want to know how to do all these things without unreasonably raising the tax rate. Will Mr. Montgomery please inform them? To this question he will probably give one answer: "Stop drinking intoxicating liquors." That is his panacea for the evils of municipal government.

Besides, the city council would like to know how to stop social vices, how to prevent drunkenness and the evils that usually accompany it. To this Mr. Montgomery will answer "Stamp out the saloon."

The city council would also like to know how to check sectarianism which has of late lifted its hideous head in this city, and is setting class against class in the name of righteousness and religion.

Will Mr. Montgomery shed the light of his intelligence upon this important question? He must admit that the best interests of a city require that all classes of citizens mingle together in harmony, and that they be not divided by the demon of religious discord. The old maxim of "A house divided against itself" applies in this case.

These are questions upon which not only the city council but the bulk of the community will be glad to receive instruction and Rev. Mr. Montgomery will have a golden opportunity of giving his views upon them on next Sunday evening.

There is room for improvement in the government of the city, and that the city council realizes this fact and is willing to take lessons in municipal government, is evidenced by their acceptance of Mr. Montgomery's invitation.

Municipal leagues are becoming popular. They are modelled to a great extent upon the principle of our board of trade but their especial mission is the betterment of municipal government, the suppression of vice and crime, the relief of the unemployed and of the poor in general. Such leagues may do good by suggesting reforms and aiding in their accomplishment but they will do harm if they undertake to dictate the policy of municipal governments or to seek a curtailment of the prerogatives of municipalities by appealing to the legislature for police or other commissions which would deprive the people of their right to local self-government.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

First Appearance of "Bore."

The first appearance of this pregnant monosyllable in literature occurs in the letters of Lord Carlisle and of Selwyn, but there it is used to express not a creature, but a state or condition induced by tedium. Thus, in 1767 [illegible] Carlisle writes: "I inclose you a pa[illegible] of letters which, if they are French, the Lord deliver you from the bore!" Thereafter it became common as a verb in the correspondence of the eighteenth century, expressive, apparently, of the intolerable anguish inflicted on their fellows by a class of men and women for whom, as yet, no generic term had been devised, and in that employment it has been admirably explained of late in the New English Dictionary as "to weary by tedious conversation, or simply by the failure to be interesting."

But the nineteenth century had not long dawned before the want became too pressing not to be supplied, and writers began to apply the word bore to the agent—"the tiresome or uncongenial person; one who wearies or worries." They did so timidly at first, with due caveat of inverted commas, but the term took on. It filled a blank that had been felt for 100 years, and it had come into such common use by the twenties that Byron declared:

Society is now one polished horde

—Nineteenth Century.

Color Sensations.

The three primary color sensations are considered to be red, green and violet. Certain mixtures of violet and green produce a blue. Red and green also give a yellow. But it is important to observe that these are primary color sensations and not primary colors, though the expression "lights of primary colors" is admissible, for it is commonly imagined that the blue and yellow mixed in certain proportions produce various kinds of green. If yellow and blue pigments be mixed together with water, the green color produced is not a mixture of blue and yellow colors. It is the one color which is not freely absorbed either by the yellow or by the blue pigment. The yellow pigment removes the greater part of the blue, indigo and violet rays—the blue pigment removes the greater part of the red, orange and yellow. Thus the light that chiefly escapes is mainly green.—Longman's Magazine.

A Plucky Feat.

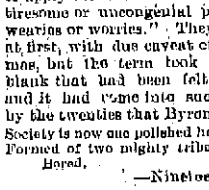

Lieutenant Colonel Hamilton Smith relates this remarkable instance of the confidence of a horse in a firm rider, the horse being an Arab. General Robert Gillespie happened, when mounted on the animal, to be present on the race course of Calcutta, during one of the great Hindoo festivals, when several hundred thousand people had assembled. On a sudden an alarm was given that a tiger had escaped from his keepers. Sir Robert immediately snatched a boar spear and rode to attack this formidable enemy.

The tiger was probably confounded by the crowd, but the moment he perceived Sir Robert he crouched to spring at him. At that very instant the gallant soldier on his gallant steed leaped right over him, Sir Robert striking the spear through the animal's spine.—Boston Herald.

Troublesome Initials.

Some years ago several wealthy men of Memphis built a steamboat and named it after one of their best citizens, Charles B. Church. But, in painting the name on the paddle box, as they wanted the letters large, they put simply the initials, so that the name read "C. B. Church."

When the colored people first caught sight of the boat, they puzzled themselves not a little over this name. Such of them as could read reasoned about the matter at great length.

"What kind ob church am dat C. B. Church?" they queried. "What does de C. B. stan for? Dat's what we want to know."

At length a bright thought struck one of them, and he exclaimed joyfully: "I know what dat 'ere stan for! Wonder I didn't see it 'fore! Dat C. B. stan for Colored Baptis'—it's de Colored Baptis' church, dat's what it is!"

The steamboat went by that name for some time, until the owners, in desperation at the jokes about it, erased the initials and had Charles B. Church painted in full.—Youth's Companion.

A Brief Census.

There was an energetic landlady, a widow, in a large boarding house in New Hampshire, and her brother, who was a widower, joined her in the business enterprise.

It so happened their first guests were a young widow and her father, who had recently buried his second wife. The Associated Charities sent out an agent to investigate a case of distress in that neighborhood, and it chanced this was the first house she hit upon.

"Of whom does your family consist?" she inquired of the mistress.

EASTER GREETING

With what joy does the good Christian anticipate Easter, the most glorious festival of his church? What beautiful music is rendered on that day in all our churches, and for the gay and fashionable what time of the year can compare with Easter, for fashion and gay attire? why none; and then the social circle what charm after the long vigil of Lent? Why, take it altogether there is no time of the year that confers such delight as Easter. And to add to the pleasure of Easter time you have only to get the necessary things which sociability requires and among them I know of nothing more necessary and useful to make you happy at this time than a bottle of good wine, and you can get it so cheap that you ought not to be without it. Send an order to the GLOBE HOTEL and get Three Large Bottles for $1.00, or Five for $1.50, Port or Sherry.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was falling all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

SEAL FISHERY

U. S. Vessels Patrol Pearl River Harbor.

A SCHEME OF GREAT BRITAIN IS PROPOSED.

The London Standard Praises Ambassador Bayard.

WASHINGTON, March 30. — When Admiral John C. Walker sails from San Francisco on April 5, he will carry with him instructions having a most important bearing on the Behring sea question, all speculation to the contrary notwithstanding.

Admiral Walker was not selected by the president for this mission on account of any threatening condition of affairs in Hawaii for the official advices received from that country gave no hint of trouble or of a restoration to be expected in the near future, and Admiral Walker's stay at Hodolulu will not extend over two months at most.

Of course, if during his stay trouble should arise, he will be in a position to command the situation, but there is no such expectation, and the admiral's mission has to do primarily with the seal question.

The arbitration just concluded provides for a joint protection by the United States and Great Britain over the seal waters, and the two nations are bound to secure, if they can, the co-operation of other interested nations—Russia, Japan and China, and perhaps Germany.

A Great Undertaking.

The policing of the seal waters, which had previously been a temporary expedient, was made a permanent charge upon the parties to the arbitration, and the difficulties in the execution of the task had been enormously increased by the vast extent of the protected zone, fixed by the arbitration, comprising all of the Pacific ocean east of the 180th meridian and north of the 35th paralell and Behring sea.

If the effort to secure the co-operation of Russia and Japan and China should succeed, of which there is every promise, the zone would be still further extended, so as to include the Western Pacific to the shores of Asia. No such task as this —the policing of a vast ocean—was ever before undertaken, and it became necessary to devise a system by which this could be done effectively, economically and permanently, by the combined action of the nations interested.

The first requisite to an effective and economical patrol was the establishment of a permanent basis of supply. There will probably be three of these—San Francisco on the east, Yokohama on the west, and Pearl harbor, Hawaii, in the center, all on the lower boundary of the protected zone.

Looking Over Pearl Harbor.

The first two are already within reach, and it is the establishment of the third which had caused Admiral Walker's journey to Hawaii. He will select the best location, looking to its adaptability to the supply, and, in a limited way, repair of the cruisers engaged in the patrol service, estimate the difficulties to be met in dredging a channel across the bar at the entrance to Pearl harbor, and upon his report to the president, will depend the expenditure of the $250,000 which for years has been at the disposal of the president for the establishment of naval stations.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard this morning says editorially: It is due to Ambassador Bayard that we testify to the friendly and sympathetic temper in which he has throughout performed his share in the Behring sea negotiations. Thus a pleasant ending will close an exceedingly unpleasant clash of opinion between the two nations.

We doubt that after a certain amount of grumbling and remonstrance on the part of the unreasonable and grasping Canadian fishermen, that it will be universally recognized that everything has been saved for Canada that could reasonably be claimed. Neither need we harbor any misgivings as to the manner in which America will carry out the award of the tribunal of arbitration.

The absolutely amicable and pacific spirit that has animated the conduct of the matter throughout constitutes an effective guarantee that any future differences will be settled in the same rational and friendly manner.

Embraced In the River and Harbor Bill. New England Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The river and harbor committee of the house has practically completed the river and harbor bill for this congress, though there may be some minor changes therein when the bill is finally passed on by the committee. The bill makes a total appropriation approximating $9,500,000.

Among the items of appropriation in the bill are the following, no mention being made of points where the amount involved is less than $10,000. The appropriations for harbors are as follows: Maine—Harbor of Camden, $12,000; Rockland, $25,000; Back Cove, $20,000; construction of breakwater from Mt. Desert to Porcupine island, $20,000.

New Hampshire—Harbor of Refuge at Little Harbor, $10,000; Burlington, $10 000

Massachusetts — Continuing improvements of harbor at Boston, $150,000, of which $10,000 may be used in the work in Nantasket beach channel; Nantucket Harbor, $20,000; Newburyport, $20,000; Harbor of Refuge at Sandy Bay, Cape Ann, $150,000; Gloucester, $25,000.

Connecticut—Bridgeport, $10,000; New Haven, $10,000; Duck Island, $25,000; Stamford, $10,000.

Appropriations for rivers and creeks are as follows:

Maine—Kennebec, $20,000; Saco, $10,000.

New Hampshire—Cocheco, $15,000.

Massachusetts—Mystic and Malden, $10,000.

Rhode Island—Pawtucket, $22,500, Providence and Narragansett bay, $17 500.

Connecticut—Connecticut, below Hartford, $20,000; Housatonic, $20,000; Thames, $10,000.

HEALY BOUNCED.

Stormy Meeting of the Directors of the Freeman's Journal.

DUBLIN, March 30.—There were disorderly scenes at the meeting of the directors of The Freeman's Journal. Finally, the annual report was adopted by a vote of 36 to 33. A motion was made and carried to substitute John MacDonald for Timothy Healy as a member of the board. Healy, in a long speech, demanded why he was being displaced.

The motion to remove Mr. Healy caused a disgraceful scene. The meeting was almost instantly in an uproar, and such epithets as "Thundering blackguard" were exchanged.

A similar scene occurred later when Thomas Sexton arose to make an explanation of his own position. Remarks that tended to create disorder were exchanged on all sides, and for a time the situation was very threatening.

When order was somewhat restored, John Dillon arose and declared that if he was ousted from the board of directors, he would not appeal to the country as Mr. Healy had threatened to do, but would do his best for the company.

The motion to remove Healy from the directorate was then put to a vote and was carried by a small majority. When the result was announced, Healy, in high dudgeon quitted the room, followed by a dozen young priests.

A vote was then taken on the motion to replace Dillon. The motion was carried without dissent.

President Cleveland's Veto of the Bland Bill.

BETTER POWER TO ISSUE BONDS URGED.

As a Means of Protecting the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—At 12:25 yesterday, while the roll of the house was being called on a contested election case, Mr Pruden, the president's executive clerk, appeared at the bar of the house, and transmitted the president's special message vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill.

As Mr. Pruden announced that he was directed to transmit a message in writing, and the president's approval of sundry house bills, for a moment the Democrats believed that possibly Mr. Cleveland had signed the Bland bill.

Members rushed down the aisles from all directions and crowded about the speaker's desk. Speaker Crisp himself broke the seal. One glance was enough. "It is veto," said he, and the word was passed from lip to lip.

The news was received with a mixture of joy and sorrow. To a large majority of Democrats the news was a severe blow, and their expressions of dissatisfaction in some cases were loud and emphatic. The Republicans seemed to be greatly elated at the confusion and havoc created in the Democratic camp by the message.

Reasons For the Veto.

In vetoing the bill the president reviews the financial conditions, and says that the recovery being so well under way, nothing should be done to check convalescence. His main objections to the bill are its unfortunate construction, and that it will not maintain parity of the two metals. He says the present perplexities and embarrassments of the secretary of the treasury ought not to be augmented by devolving upon him the execution of a law so uncertain and confused.

He is convinced that the scheme proposed by the second section of the bill is ill-advised and dangerous, and that its ultimate result would be to replace legal tender treasury notes by silver certificates, which are not legal tender.

He closes by urging the desirability of granting to the secretary of the treasury better power than now exists to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve. If this could be done, he thinks the bullion seigniorage now in the treasury could be safely coined.

Text of the Bland Bill.

Section 1. The secretary of the treasury shall immediately cause to be coined, as fast as possible, the silver bullion held in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion, and the issuing of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," to the amount of the seigniorage of such bullion, to wit: The sum of $55,156,981, and such coin and silver certificates issued thereon shall be used in the payment of current expenditures, and the secretary of the treasury, may, in his discretion, if the needs of the treasury demand it, issue silver certificates in excess of said coinage, provided that said excess shall not exceed the amount of the seigniorage, as herein authorized to be coined.

Section 2. After the coinage provided for in the first section of this act, the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be coined into legal tender standard silver dollars as fast as possible, and the coin shall be held in the treasury for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion.

Section 3. As fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued, but shall be cancelled and destroyed, in amount equal to the coin held at any time in the treasury derived from the coinage herein provided for, and silver certificates shall be issued on such coin, in the manner now provided by law, provided that this act shall not be construed to change existing law relating to the legal tender character or mode of redemption of the treasury notes issued under said act of July 14, 1890.

Section 4. A sufficient sum of money is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

Bland's Statement.

Representative Bland, author of the Bland seigniorage bill, authorized the following statement, concerning the veto and its effect upon the future of silver: "The main point of the veto is that the president does not wish to infuse into the currency any more silver until he has more bonds and greater gold reserve.

"He insists on the fight that has been in progress for the last year, on the one hand by those who wish to increase the bonded debt in the interests of national banks by selling bonds for gold and for money to pay the current expenditures of the government, and on the other hand by the representatives of the people, who are opposed to bond issues and in favor of coining the silver bullion—the assets we have on hand—and using this money in the payment of current expenses.

"The message criticizes to some extent the language of the bill, but it states that the veto is not based on that, but on the broader ground that the purposes of the bill, if carried out, would largely inflate the silver currency, while providing no gold basis to preserve the parity.

"The day is fast approaching, when the peoples president' will sign a coinage bill. I intend to do everything in my power to present to the president a free coinage bill, and let him exercise his rules of Lindley Murray on that."

And Still Another.

Representative Hender followed the presentation of the president's veto message by submitting a bill for the coinage of the silver seigniorage. The text is the same as the Bland bill, omitting the second section and some of the explanatory language of the first section. It briefly directs the secretary of the treasury to coin as fast as possible the silver seigniorage into legal tender standard silver dollars. The bill was referred to the coinage committee.

Weavers Give Warning.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Weavers of the Riverside mills yesterday gave a formal notice that a strike would be inaugurated in every branch of the mill if the two-loom system was not abandoned by Monday morning. A conference will be held with the company this afternoon, and a definite decision will probably be reached.

Indicted For Forgery.

THREATENS TO PEACH.

Sutherland Thinks That He Has Been Betrayed by Old Friends.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Herald's Montreal special says Kenneth F. Sutherland, the fugitive ex-justice of Gravesend, who fled to escape one year's imprisonment, is in that city. The correspondent had an interview with Sutherland, who says he went from New York to Buffalo, and thence to Canada. Sutherland seems to feel that he has been betrayed, and it would not be at all surprising if he were to tell everything he knows. His utterances might be looked upon in the nature of an indirect threat to his old political friends in case matters are not "straightened" for him in Brooklyn.

There is a Woman

in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, and a frequent desire to urinate.

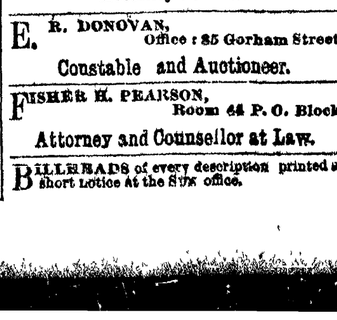

All this time relief was close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West St., who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it also and be cured. It expels tumors, removes backache, invigorates the system.

All druggists keep it for you.

SEAL FISHERY

U. S. Vessels Patrol Pearl River Harbor.

A SCHEME OF GREAT BRITAIN IS PROPOSED.

The London Standard Praises Ambassador Bayard.

WASHINGTON, March 30. — When Admiral John C. Walker sails from San Francisco on April 5, he will carry with him instructions having a most important bearing on the Behring sea question, all speculation to the contrary notwithstanding.

Admiral Walker was not selected by the president for this mission on account of any threatening condition of affairs in Hawaii, for the official advices received from that country gave no hint of trouble or of a restoration to be expected in the near future, and Admiral Walker's stay at Hodolulu will not extend over two months at most.

Of course, if during his stay trouble should arise, he will be in a position to command the situation, but there is no such expectation, and the admiral's mission has to do primarily with the seal question.

The arbitration just concluded provides for a joint protection by the United States and Great Britain over the seal waters, and the two nations are bound to secure, if they can, the co-operation of other interested nations—Russia, Japan and China, and perhaps Germany.

A Great Undertaking.

The policing of the seal waters, which had previously been a temporary expedient, was made a permanent charge upon the parties to the arbitration, and the difficulties in the execution of the task had been enormously increased by the vast extent of the protected zone, fixed by the arbitration, comprising all of the Pacific ocean east of the 180th meridian and north of the 35th paralell and Behring sea.

If the effort to secure the co-operation of Russia and Japan and China should succeed, of which there is every promise, the zone would be still further extended, so as to include the Western Pacific to the shores of Asia. No such task as this —the policing of a vast ocean—was ever before undertaken, and it became necessary to devise a system by which this could be done effectively, economically and permanently, by the combined action of the nations interested.

The first requisite to an effective and economical patrol was the establishment of a permanent basis of supply. There will probably be three of these—San Francisco on the east, Yokohama on the west, and Pearl harbor, Hawaii, in the center, all on the lower boundary of the protected zone.

Looking Over Pearl Harbor.

The first two are already within reach, and it is the establishment of the third which had caused Admiral Walker's journey to Hawaii. He will select the best location, looking to its adaptability to the supply, and, in a limited way, repair of the cruisers engaged in the patrol service, estimate the difficulties to be met in dredging a channel across the bar at the entrance to Pearl harbor, and upon his report to the president, will depend the expenditure of the $250,000 which for years has been at the disposal of the president for the establishment of naval stations.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard this morning says editorially: It is due to Ambassador Bayard that we testify to the friendly and sympathetic temper in which he has throughout performed his share in the Behring sea negotiations. Thus a pleasant ending will close an exceedingly unpleasant clash of opinion between the two nations.

We doubt that after a certain amount of grumbling and remonstrance on the part of the unreasonable and grasping Canadian fishermen, that it will be universally recognized that everything has been saved for Canada that could reasonably be claimed. Neither need we harbor any misgivings as to the manner in which America will carry out the award of the tribunal of arbitration.

The absolutely amicable and pacific spirit that has animated the conduct of the matter throughout constitutes an effective guarantee that any future differences will be settled in the same rational and friendly manner.

Timothy Porter Weds.

TOTAL OF $9,500,000

Embraced in the River and Harbor Bill. New England Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The river and harbor committee of the house has practically completed the river and harbor bill for this congress, though there may be some minor changes therein when the bill is finally passed on by the committee. The bill makes a total appropriation approximating $9,500,000.

Among the items of appropriation in the bill are the following, no mention being made of points where the amount involved is less than $10,000. The appropriations for harbors are as follows: Maine—Harbor of Camden, $12,000; Rockland, $25,000; Pack Cove, $20,000; construction of breakwater from Mt. Desert to Porcupine Island, $20,000.

New Hampshire—Harbor of Refuge at Little Harbor, $10,000; Burlington, $10,000.

Massachusetts — Continuing improvements of harbor at Boston, $150,000, of which $10,000 may be used in the work in Nantasket beach channel; Nantucket Harbor, $20,000; Newburyport, $20,000; Harbor of Refuge at Sandy Bay, Cape Ann, $150,000; Gloucester, $25,000.

Connecticut—Bridgeport, $10,000; New Haven, $10,000; Duck Island, $25,000; Stamford, $10,000.

Appropriations for rivers and creeks are as follows:

Maine—Kennebec, $20,000; Saco, $10,000.

New Hampshire—Cocheco, $15,000.

Massachusetts—Mystic and Malden, $10,000.

Rhode Island—Pawtucket, $22,500; Providence and Narragansett bay, $17,500.

Connecticut—Connecticut, below Hartford, $20,000; Housatonic, $20,000; Thames, $10,000.

HEALY BOUNCED.

Stormy Meeting of the Directors of the Freeman's Journal.

DUBLIN, March 30.—There were disorderly scenes at the meeting of the directors of The Freeman's Journal. Finally, the annual report was adopted by a vote of 35 to 33. A motion was made and carried to substitute John MacDonald for Timothy Healy as a member of the board. Healy, in a long speech, demanded why he was being displaced.

The motion to remove Mr. Healy caused a disgraceful scene. The meeting was almost instantly in an uproar, and such epithets as "Thundering blackguard" were exchanged.

A similar scene occurred later when Thomas Sexton arose to make an explanation of his own position. Remarks that tended to create disorder were exchanged on all sides, and for a time the situation was very threatening.

When order was somewhat restored, John Dillon arose and declared that if he was ousted from the board of directors, he would not appeal to the country as Mr. Healy had threatened to do, but would do his best for the company.

The motion to remove Healy from the directorate was then put to a vote and was carried by a small majority. When the result was announced, Healy, in high dudgeon quitted the room, followed by a dozen young priests.

A vote was then taken on the motion to replace Dillon. The motion was carried without dissent.

President Cleveland's Veto of the Bland Bill.

BETTER POWER TO ISSUE BONDS URGED.

As a Means of Protecting the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—At 12:25 yesterday, while the roll of the house was being called on a contested election case, Mr. Pruden, the president's executive clerk, appeared at the bar of the house, and transmitted the president's special message vetoing the Bland seigniorage bill.

As Mr. Pruden announced that he was directed to transmit a message in writing, and the president's approval of sundry house bills, for a moment the Democrats believed that possibly Mr. Cleveland had signed the Bland bill.

Members rushed down the aisles from all directions and crowded about the speaker's desk. Speaker Crisp himself broke the seal. One glance was enough: "It is veto," said he, and the word was passed from lip to lip.

The news was received with a mixture of joy and sorrow. To a large majority of Democrats the news was a severe blow, and their expressions of dissatisfaction in some cases were loud and emphatic. The Republicans seemed to be greatly elated at the confusion and havoc created in the Democratic camp by the message.

Reasons For the Veto.

In vetoing the bill the president reviews the financial conditions, and says that the recovery being so well under way, nothing should be done to check convalescence. His main objections to the bill are its unfortunate construction, and that it will not maintain parity of the two metals. He says the present perplexities and embarrassments of the secretary of the treasury ought not to be augmented by devolving upon him the execution of a law so uncertain and confused.

He is convinced that the scheme proposed by the second section of the bill is ill-advised and dangerous, and that its ultimate result would be to replace legal tender treasury notes by silver certificates, which are not legal tender.

He closes by urging the desirability of granting to the secretary of the treasury better power than now exists to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve. If this could be done, he thinks the bullion seigniorage now in the treasury could be safely coined.

Text of the Bland Bill.

Section 1. The secretary of the treasury shall immediately cause to be coined, as fast as possible, the silver bullion held in the treasury purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, entitled "an act directing the purchase of silver bullion, and the issuing of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes," to the amount of the seigniorage of such bullion, to wit: The sum of $55,160,981, and such coin and silver certificates issued therefrom shall be used in the payment of current expenditures, and the secretary of the treasury, may, in his discretion, if the needs of the treasury demand it, issue silver certificates in excess of said coinage, provided that said excess shall not exceed the amount of the seigniorage, as herein authorized to be coined.

Section 2. After the coinage provided for in the first section of this act, the remainder of the silver bullion purchased in pursuance of said act of July 14, 1890, shall be coined into legal tender standard silver dollars as fast as possible, and the coin shall be held in the treasury for the redemption of the treasury notes issued in the purchase of said bullion.

Section 3. As fast as the bullion shall be coined for the redemption of said notes, the notes shall not be reissued, but shall be cancelled and destroyed, in amount equal to the coin held at any time in the treasury derived from the coinage herein provided for, and silver certificates shall be issued on such coin, in the manner now provided by law, provided that this act shall not be construed to change existing law relating to the legal tender character or mode of redemption of the treasury notes issued under said act of July 14, 1890.

Section 4. A sufficient sum of money is hereby appropriated to carry into effect the provisions of this act.

Bland's Statement.

Representative Bland, author of the Bland seigniorage bill, authorized the following statement, concerning the veto and its effect upon the future of silver: "The main point of the veto is that the president does not wish to infuse into the currency any more silver until he has more bonds and greater gold reserve.

"He insists on the fight that has been in progress for the last year, on the one hand by those who wish to increase the bonded debt in the interests of national banks by selling bonds for gold and for money to pay the current expenditures of the government, and on the other hand by the representatives of the people, who are opposed to bond issues and in favor of coining the silver bullion—the assets we have on hand—and using this money in the payment of current expenses.

"The message criticizes to some extent the language of the bill, but it states that the veto is not based on that, but on the broader ground that the purposes of the bill, if carried out, would largely inflate the silver currency, while providing no gold basis to preserve the parity.

"The day is fast approaching, when the peoples president will sign a coinage bill. I intend to do everything in my power to present to the president a free coinage bill, and let him exercise his rules of Lindley Murray on that."

And Still Another.

Representative Hender followed the presentation of the president's veto message by submitting a bill for the coinage of the silver seigniorage. The text is the same as the Bland bill, omitting the second section and some of the explanatory language of the first section. It briefly directs the secretary of the treasury to coin as fast as possible the silver seigniorage into legal tender standard silver dollars. The bill was referred to the coinage committee.

Weavers Give Warning.

PROVIDENCE, March 30.—Weavers of the Riverside mills yesterday gave a formal notice that a strike would be inaugurated in every branch of the mill if the two-loom system was not abandoned by Monday morning. A conference will be held with the company this afternoon, and a definite decision will probably be reached.

Indicted For Forgery.

Sutherland Thinks That He Has Been Betrayed by Old Friends.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The Herald's Montreal special says Kenneth F. Sutherland, the fugitive ex-justice of Gravesend, who fled to escape one year's imprisonment, is in that city. The correspondent had an interview with Sutherland, who says he went from New York to Buffalo, and thence to Canada. Sutherland seems to feel that he has been betrayed, and it would not be at all surprising if he were to tell everything he knows. His utterances might be looked upon in the nature of an indirect threat to his old political friends in case matters are not "straightened" for him in Brooklyn.

There is a Woman in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, and a frequent desire to urinate.

All this time relief was close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West St., who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it also and be cured. It expels tumors, removes backache, invigorates the system.

BASE BALL NOTES.

What is Going On Throughout the Country Regarding the Great American Game.

That the base ball season is right at hand is shown by the appearance of Reach's official base ball guide for '94 without which no game of any consequence can be carried on. The guide this year is the finest ever compiled. Every crank should get one.

The "Little Casino" base ball schedule comes to hand as neat and handy as you please. Emil Grossman and company of Cleveland are now convinced that it is indispensable to patrons of the big league games.

The Groves have organized with T. Cull and T. Barrington p., P. Moody 1b., G. Quinn 2b., A. Johnson ss., F. O'Brien 3b., J. Jackson l. f., O. Johnson c. f. They are open to challenges.

The last cold snap has served to somewhat chill the ardor of the base ball cranks, and there are only a few practice games on the common.

Clark of Brockton may yet go to Fall River.

The Portland club has signed catcher James Casey of Amesbury, Mass.

The old Chicago brotherhood team is well distributed, with Conisky, Dwyer and Latham in Cincinnati, Pfeffer in Louisville, Farrell in New York, Duffy in Boston and Boyle in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburg club the coming season will issue free season tickets in book form to ladies, good for games on Tuesdays and Fridays. Heretofore ladies were admitted free on those days, but had to get their tickets at the ground gates each day.

The new Cincinnati diamond is exactly 96 feet from every front foot of the new grand stand. The grand stand will be painted a light green color, with a darker green shading for its trimmings. All the fences and the pavilions will be whitewashed.

Cleveland is now kicking on the schedule. It doesn't want games played in that city during the week of the races. Pittsburg and St. Louis play there during that week. The Cleveland club will endeavor to have the Pittsburg games transferred to that city.

Manager Barnie says he has received several letters from Danny Richardson, according to which the Elmira player is dubious of playing at all this season. He assures Barnie, however, that if he plays with any western club it will be with Louisville.

NEW SPINNING FRAME.

A Recent Patent for Spinning Yarn Direct from the Slubber.

A Fall River machine company has recently completed at its works, for one of the largest corporations in New England, one of its new patented spinning frames for spinning yarn direct from the slubber or intermediate roving. This frame is built as a common spinning frame, except that it has four rolls and condenser. The draft between the first and second back rolls is very light, it being simply just enough to break the twist; between the second and third back rolls the draft is the same as on a fly-frame, or from six to seven; and between the two front rolls the draft is the same as on a spinning frame, say from seven to ten.

This might be thought a heavy draft, but when it is divided up it is no more than by the old process, it being a combination of two machines. It spins a slubber, ½-hank roving, doubling on the frame, thus bringing it down to ½-hank, making No. 13 yarns, although 28s and 36s have been spun on it with the same success. The yarn spun on the frame is even and strong, its breaking strength being fully up to the same numbers of yarn made by the old process.

The advantages in the use of this frame are said to be: First, the cost of fitting up a mill is less, as on coarse yarn the intermediate and fine roving frames are not needed, and on fine work the fine speeders are not required, as in making fine yarns the roving can be used direct from the intermediates, and coarse yarns direct from the slubber. Second, it the cloth should be coming from the loom heavy or light it can be changed almost at once, when with the old process it would take several days; thus the spinner has always complete control of the yarn. Third, it takes less power, supplies, help, etc. The frame has the Kabbeth spindle.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE.

BOSTON BUILDING LAWS TO BE REVISED.

The Use of Seals by Cities and Towns—Bill to Abolish the Death Penalty—The Liquor Law.

BOSTON, March 30.—In the senate, the committee on cities reported a bill revising the building laws of the city of Boston in conformity with a draft reported by a special committee of the Boston Society of Architects.

A bill to compel officials of commissions and municipal departments to adopt seals distinctive from the town or city seals was defeated, the main argument against the measure being that some official in the service of the city of Boston desires to give added dignity to the position he occupies.

Mr. Eastbrook moved that committees having matters before them on which hearings have been ordered, be instructed to report on or before April 2. Laid over.

In the house the committee on liquor law reported a bill providing that sales of cider and native wines, by makers thereof, shall not be sold in quantities of less than 10 gallons without a special license.

It is an open question on whether the judiciary committee will report for or against the bill to abolish the death penalty, with the chances rather against the bill. But whatever the committee may report, Representative Knell is prepared to make a fight for his bill, and in case of an adverse report, he will move to substitute his proposition, which is to substitute imprisonment for life for the death penalty, and to take from the governor the pardoning power, which is only to be exercised by the supreme court when it finds the convict innocent.

At the meeting of the executive council the governor reappointed John Quincy Adams and David P. Kimball as state directors of the Fitchburg railroad.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED.

Herman R French Is Mysteriously Missing From Everett, Mass.

EVERETT, Mass., March 30.—The family and friends of Herman R. French of this city are much perplexed as to what has become of him. He has not been seen at his home since last Saturday morning, at which time he left for his office, 27 Cornhill, Boston, apparently in the best of spirits.

Inquiry at all the hospitals and other institutions in and about the city, where he might have been taken if injured or suddenly bereft of his senses, has failed to reveal the slightest trace of him.

Mr. French has just passed his 54th birthday. He is of medium height, and dark of hair and complexion. His mustache is heavy and gray and his head is partially bald in front. He had no marks on his body by which he could be identified.

When he went away he wore dark trousers, a brown coat and vest, dark overcoat, derby hat and low shoes and gaiters. He carried a gold watch, open face, of Elgin manufacture, across a shield on the back of which was his full name, H. R. French. In his pockets were papers by which he could also easily be identified.

NINE CHARRED BODIES

Found in the Ruins of a Burned Dwelling In a Southern Town.

WHEELING, March 30.—The residence of John Witt at McKendree was burned to the ground yesterday, and with it were cremated eight small children and a servant girl named Mary Hendricks.

Mr. Witt was away from home, leaving his wife and eight children who, with the servant girl, were sleeping alone in the house. At an early hour Mrs. Witt was awakened by the smell of smoke and burning wood and discovered that the lower part of the house was enveloped in flames. The frightened woman ran from the house, but returned immediately and attempted to save her children, but she was forced to give up and barely escaped with her life. The neighbors made heroic efforts to save the nine occupants of the building, but without success.

The house was completely destroyed, and in the ruins were found the charred bodies of the eight children and the servant girl, which will be buried in one grave. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. Mr. and Mrs. Witt are prostrated by the terrible calamity, and it is feared that they will lose their minds.

IN CONGRESS.

Lively Scenes In the House—Senate Passes the McGarrahan Bill.

A Stormy Session.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Filibustering was resumed in the house yesterday on the O'Neill-Joy election case. Scenes of confusion, recalling some of the incidents of the Fifty-first congress, occurred. Speaker Crisp took the floor, and both he and ex-Speaker Reed spoke on the parliamentary questions involved. All sorts of motions and appeals were made. A scene of confusion followed. After a long while Mr. Patterson's resolution for the arrest of members absent without leave was agreed to, yeas, 164; nays, 3. Mr Hainer moved to reconsider the vote just taken, and this introduced another hour's filibustering. While this was going on, however, the leaders of the two sides got the ground and affected an amicable arrangement by which Mr. Hainer withdrew his motion. The house then adjourned.

In the senate, the house joint resolution appropriating $10,000 for carrying out the provisions of the Chinese exclusion act was reported from the committee on appropriations and passed.

The pension appropriation bill was reported from the committee on appropriations, and placed on the calendar. The amount carried is the same passed by the house. An amendment making a pension a vested right was added by the senate committee.

At 2 p. m., the McGarrahan bill was taken up. Mr. George offered an amendment providing that nothing in the bill shall be construed as acknowledging any responsibility on the part of the United States to pay for the land, substance or materials taken, or as assuming any obligation in that behalf.

This amendment was agreed to, and the bill was finally passed without a division. It refers the claim to the court of private land claims.

After an executive session the senate adjourned till Monday.

Hostile Forces Defeated.

BERLIN, March 30.—A dispatch from Major Francois, commander of the German forces in Damaraland, operating against Chief Hendrik Witbooi, stated that he has inflicted two severe defeats upon Chief Witbooi, and believes that he has put an end to the latter's raids against German settlers.

The Celtic and Emerald Associates have decided to move into the new quarters on Market street, recently vacated by the Mathew Temperance Institute.

The new rooms will be fitted up and elegantly furnished, to meet the requirements of these popular organizations.

The first meeting in the new quarters will take place next Tuesday evening, when the Emerald associates will meet. It was found necessary to secure these new quarters in order to better accommodate the largely increasing membership.

The organizations are composed of a number of the most popular young men in the city and are in a very flourishing condition.

FIRED HOT SHOT.

During a Hearing Upon the New Bedford Fire Department.

Down in New Bedford there is an awful row over the fire department. It was precipitated over an attempt to re-organize engine companies under new ordinances. A big hearing was granted by the committee to the fire engineers on certain changes.

Chief Macy opposed the reduction of the size of engine companies from 12 to 10 men. One of his assistant chiefs supported him, while two others opposed him, believing the cut down in force would pay for one permanent captain.

After considerable arguing Councilman Lawton made a savage harangue against the department, during which he said: "It was notorious that drunkards and men of bad moral character were retained in in the department year after year. There has been permanent drivers employed who were frequently too drunk to drive one horse, let alone two horses, attached to valuable fire apparatus. It is a damnable disgrace," he said, "that the chief of the fire department employs drunkards for drivers in preference to men of good moral character." Mr. Lawton charged that it was notorious. In a previous year he recommended a man as a sober, moral man, to three of the board of engineers, and they said: "That isn't the kind of a man the chief wants."

Chief Macy said it had been his endeavor to employ sober men and he thought the present drivers were such. He considered it was in bad taste for the three engineers named by Mr. Lawton to put the blame for appointments on the chief when they hired the men as much as he did. He didn't think much of such engineers.

The hearing is not yet finished.

CITY TIED UP.

Affairs Assume a New Phase In Denver's Great Squabble.

DENVER, March 30.—Judge Glynn has issued an order for an injunction restraining the old police board from interfering with the new board pending the settlement of the controversy between the two boards in the court, on the quo warranto proceedings. The sheriff is also enjoined from taking a hand in the controversy.

As Judge Allen's injunction restrains the new board from interfering with the old board, the two injunctions leave the city in almost the same state as martial law would. The police and fire departments are tied up, and even the sheriff could not act in case the partisans of the two warring boards should clash.

Must Share Profits.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The government has decided that henceforth all American insurance companies conducting operations in the empire must divide their profits with the insured after the policies have been in effect for four years. Policies already issued are exempt from the provisions of this regulation.

Reconstructing the New England.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Judge Wallace has granted permission to Thomas C. Platt and Marsden J. Perry, receivers of the New York and New England railroad, to execute to the United States government and the customhouse authorities a number of bonds to enable them to carry on the business of the company.

An Osculatory Performance.

ABBAZIA, March 30.—The Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria met at Mattuglie, the end of the railway route to Abbazia. They embraced and kissed one another. After the greeting the emperors went to Abbazzia. The inhabitants assembled and cheered along the entire route.

Many Lives Lost.

WARSAW, March 30.—The shaft of a coal mine at Koszelew collapsed yesterday. Thus far 11 bodies have been recovered, and a number of miners have been removed from the mine, seriously injured.

Discouraged by Poor Health.

SAVANNAH, March 30.—Stephen Elliott, Jr., a prominent young man, assistant manager of the Cotton press here, who had been in ill health, committed suicide by shooting himself.

BRECKINRIDGE'S STORY

OF HIS FIRST MEETING WITH MISS POLLARD.

He Was Lured Away by the Young Woman—How the Gallant Colonel Was Cajoled by a Girl.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Had an alien, untutored in the king's English, dropped into the circuit court yesterday afternoon, he might have received the impression that the benevolent elderly-looking gentleman, with ruddy face and waves of snowy hair and beard, who held the open-mouthed attention of 200 men while he discussed in a slow, mellifluous tone, was preaching a sermon from the gospel of peace.

This mistake would have been a natural one, but it would have been a mistake, for the elderly gentleman with the scriptural head, was the silver-tongued orator of Kentucky, Congressman Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, and he was telling to 12 of his peers, and incidentally to the world at large, the story of his intrigue with Madeline Pollard.

There is a minor key of tenderness, of exquisite pathos, in the voice of Colonel Breckinridge, which has done much to win for him his sobriquet of the "Silver-tongued."

It is such a tone as one would have expected Antony to employ in rehearsing the virtues of dead Cæsar. It has charmed thousands in the house of representatives, the hustings of Kentucky, and the lecture rooms of female seminaries and Christian societies, and it to him in his customary appearances, only it hardly accords with such a narrative as he had to tell yesterday.

The colonel stood in the little witness box, his left elbow resting on Judge Bradley's desk, with his left hand a pillow for his head, and his right hand thrust carelessly into his trousers pocket. He smiled occasionally as he spoke. At first he was evidently a little tremulous in his utterances, but he lost that trace of nervousness before he proceeded far with his story.

Once he glanced down at the slender young woman in the first row of seats before him, that was when he was assuring the court that her manner toward him had been perfectly respectful and very deferential, but for the most part, he addressed himself to his attorney, Major Butterworth, who did the questioning.

As for Madeline Pollard, she never took her eyes from his face. Part of the time she rested her head on her hand, and for half an hour she vigorously wielded a fan.

When Colonel Breckinridge was telling him he made her accept a $10 bill, after their first interview, she shut her lips tightly, and would have made a motion to rise but for restraining words of Attorney Carlisle.

Elevated above the scene sat Judge Bradley, with his chair turned away from the defendant, his head tilted back, his eyes closed, and his features cast into an utterly bored expression.

The Kentucky congressman got no further in his story than the first meeting with Miss Pollard. He held that the young woman had lured him to her, had met him more than half way in their intimacy, and the ground of his excuse is found in his words:

"I was a man with passion; she was a woman with passion; we were human."

JUDGE FORBES' WARNING.

Doesn't Propose to Allow Guilty Students to Escape the Law.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 30.—When court was called to order yesterday, Judge Forbes instructed the stenographer to make a transcript of Taylor's evidence taken before the grand jury, also to certify and present it to him.

"I will then see," he said, "what right another judge has to interfere with the business of this court. I am determined to see that there is no miscarriage of justice in this case, and do not propose to be interfered with in the discharge of my duty. It is your duty, Mr. District Attorney, to arrest these men if the evidence warrants it.

"This court has been trifled with long enough. If the witnesses refuse to testify before me, and if we have jails enough in Tompkins county in which to confine them, and they continue to refuse to open their mouths, we will send them to prison and keep them there until they will testify."

Farm Buildings Burned.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 30.—The nest of large barns at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the old home farm of the late Samuel J. Tilden, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire. Ninety tons of hay, a large quantity of grain and agricultural implements and some sheep were burned. Loss, $7500.

To Tackle Insurgents.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 30.—President Peixoto's warships from Montevideo have arrived here, and every preparation is being made to send them southward, with instructions to seek out and engage in battle with the Aquidaban, Republica and other ships which are still under the command of Admiral de Mello.

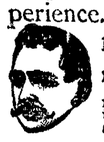

Court Will Look After Revenue.

OMAHA, March 30.—In the fight between the National water works of Kansas City and its eastern bondholders, involving $2,000,000, Judge Caldwell ordered the water works company to turn its revenues into court. The court promised to give a decision in the case soon.

BASE BALL NOTES.

What Is Going On Throughout the Country Regarding the Great American Game.

That the base ball season is right at hand is shown by the appearance of Reach's official base ball guide for '94 without which no game of any consequence can be carried on. The guide this year is the finest ever compiled. Every crank should get one.

The "Little Casino" base ball schedule comes to hand as neat and handy as you please. Emil Grossman and company of Cleveland are now convinced that it is indispensable to patrons of the big league games.

The Groves have organized with T. Cuff and T. Barlington p., P. Moody 1b.; G. Quinn 2b., A. Johnson ss., F. O'Brien 3b., J. Jackson l. f., O. Johnson c. f. They are open to challenges.

The last cold snap has served to somewhat chill the ardor of the base ball cranks, and there are only a few practice games on the common.

The Portland club has signed catcher James Casey of Amesbury, Mass.

The old Chicago brotherhood team is well distributed, with Comisky, Dwyer and Latham in Cincinnati, Pfeffer in Louisville, Farrell in New York, Duffy in Boston and Boyle in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburg club the coming season will issue free season tickets in book form to ladies, good for games on Tuesdays and Fridays. Heretofore ladies were admitted free on those days, but had to get their tickets at the ground gates each day.

The new Cincinnati diamond is exactly 90 feet from every front foot of the new grand stand. The grand stand will be painted a light green color, with a darker green shading for its trimmings. All the fences and the pavilions will be whitewashed.

Cleveland is now kicking on the schedule. It doesn't want games played in that city during the week of the races. Pittsburg and St. Louis play there during that week. The Cleveland club will endeavor to have the Pittsburg games transferred to that city.

Manager Barnie says he has received several letters from Danny Richardson, according to which the Elmira player is dubious of playing at all this season. He assures Barnie, however, that if he plays with any western club it will be with Louisville.

NEW SPINNING FRAME.

A Recent Patent for Spinning Yarn Direct from the Slubber.

A Fall River machine company has recently completed at its works, for one of the largest corporations in New England, one of its new patented spinning frames for spinning yarn direct from the slubber or intermediate roving. This frame is built as a common spinning frame, except that it has four rolls and condenser. The draft between the first and second back rolls is very light, it being simply just enough to break the twist; between the second and third back rolls the draft is the same as on a fly-frame, or from six to seven; and between the two front rolls the draft is the same as on a spinning frame, say from seven to ten.

This might be thought a heavy draft, but when it is divided up it is no more than by the old process, it being a combination of two machines. It spins a slubber, ½-hank roving, doubling on the frame, thus bringing it down to ¼-hank, making No. 18 yarns, although 28s and 30s have been spun on it with the same success. The yarn spun on the frame is even and strong, its breaking strength being fully up to the same numbers of yarn made by the old process.

The advantages in the use of this frame are said to be: First, the cost of fitting up a mill is less, as on coarse yarn the intermediate and fine roving frames are not needed, and on fine work the fine speeders are not required, as in making fine yarns the roving can be used direct from the intermediates, and coarse yarns direct from the slubber. Second, if the cloth should be running from the loom heavy or light it can be changed almost at once, when with the old process it would take several days; thus the spinner has always complete control of the yarn. Third, it takes less power, supplies, help, etc. The frame has the Rabbeth spindle.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE.

BOSTON BUILDING LAWS TO BE REVISED.

The Use of Seals by Cities and Towns—Bill to Abolish the Death Penalty—The Liquor Law.

BOSTON, March 30.—In the senate, the committee on cities reported a bill revising the building laws of the city of Boston in conformity with a draft reported by a special committee of the Boston Society of Architects.

A bill to authorize officials of commissions and municipal departments to adopt seals, distinctive from the town or city seals, was defeated, the main argument against the measure being that some official in the service of the city of Boston desired to give added dignity to the position he occupies.

Mr. Estabrook moved that committees having matters before them on which hearings have been closed, be instructed to report on or before April 3. Laid over.

In the house the committee on liquor law reported a bill providing that sales of cider and native wines, by makers thereof, shall not be sold in quantities of less than 10 gallons without a special license.

It is an open question whether the judiciary committee will report for or against the bill to abolish the death penalty, with the chances rather against the bill. But whatever the committee may report, Representative Knell is prepared to make a fight for his bill, and in case of an adverse report, he will move to substitute his proposition, which is to substitute imprisonment for life for the death penalty, and to take from the governor the pardoning power, which is only to be exercised by the supreme court when it finds the convict innocent.

At the meeting of the executive council the governor reappointed John Quincy Adams and David P. Kimball as state directors of the Fitchburg railroad.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED.

Herman R. French Is Mysteriously Missing From Everett, Mass.

EVERETT, Mass., March 30.—The family and friends of Herman R. French of this city are much perplexed as to what has become of him. He has not been seen at his home since last Saturday morning, at which time he left for his office, 27 Cornhill, Boston, apparently in the best of spirits.

Inquiry at all the hospitals and other institutions in and about the city, where he might have been taken if injured or suddenly bereft of his senses, has failed to reveal the slightest trace of him.

Mr. French has just passed his 54th birthday. He is of medium height, and dark of hair and complexion. His mustache is heavy and gray and his head is partially bald in front. He had no marks on his body by which he could be identified.

When he went away he wore dark trousers, a brown coat and vest, dark overcoat, derby hat and low shoes and gaiters. He carried a gold watch, open face, of Elgin manufacture, across a shield on the back of which was his full name, H. R. French. In his pockets were papers by which he could also easily be identified.

NINE CHARRED BODIES

Found In the Ruins of a Burned Dwelling In a Southern Town.

WHEELING, March 30.—The residence of John Witt at McKendree was burned to the ground yesterday, and with it were cremated eight small children and a servant girl named Mary Hendricks.

Mr. Witt was away from home, leaving his wife and eight children who, with the servant girl, were sleeping alone in the house. At an early hour Mrs. Witt was awakened by the smell of smoke and burning wood and discovered that the lower part of the house was enveloped in flames. The frightened woman ran from the house, but returned immediately and attempted to save her children, but she was forced to give up and barely escaped with her life. The neighbors made heroic efforts to save the nine occupants of the building, but without success.

The house was completely destroyed, and in the ruins were found the charred bodies of the eight children and the servant girl, which will be buried in one grave. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. Mr. and Mrs. Witt are prostrated by the terrible calamity, and it is feared that they will lose their minds.

IN CONGRESS.

Lively Scenes In the House—Senate Passes the McGarrahan Bill.

A Stormy Session.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Filibustering was resumed in the house yesterday on the O'Neill-Joy election case. Scenes of confusion, recalling some of the incidents of the Fifty-first congress, occurred. Speaker Crisp took the floor, and both he and ex-Speaker Reed spoke on the parliamentary questions involved. All sorts of motions and appeals were made. A scene of confusion followed. After a long while Mr. Patterson's resolution for the arrest of members absent without leave was agreed to, yeas, 164; nays, 3. Mr. Hainer moved to reconsider the vote just taken, and this introduced another hour's filibustering. While this was going on, however, the leaders of the two sides got the ground and affected an amicable arrangement by which Mr. Hainer withdrew his motion. The house then adjourned.

In the senate, the house joint resolution appropriating $10,000 for carrying out the provisions of the Chinese exclusion act was reported from the committee on appropriation and passed.

The pension appropriation bill was reported from the committee on appropriations, and placed on the calendar. The amount carried is the same passed by the house. An amendment making a pension a vested right was added by the senate committee.

At 2 p. m., the McGarrahan bill was taken up. Mr. George offered an amendment providing that nothing in the bill shall be construed as acknowledging any responsibility on the part of the United States to pay for the land, substance or materials taken, or as assuming any obligation in that behalf.

This amendment was agreed to, and the bill was finally passed without a division. It refers the claim to the court of private land claims.

After an executive session the senate adjourned till Monday.

Hostile Forces Defeated.

The first meeting in the new quarters will take place next Tuesday evening, when the Emerald associates will meet. It was found necessary to secure these new quarters in order to better accommodate the largely increasing membership.

The organizations are composed of a number of the most popular young men in the city and are in every flourishing condition.

FIRED HOT SHOT.

During a Hearing Upon the New Bedford Fire Department.

Down in New Bedford there is an awful row over the fire department. It was precipitated over an attempt to re-organize engine companies under new ordinances. A big hearing was granted by the committee to the fire engineers on certain changes.

Chief Macy opposed the reduction of the size of engine companies from 12 to 10 men. One of his assistant chiefs supported him, while two others opposed him, believing the cut down in force would pay for one permanent captain.

After considerable arguing Councilman Lawton made a savage harangue against the department, during which he said: "It was notorious that drunkards and men of bad moral character were retained in in the department year after year. There has been permanent drivers employed who were frequently too drunk to drive one horse, let alone two horses, attached to valuable fire apparatus. It is a damnable disgrace," he said, "that the chief of the fire department employs drunkards for drivers in preference to men of good moral character." Mr. Lawton charged that it was notorious. In a previous year he recommended a man as a sober, moral man, to three of the board of engineers, and they said: "That isn't the kind of a man the chief wants."

Chief Macy said it had been his endeavor to employ sober men and he thought the present drivers were such. He considered it was in bad taste for the three engineers named by Mr. Lawton to put the blame for appointments on the chief when they hired the men as much as he did. He didn't think much of such engineers.

The hearing is not yet finished.

CITY TIED UP.

Affairs Assume a New Phase In Denver's Great Squabble.

DENVER, March 30.—Judge Glynn has issued an order for an injunction restraining the old police board from interfering with the new board pending the settlement of the controversy between the two boards in the court, on the quo warranto proceedings. The sheriff is also enjoined from taking a hand in the controversy.

As Judge Allen's injunction restrains the new board from interfering with the old board, the two injunctions leave the city in almost the same state as martial law would. The police and fire departments are tied up, and even the sheriff could not act in case the partisans of the two warring boards should clash.

Must Share Profits.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 30.—The government has decided that henceforth all American insurance companies conducting operations in the empire must divide their profits with the insured after the policies have been in effect for four years. Policies already issued are exempt from the provisions of this regulation.

Reconstructing the New England.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Judge Wallace has granted permission to Thomas C. Platt and Marsden J. Perry, receivers of the New York and New England railroad, to execute to the United States government and the customhouse authorities a number of bonds to enable them to carry on the business of the company.

An Osculatory Performance.

ABBAZIA, March 30.—The Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria met at Mattuglie, the end of the railway route to Abbazia. They embraced and kissed one another. After the greeting the emperors went to Abbazzia. The inhabitants assembled and cheered along the entire route.

Many Lives Lost.

WARSAW, March 30.—The shaft of a coal mine at Koszelew collapsed yesterday. Thus far 21 bodies have been recovered, and a number of miners have been removed from the mine, seriously injured.

BRECKINRIDGE'S STORY

OF HIS FIRST MEETING WITH MISS POLLARD.

He Was Lured Away by the Young Woman—How the Gallant Colonel Was Cajoled by a Girl.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Had an alien, untutored in the king's English, dropped into the circuit court yesterday afternoon, he might have received the impression that the benevolent elderly-looking gentleman, with ruddy face and waves of snowy hair and beard, who held the open-mouthed attention of 200 men while he discussed in a slow, mellifluous tone, was preaching a sermon from the gospel of peace.

This mistake would have been a natural one, but it would have been a mistake, for the elderly gentleman with the scriptural head, was the silver-tongued orator of Kentucky, Congressman Colonel W. C. P. Breckinridge, and he was telling to 12 of his peers, and incidentally to the world at large, the story of his intrigue with Madeline Pollard.

There is a minor key of tenderness, of exquisite pathos, in the voice of Colonel Breckinridge, which has done much to win for him his sobriquet of the "Silver-tongued."

It is such a tone as one would have expected Antony to employ in rehearsing the virtues of dead Cæsar. It has charmed thousands in the house of representatives, the hustings of Kentucky, and the lecture rooms of female seminaries and Christian societies, and it to him in his customary appearances, only it hardly accords with such a narrative as he had to tell yesterday.

The colonel stood in the little witness box, his left elbow resting on Judge Bradley's desk, with his left hand a pillow for his head, and his right hand thrust carelessly into his trousers pocket. He smiled occasionally as he spoke. At first he was evidently a little tremulous in his utterances, but he lost that trace of nervousness before he proceeded far with his story.

Once he glanced down at the slender young woman in the first row of seats before him, that was when he was assuring the court that her manner toward him had been perfectly respectful and very deferential, but for the most part, he addressed himself to his attorney, Major Butterworth, who did the questioning.

As for Madeline Pollard, she never took her eyes from his face. Part of the time she rested her head on her hand, and for half an hour she vigorously wielded a fan.

When Colonel Breckinridge was telling him he made her accept a $10 bill, after their first interview, she shut her lips tightly, and would have made a motion to rise but for restraining words of Attorney Carlisle.

Elevated above the scene sat Judge Bradley, with his chair turned away from the defendant, his head tilted back, his eyes closed, and his features cast into an utterly bored expression.

The Kentucky congressman got no further in his story than the first meeting with Miss Pollard. He held that the young woman had lured him to her; had met him more than half way in their intimacy, and the ground of his excuse is found in his words:

"I was a man with passion; she was a woman with passion; we were human."

JUDGE FORBES' WARNING.

Doesn't Propose to Allow Guilty Students to Escape the Law.

ITHACA, N. Y., March 30.—When court was called to order yesterday, Judge Forbes instructed the stenographer to make a transcript of Taylor's evidence taken before the grand jury, also to certify and present it to him.

"I will then see," he said, "what right another judge has to interfere with the business of this court. I am determined to see that there is no miscarriage of justice in this case, and do not propose to be interfered with in the discharge of my duty. It is your duty, Mr. District Attorney, to arrest these men if the evidence warrants it.

"This court has been trifled with long enough. If the witnesses refuse to testify before me, and if we have jails enough in Tompkins county in which to confine them, and they continue to refuse to open their mouths, we will send them to prison and keep them there until they will testify."

Farm Buildings Burned.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 30.—The nest of large barns at New Lebanon, N. Y., on the old home farm of the late Samuel J. Tilden, were totally destroyed by an incendiary fire. Ninety tons of hay, a large quantity of grain and agricultural implements and some sheep were burned. Loss, $7500.

To Tackle Insurgents.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 30.—President Peixoto's warships from Montevideo have arrived here, and every preparation is being made to send them southward, with instructions to seek out and engage in battle with the Aquidaban, Republica and other ships which are still under the command of Admiral de Mello.

Court Will Look After Revenue.

OMAHA, March 30.—In the fight between the National water works of Kansas City and its eastern bondholders, involving $2,000,000, Judge Caldwell ordered the water works company to turn its revenues into court. The court promised to give a decision in the case soon.

Clerk Edgar's Troubles.
